Mr. A. A. Shurtleff Gives an Interesting Talk to Newton Improvement Association

Those who were present at the meeting of the Newton Improvement Association in Hunnewell Hall on Wednesday evening were shown in an unusually clear, forcible way what some of the problems are which the planning board of Newton has to face.

Mr. Arthur A. Shurtleff, Advisor to the Metropolitan Improvements Commission for the plan of the Metropolitan District of Boston, and also Advisory Member of the Newton Planning Board, modestly announced that his lecture would probably be found dull as he was not attempting to entertain his audience with beautiful pictures but merely to bring before them a realization of the aims and plans of the Newton Planning Board.

No one present, however, found Mr. Shurtleff's lecture dull. Beginning with Boston, he showed pictures of the city a few hundred years ago, and contrasted these with pictures of Boston today. The great changes which have taken place there are undoubtedly beyond the most extravagant dreams of the Bostonians of an earlier day. So, the changes which will come to Newton in a generation or two are beyond our conception now. Yet with a rapidly increasing population, such changes are bound to come. They cannot be prevented, and must be wisely provided for and guided if Newton is to remain the beautiful city it is at present.

Newton has, in the speaker's opinion, reached a time when prompt action will prevent many mistakes, mistakes which will be difficult and costly to rectify a few years hence.

The speaker showed maps of Plymouth showing how the far-seeing citizens there are planning to preserve their town from deterioration, by the draining of swamps, etc.

He also showed how Norwood was dealing with the problem of congested streets, and how Dedham was solving the problem of the approach to her railway station. Coming nearer home, he showed how admirably Weston has handled the problem of low-lying sections of the town which threatened to become a menace.

In each of these towns, far-seeing citizens are providing, not primarily for the beauty of the town—though beauty in many cases has been achieved—but for the economic value of her property, and for the safety and convenience of her citizens.

He then showed enlarged sections of Newton, illustrating the extraordinary intricacies of Newton's streets. Except for one main street in each of the villages of which the city is composed, leading to Boston, all the streets are small, crooked, and utterly inadequate for traffic. With the increase in population which Newton has shown in the last thirty years, the problem of traffic has become acute. The map also (Continued on Page 11)

SUNDAY SPORTS DELAYED

Alderman Forknall Raises a Charter Objection to Acceptance on Monday Evening. $23,000 Voted for Portable Schoolhouses

The aldermen held another midnight session Monday night, the principal feature of which was the speech of Alderman Forknall against acceptance of the Sunday Sports bill and his charter objection to further consideration of the matter at that session.

There was but little discussion, other than by Alderman Forknall. Alderman Hollis explained the attitude of the License committee in favoring acceptance on the understanding that the Playground Commission was to have a salaried supervisor in charge of each public playground on Sunday afternoons at an estimated expense of $1000 for the season.

Alderman Forknall at first asked that the matter be postponed until December 15, after the coming city election when the question will be on the ballot, but failed to secure even a second to his motion. Alderman Blake wanted the matter sent to the Claims and Rules committee to prepare a proper ordinance, before the act was accepted, but Alderman Nichols showed the futility of attempting to draw an ordinance without even knowing the attitude of the board on the matter, and this motion was defeated. Mr. Forknall then talked for a half hour in opposition and when he concluded raised a charter objection, which carried the matter over until the next meeting of the board.

There was an interesting discussion on the majority report of the License committee granting Mr. L. H. Bacon of Waban a permit to use a building as a private garage. Alderman Hollis opposed the granting of the permit and Alderman Whidden spoke in favor, saying that Mr. Bacon had been kept from the use of this building for nearly a year and had been sufficiently punished. Alderman Phipps of Waban told the board that the matter was much deeper than a personal difference between neighbors and that in his opinion, Mr. Bacon had clearly attempted to circumvent the ordinances of the city. Alderman Blake also spoke in opposition and the permit was refused by a voice vote.

Junk licenses are always a subject of debate in City Hall and the majority report of the License committee giving such a license to Frank A. Burke was no exception. It was favored by Aldermen Hollis, Whidden and Hickey and opposed by Aldermen Morse, Carter, Nichols, Blake, and Allen principally on the ground that the established policy of the city was to license but 20 junk men and to refuse all new applicants. The license was then refused by a vote of 12 to 7.

All of the members were present and President Harriman was in the chair.

There were a large number of hearings including Edison conduits in Wesley street, Edison poles on Austin street, street railway relocation of tracks on Washington street, L. W. Corliss to sell gasoline at 274 Pearl street, Herbert Swanson to keep more gasoline at 1174 Beacon street, G. W. Munroe for a garage at 107 Floral street and on laying a sewer in Milton street, at which no one appeared.

Mr. Fred A. Fernald appeared on the matter of sewer in Channing road and Messrs. J. J. Coker and Curtis Abbott spoke on the proposed laying out of Claffin place. The laying out of several streets in the Ashton park district of Newton Centre brought out quite a discussion. Dr. Chirurg opposing the work on account of the extremely high cost of labor and materials and urging that it be postponed for a year or so. Prof. John M. Barker was favorable to the work, but wanted to know what it would cost first. Messrs. Edmund F. Butler, L. M. Young, A. J. Young, H. A. Johnson, C. H. Cobb, R. A. McMullin and Mrs. H. S. Junkins were all favorable if the cost was not too great. Alderman McAuslan stated that one of the petitioners for the work had requested him to see that his name was withdrawn.

Mayor Childs sent in a large number of recommendations including $23,000 for portable school houses, $975.25 for a Library Dept. automobile, $9750 additional for an auxiliary pumping station, $20,416 for construction of Carlton road, Waban, all of which were subsequently granted. He also appointed Clarence Murphy, a public weigher, designated Mr. L. H. Bacon as chairman of the Board of Appeal, and approved the payment of $118 taxes on land just purchased by the city on Elliot street.

The mayor also sent in a request for $24,000 for fuel for regular schools and $1700 for fuel for the Vocational school, which Alderman Allen later had the board take favorable action, but reducing the total by $1800 at the request of the school committee. This money will be used to lay in a supply of fuel (Continued on Page 11)

ITS FIRST CONCERT

Newton Choral Society Makes a Good Impression at Central Church, Newtonville

Central Church was filled to overflowing Monday night on the occasion of the first concert of the newly organized Newton Choral Society. This society was formed for the purpose of developing choral music in the community. The results have amply justified its formation.

Under the ever able leadership of Mr. William Lester Bates, organist of the Second Church, West Newton, the society has been meeting once a week for nine weeks.

Monday night's program showed what can be done in this short time with average voices given regular attendance, enthusiasm and skilful leadership. The program was a varied one including such a dainty bit as "De Sancti's Song," and the "Prayer of Thanksgiving," an old Netherlands Folk Song, which breathed the religious spirit of the Netherlands.

Between the selections of the chorus, Mr. Walter H. Kidder, the baritone who has recently come to Elliot Church, sang with great power and expression, and with remarkable enunciation. He was enthusiastically received, and sang in addition to the numbers on the program, many encores. "Little Mother o' Mine" was sung with infinite tenderness reminding one of McCormack.

The arrangement of "Annie Laurie" sung by the chorus was an unusual one, and was rendered with very fine shading.

Throughout the evening, the "attacks" of the chorus were very well done. In the "Spring Song Waltz," Mr. F. Paul Walsh, sang the tenor song part with great effectiveness. This selection and "Annie Laurie" were both encores.

The concluding number on the program was "Salamaleikum" from "The Barber of Bagdad" sung by Mr. Kidder with the chorus repeating the refrain. The whole composition was oriental in atmosphere, and dramatic in quality leading up to a magnificent climax.

So successful has the work of the chorus proved that the Directors are planning to enlarge the society next year, add an orchestra, and study works of larger proportion. All who love good music and like to sing are invited to join.

New Figures On Tire Mileage

The Miller Tire makers, in late years, have nearly doubled their tire mileage.

In their factory tests made last year no rival tire could match the Miller service.

Miller treads outwore all rivals by an average of 25 per cent.

Large tire users are making million-mile comparisons. As high as 20 rival makes are compared with Millers. Miller Tires have already won many of these tests.

Large Miller dealers, making careful comparisons, find that Miller Tires increase their customers' mileage from 50 per cent to 75 per cent.

It is time to get new figures on tire mileage. Try a Miller, watch the mileage, compare it with the tire that you use opposite.

Hundreds of thousands have in this way come to Miller Tires. And Millers are today the most talked-about tires in America.

MADE FAST FRIEND

How Dr. Lyman Beecher Won Over Bitter Enemy.

Personal Contact Converted Old Neighbor, Who Had Been Violently Opposed to Him, Into One of His Enthusiastic Admirers.

The surprising effect personal contact sometimes has in our estimation of persons against whom we had previously maintained a prejudice is well illustrated in the following humorous story of Lyman Beecher, the preacher. "While Mr. Beecher was settled in Boston he had as a neighbor an old wood sawyer, a rough, shrewd man, the member of a rival sect, who, although he had never seen the doctor, was violently bitter against him. Mr. Beecher himself had formed a habit of sawing a great deal of wood as an exercise for maintaining his health. He was as fastidious in the care of his saw as a musician in the care of his Cremona. No moments were happier with the famous clergyman than those spent in the careful filing of its teeth.

"Looking out of his study window one day, when his own woodpile was reduced to a discouraging state of order, Mr. Beecher saw with envy the pile of the before-mentioned neighbor. Forthwith he seized his saw and soon the sawyer of the street opposite beheld a man without cravat and in his shirt sleeves issuing from Brother Beecher's house, who came briskly up and asked if he wanted a hand at the pile. The doctor fell to work and soon proved to his brother sawyer that he was no mean hand at the craft.

"Nodding his head significantly at the opposite house, the old sawyer said: 'You live there?'

"B—Yes.

"S—Work for the old man?

"B—Yes.

"S—What sort of an old fellow is he?

"B—Oh, pretty much like the rest of us. Good man enough to work for.

"S—Tough old chap, ain't he?

"B—Guess so, to them that try to chew him up.

"S—First rate saw, that of your'n.

"This touched the doctor in a tender point. He had set that saw as carefully as the articles of his creed; every tooth was critically adjusted, and so he gave a smile of triumph.

"I say," said the old sawyer, "where can I get a saw like that?"

"B—I don't know unless you buy mine.

"S—Will you trade? What do you ask?

"B—I don't know; I'll think about it. Call at the house tomorrow and I'll tell you.

"The next day the old man knocked and met the doctor at the door, fresh from the hands of his wife, with his coat brushed and cravat tied, going out to pastoral duty. The sawyer gave a start of surprise.

"Oh," said the doctor, "you're the man that wanted to buy my saw. Well, you shall have it for nothing; only let me have some of your wood to saw when you work on my street."

"Be hanged," said the old sawyer, when he afterward told the story, "if I didn't want to crawl into an auger hole when I found it was old Beecher himself I had been talking with so frank the day before."

"It need scarcely be said that from that time the sawyer was one of the doctor's stoutest and most enthusiastic advocates; not a word would he hear against him. He affirmed that 'Old Beecher is a right glorious old fellow, and the only man in these parts that can saw wood faster than I can.'"

Why Frieda Stayed.

"I've changed my mind; I'm not going to quit," announced the cook to the mistress of a Sheridan road household the other day. Mrs. Sheridan Road tried to hide her elation. No maid would leave such a well ordered home, she chuckled.

"Why, Frieda?" she asked. "Well, ma'am, you see I just bought a new suit. At that swell tailor's on Michigan street. Fur trimmings, and latest Paris style, too. It cost me $105—so I guess I'll stay a few weeks more to pay for the suit."

The mistress of the household choked. Why, she couldn't afford such a suit herself! Anyway, she was glad the cook stayed. And it would be such a delicious story to tell at the Thursday bridge. Gracious, the airs of servants nowadays.—Chicago News.

Decorated Gloves.

We are told that decorated gloves are to be one of the extravagances of the coming season, and that turns the thoughts very far back to when gloves were a most elaborate and important part of a costume. Queen Elizabeth, that lover of fine raiment, had several wonderful pairs embroidered in gold and even precious stones, while hawking gloves were miniature works of art. The sterner times of Cromwell banished such frivolities, but introduced the leather fringed gauntlet, which had a revival last winter. The dainty dames of the Georgian period had embroidery on their gloves and carrying this idea yet further, had those coquettish lace mittens which lasted well into Victorian times.

Quick Cure.

"How did you break your son of trying to be a poet?" "Refused to supply him with postage stamps."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

CLING TO BELIEFS

Few People Today Are Without Pet Superstitions.

Although Not Carried to Extremes
That Have Marred the Pages of History in the Past, They Are Still With Us.

We constantly hear it said that "this is the twentieth century; superstition and all that sort of thing died out long ago." Yet there is hardly a person in the country without his pet belief—that misfortune follows stooping over a baby or spilling salt, or that a black cat brings good luck, for example. Hence, too, the universal practice of wearing mascots "for luck."

These, however, are not very serious beliefs, being merely personal fads. Superstition of a deeper, rooted and more unpleasant type is still common in the more backward rural areas, however. Only a few weeks ago an old dame in the Fen country was boycotted by the whole countryside because she had the reputation of being a witch and of throwing spells over people's children, stock and crops. No one would go near her or let her have food or clothing, and she nearly starved to death.

The cold, legal atmosphere of the courts would be thought unfavorable to belief in witchcraft, and yet a farmer—by no means an ignorant man—stood up the other day in Norfolk court and informed the bench that someone had bewitched his cows. He cured the evil spell by thrusting a red hot poker into his churn when the evil spirit vanished in a bright flame.

Years ago any old crone who was cross grained with the neighbors stood a good chance of being tried and burnt for witchcraft, and cases are even known where animals were solemnly brought into court and tried on a similar charge.

A tough old cock at Basle, in Switzerland, was accused of laying eggs—a most serious offense, as such eggs were used only for making witches' ointment. The unhappy bird was haled before the justices, and one of the eggs produced as proof of guilt. In the face of such evidence the rooster's case was hopeless. He was convicted and he and his miraculous eggs solemnly burnt at the stake in the town square.

A sow and six young pigs were accused of witchcraft towards a child, and were brought, protesting loudly before the "bench." Amid great sensation, the sow was found guilty and publicly executed, but the porkers were acquitted on the ground of extreme youth. As late as 1740, a cow was accused of possessing a "devil," and after a long hearing, was found guilty and condemned to death. "Rats and mice and such small deer," have been summoned on numerous occasions, but almost invariably failed to put in an appearance at court.

In the fifteenth century, the peasants of a village in the south of France took legal proceedings against a plague of locusts which trespassed on their fields and devoured their crops. As the case was still being fought nearly half a century later, the modern gardener can sympathize with the unlucky plaintiffs, but would probably prefer the more up-to-date application of lime or mustard.

Another action was brought against a pest of leeches swarming in the ponds and streams of another country district of France. The judge issued a decree against the leeches trespassing further on the disputed territories, but history is silent as to whether the injunction was obeyed or ignored, with resultant punishment for contempt of court.

Animals have even been admitted as witnesses in the courts. It used to be considered no offense to kill a burglar trying to break into a house. There arose the difficulty that one man living alone might ask another to his house, and then murder him, pretending that he was a robber. To get over this, it was decided that any domestic animal, such as a cat or a dog, present at the time might bear witness. If the animal on being questioned, satisfied the court that his master had acted in good faith, the killing was held to be justified. There are not many instances of acquittal.

Japanese Glass Industry Grows.

Though encouraged by the government in 1876 by the establishment of a model glass factory, transferred ten years later to private ownership, the glass industry of Japan was only fairly prosperous until the outbreak of the recent European war, at which time, due to the shutting off of supplies from France, Belgium and Germany, the manufacture of glass received such a stimulus that it now bids fair to compete with the industry in other countries. Before 1914 practically all the window glass used in Japan was imported, but this branch of the industry is receiving special attention and in 1918 its product to the value of $1,756,000 was exported.

Conductor Pulls Teeth.

A conductor-dentist operates on a branch of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad system in West Virginia. He is Dr. Harry Halstead. When patients failed to come to him fast enough Halstead took a position as conductor. He carries forceps in his pocket. During a recent week the train was halted four times by persons who wanted teeth drawn. The dentist-conductor never fails to make the stop.

THE TELEPHONE SITUATION

The shortage of paper affects telephone cables and is one of the reasons why the telephone company cannot give service to new subscribers more promptly. Explaining the delay in providing telephone service, Commercial Manager John W. Byers said yesterday:

"For several months the company has been greatly handicapped in the work of giving service to new subscribers on account of the tremendous growth of the telephone business during the past year and a half, the difficulty of securing equipment of all kinds, the great increase in the use of existing lines, the shortage of raw material in the markets and transportation difficulties during the winter."

"During 1919 the net gain in telephones in the territory served by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company was 52,000. This is a great increase before the work of any year in the company's history, and was more than twice the estimated growth. During the first four months of this year, the net gain was about 24,000 telephones."

"This abnormal condition means that our business is growing so fast we cannot promptly take care of new telephone installations in many places. Prospective subscribers are being told that their order is taken with the understanding that it may be some weeks before the work is completed. I regret this condition exceedingly, but I want people to appreciate that we are doing everything possible to remedy a situation which is unsatisfactory to us all."

"Furthermore, we believe that our first duty is to protect the existing service. Therefore, we must be sure that such additions and enlargements to our switchboards and cable plant, necessary to take care of the increased business from existing subscribers, are provided before we build for new business. To do otherwise would mean a deteriorated and unsatisfactory service for all."

"During the war we made practically no additions to our plant, because our supplies were turned to war purposes cheerfully. Our surplus of idle plant and switchboard facilities were nearly used up and this has been a great handicap to us during the great demand for new service within the past eighteen months. Normal conditions have not been restored in the various factories where telephone switchboards and supplies are manufactured, and it has, therefore, been extremely difficult for us to obtain supplies, although we have scoured the factories of the country in our efforts."

"We use a great deal of material containing porcelain and this supply has been nearly exhausted because the coal strike seriously interfered with its manufacture, porcelain not being considered an 'essential' and its manufacture being delayed accordingly. The whole world is demanding tremendous quantities of wire and cable, and the mills find it impossible to fill this demand; consequently we cannot get enough of this wire and cable to meet our requirements."

"As an illustration of how shortages unexpectedly affect us, take the matter of manilla paper. A shortage of paper would hardly be expected to delay the installations of new telephones, but it is, nevertheless, a fact. That is one of the conditions that affect our business to a great extent, for manilla paper is used for the insulation of all wires in our cables. I understand that the manufacturers are scouring the country for second-hand manilla rope, because the resourcefulness of our engineers has made it possible to utilize this previously used rope for this purpose."

"For some months it has been very hard to secure telephone instruments, due to a lack of the raw material used in their manufacture. Quite a few times our supply has nearly run out, but by borrowing from different parts of our territory we have been able to give service in most places. I believe that this inability to secure telephone instruments will be over in a short time, but under any conditions we can rely upon the ability and resourcefulness of our supply department to take care of essential cases involving these smaller pieces of equipment."

"Our switchboards and central office equipment generally are being used to full capacity, due largely to the growth of the use of the service during the last two years. Leaving out of consideration the new telephones, we find that the people are now using their old telephones much more than ever before, and this has made it necessary to add to our switchboards in many places so that more operators' positions can be provided to handle the old lines. The switchboards, therefore, have a double load to carry—one due to new lines being connected, and one due to increased traffic over the old lines."

"Months ago we ordered central office equipment very much in excess of what we had originally expected would be necessary during all of 1919. This has been installed and has helped materially in relieving the most pressing needs so far in 1920. Further additional switchboards are well under construction now, and as soon as they can be manufactured they will be installed and this situation relieved."

"The shortage of steel and iron products has bothered us in securing pole line hardware, crossarms, iron wires, screws, pole rings and other materials which are necessary in maintaining a telephone circuit. The severe storms of the winter, which paralyzed transportation everywhere, made it particularly hard to secure our material. It required weeks to get our supplies from the manufacturers, which were delivered previously in a few days from the time they were shipped from the factory."

"No one regrets the unavoidable delays in furnishing service more than I and present indications are that it will be many months before we shall be able to give service to new subscribers with the usual pre-war promptness. Meanwhile, we are searching the markets everywhere in order to secure all possible telephone supplies; the resourcefulness of our engineers is being used in every way to provide substitutes wherever possible; and we are counting upon our patrons to recognize that we are doing a very creditable job and to cooperate with us accordingly."

MAJESTIC THEATRE—John Golden, in introducing "Howdy, Folks" at the Majestic, gives further illustration of his unswerving adherence to purely American topics for his comedies. The predecessors of "Howdy, Folks" have been "Turn to the Right," "Lightnin'" and "Three Wise Fools." The newest of the Golden string is a light-hearted study of a mountain community in North Carolina in which the comic types do not have to be drawn in contrast with "city folks." There is no love affair between the visiting rich man's son and the benighted maid of the hills. The commanding figure is an itinerant preacher who rules the neighborhood with brawn if he must. His charges include moonshiners and feudists, but his principal concern is a girl who has run away from a circus.

EMERSON—LEARNARD

Miss Eunice Elizabeth Learnard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heath Learnard of Waverley avenue, Newton, was married last Saturday night to Mr. H. Bigelow Emerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Emerson of Hovey street, Newton. The groom is a Williams College graduate, class of 1916, and he served in the World War as an ensign in the United States Navy.

The ceremony took place in Grace Church which was beautifully decorated with Southern Smilax and Easter lilies. The service was at 8 o'clock and was performed by the Rev. Laurens MacLure, the rector of the church.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin made with a full court train of the same material and trimmed with lace. Her veil of tulle was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The matron of honor, Mrs. William S. Carlisle of Hubbard Woods, Ill., a sister of the bridegroom wore a gown of Nile green satin trimmed with tulle and silver, and carried sweet peas.

There was a quartet of bridesmaids: Miss Elizabeth Clapp, Miss Mildred Lovejoy and Miss Florence Mandell of West Newton, and Miss Harriet Ellison of Newton. Two of the bridesmaids wore dresses of blue satin trimmed with tulle and silver, and the other two wore dresses of pink satin trimmed with tulle and silver. All carried bouquets of sweet peas.

The brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Edward F. Emerson, Dartmouth '18, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Edward H. Learnard, brother of the bride, Mr. William S. Carlisle, Dartmouth '11, of Hubbard Woods, Ill., Mr. Fletcher L. Gill of Waban, Williams '13, and the following classmates of the groom: Mr. Arnold Brewer, Middletown, Conn., Mr. E. Thurston Clarke, South Orange, N. J., Mr. Herbert C. Fowler, Norwood, Mass., Mr. Carlton B. Overton, Montclair, N. J., and Mr. Philip H. Seaman, Yonkers, N. Y.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the house being tastefully decorated for the occasion with Southern smilax and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson are to live in Newton.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

"Books for Everybody" was the topic about which the library group meeting held at the Newton Free Library last week centered. It illustrated the spirit of libraries throughout the country, for the enthusiastic effort to reach every man in service, the welcome and appreciation evinced by the men for this endeavor, and the hearty response of the public in supplying books, has given fresh courage to those whose greatest dream is easier relation between individuals and books.

Miss Jane Brown told of her work in the navy department at Newport News. Her most important task consisted in getting books aboard the many boats sailing from that port regardless of whether the books were rushed out the last moment launches or loaded in the proper fashion. Books were to be used for many men only, according to orders from headquarters, thus saving the merchant marine Miss Brown declared that due to the persistence of a certain foreman in the shipyards this order was changed. The man came daily requesting books for this department. At first it seemed hopeless, until the workers determined that anyone earnestly desiring books should have them, conceived the brilliant idea of supplying the radio operator of the merchant ships, always a navy man, with sufficient books for the ship. To be sure Washington was rather startled on hearing of such a procedure but the need of books in that department was so convincing that the work of establishing libraries on vessels of the merchant marine was started.

The same effort to serve all desirous of books was emphasized by Mr. Moulton of Haverhill, in a stereotyped talk of his A. L. A. work in France. Nor has the activity of the American Library Association ceased now that the military claims are lessening. It has launched the "Books for everybody" fund which points to the time when books will be freely accessible to every man, woman and child in the United States. The movement is constructive though the opportunity will not attempt to tell the people of America how to think or what to think. Through the medium of good books, it will urge the opportunity of individual formulation of thought. Through its aid, more business and technical libraries can be established; the ex-service men who formed the habit of reading and studying during the war and who are not served by local libraries, may still procure books; more books may be produced for the blind; and by extending the library county plan to every county in the United States, good books will be available to all of the population. These are but a few of the projects the association wishes to carry out but in all, it will cooperate with the existing agencies in this vast work of demonstration and education so that the most potent factor in the life of every community and there shall be BOOKS FOR EVERYBODY.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—The deadly seriousness of youth is amusing to every one, but the young themselves to whom its consequences are very tragic, while the consequences endure. Which, happily, are not for long. It is on this familiar groundwork that Alice Duer Miller has based her delightful tale of "The Charm School" which Robert Milton presents at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston. "The Charm School" is described by Mr. Milton as a comedy with a bit of music. The music being supplied by our ever-popular Jerome Kern. In dramatizing "The Charm School" all the youthful romance and delightful humor have been retained and Mr. Milton searched New York for months for just the "right" cast to portray the various characters of the story. The cast is made up of Sam Hardy, Margaret Dale, Minnie Dupree, Rapley, Holmes, Beth Franklin, James Gleason, Ernest Cosart, Albert Hackett, Neil Martin, Florence McGuire, Blyth Daly, Judith James, Carolyn Arnold, Theodora Laroque, Frances McLaughlin and Alberta Turner.

PLANTING SMALL FRUITS AND BERRIES

These should be planted as early in April or May as the ground can be prepared and the plants obtained. Strawberries are ordinarily planted in rows about 30 to 36 inches apart, 16 to 20 inches apart in the row. Care must be exercised to plant them just right, so that the crown is not too deep; it should be just even with the surface of the ground. Ordinarily four plants are saved from runners of each mother plant during the growing season. These are selected and trained out in four corners from the plant.

Red raspberries are ordinarily planted in rows about 7 feet apart and 2½ to 3 feet apart in the row. Black raspberries are often planted in hills 4 or 5 feet apart, or in rows 7 feet apart and 3 feet apart in the row.

Blackberries are usually planted in rows 8 feet apart, and the plants 3 feet apart in the row. Currants and gooseberries are ordinarily planted about 5 feet apart each way, so as to permit cultivation both ways. In the small home garden, they may be planted in the row considerably thicker, possibly as close as 3 feet.

Vegetable Garden Contest

There is a home garden contest on in Middlesex County which should be of interest to many home gardeners. Miss Marietta R. Case of Weston, Mass., won $115 in prizes last year at exhibits of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. In cooperation with Professor Charles S. Sargent of Boston she has worked out a contest open to any home gardener in Middlesex County.

The details are as follows:

Prizes and Conditions for Competition

For the best vegetable garden in Middlesex County, Massachusetts, that covers not less than 800 square feet and contains at least ten kinds of vegetables cultivated by the owner himself or by one employing not more than one man, three prizes: $60, $35, $20.

These prizes are offered with the hope of stimulating an interest in gardening, increasing production, and so, in a small way, reducing the cost of living.

General Supervision and Judging

The Middlesex County Bureau of Agriculture and Home Economics, 7 Moody street, Waltham, has kindly consented to judge these gardens. The Bureau will advise with regard to preparation of the soil, seed, methods of planting, control of disease and insect pests, cultivating, harvesting and all problems of garden management. Each garden will be judged by a representative of the Bureau three times during the season, once in July, once in August and again in September. The basis of judging will be as follows:

Plan and application, including arrangement and succession, 10 points. Garden management, including cultivation, freedom from weeds, thinning and stand, 35 points. Health of plants, including insect pests and diseases, 20 points. Economic results, including yield, use of products and net profit, 35 points. Total, 100 points. Local conditions, such as the original adaptability of the soil and unpreventable handicaps, will be given consideration by the judges.

How to Enter the Contest

Any person with a garden satisfying the entrance requirements and who is willing to abide by the rules, may enter the contest by filling out the following entry blank and sending it either to the Middlesex County Bureau, Waltham, or to Miss Marian R. Case of Weston, Mass., on or before May 1st.

AMERICAN EDUCATION IS REMEDY OF INTERCHURCH FOR WORLD WOE

(PERCENTAGE INDICATED BY AREA)

More than half of the total investment in higher education in the United States is in colleges and universities founded by religious denominations who found in America that liberty of theological preferences and academic learning which had been denied to them in their native lands overseas.

Today half of the 450,000 students of higher grades in the United States are in attendance at these denominational colleges and universities.

Upon that tremendous array equally tremendous demands are to be made during the next five years, demands that tend to restore to American colleges and universities that atmosphere and purpose which marked their beginnings.

A world survey of the needs of peoples who are struggling along without knowledge of the teachings of Christianity and without training in even the most rudimentary courses of an academic education has revealed to America her responsibility and privilege. Through the Interchurch World Movement the 400 colleges and universities of the thirty religious denominations which have united on a program of co-operative effort are to be required to furnish the majority of the 100,000 leaders and workers needed. They are the West Points and the Naval Academies of the greatest religious movement of all time.

It is estimated that these denominational institutions have furnished ninety per cent of the religious leaders of the past. Are they to be able to meet the new and larger demands? No! Unless—

Unless the churches return wholeheartedly to those policies which created and developed the system upon which modern American education is based the effort will fail. So serious is the situation that in 1920 half of the 5,000 places that must be filled in the United States alone every year must be filled by untrained or only partly trained men.

Solution of the problem resolves itself in the last analysis into terms of money. Unless the churches are prepared to expend more than $1 for every $40 appropriated for education by the state solution of the problem is indefinitely postponed if not made impossible. This proportion is caused by the fact that the churches concentrate almost exclusively upon the colleges and universities, upon the thirty-eight students who enter college from the 1,000 who are received into the elementary schools. And of the thirty-eight only the fourteen who obtain their degrees receive any prolonged training.

It has been demonstrated that what a people would accomplish in their national life they must first put in the minds and hearts of their youth in the schools. That the first exponent of this theory was a Prussian minister of education does not alter the fact. The colonial colleges were quite as successful in producing men true to type as were the German educational institutions prior to 1914. Will the church colleges and universities of today prove as successful?

The thirty denominations which have created the Interchurch World Movement are going to make a determined effort to restore the balance. American education is represented by $75,000,000 in a total interchurch budget of $200,000,000 which is to be subscribed during the week of April 25. Only foreign missions and home missions are considered more important by the denominational leaders. And in both departments items for educational purposes bulk large.

Wherever the church of America extends its educational activities it is possible to create a civilization that is Christian just as by her schools Germany made her civilization military.

SAILING THE SIDE-STEPPER

"Did you observe," said a merchant to a customer, "the handsome advertisement I have had painted on the railing of the bridge?" "No," replied the customer, "but if you will send the bridge around to my house I will try to read the advertisement. I read the papers and I haven't time to run around from place to place to read the billboards."

FIND THEIR LIFE TOO DRAB

Ex-Soldiers, Returned to Civilian Positions, Yearn for the Excitement of the Battle Field.

Recently the following advertisement appeared in the London Daily News.

"Young ex-soldier, three times wounded, will risk life for £200; tired of life and all alone.—Write Box 9044, 67, Fleet street, E. C.

The News tells the story of the advertiser:

"The writer of the above advertisement is an ex-stretcher bearer of the R. A. M. C. He was awarded the Military medal in 1916 at Martinpuich and later at Ypres, in 1917, won a bar to the medal for bravery in assisting his captain.

"They were together when a shell burst close to them, wounding both severely. The stretcher bearer, though wounded in four places and weak from loss of blood, helped his officer to safety. After 18 months in a hospital with wounds and shell shock, he found himself discharged with a 50 per cent disability pension, which was later reduced to 40 per cent, making $6 a week.

"He was recommended to try light outdoor work, and the local sub-committee suggested his becoming a groom. But as the work of a groom is the reverse of light, he accepted the suggestion of a civilian in the R. A. F. and became a civilian clerk there.

"I am paid $15 a week by them," he told the Daily News representative yesterday, "and I am ashamed to take it. There are two of us in my office, and for weeks past, we have not done a stroke. I find the enforced idleness telling on my nerves. I can't stand it.

"When I was in France, although I had been told I was anaemic and would never see France, I found the hardship and the danger brought out the best there was in me. I could rise to the occasion then, but now—

"I want a chance, and that's what made me send along that advertisement. Perhaps some cinema firm might want someone for a particularly risky job. Whatever it is, I'm ready."

"He is not the only one, it seems, who finds the humdrum life of peace unbearable. A few days ago, four officers advertised themselves in a newspaper agony column as ready to enlist in any capacity, in any campaign, for any country, so long as there was some fighting to be done. The lure of danger is evidently another of war's queer products, and the men who have tasted blood find drab respectability dull."

French War Memorials.

France was threatened with a deluge of monuments and tablets commemorating the victory of the poilu, when Clemenceau stepped to the fore and vetoed many propositions advanced by artists and persons interested from a financial standpoint. He thus saved Paris and the provincial cities from many exhibitions of gratitude perpetuated in marble, wood, stucco and plaster.

The Touring club of France has built perhaps the most dignified memorial to the men who fought to save their country. Near the place on the Marne where in 1914 the Germans were pushed back from their march to Paris and where in 1918 the great offensive of the allies started, the Touring club chose the top of a hill and there built a chapel over the door of which are the simple words: "The Benediction of a Prayer in Eternal Remembrance."

Why Daylight Scheme Failed.

The secret has leaked out that the real reason why the farmers were opposed to the daylight saving plan was that they were not able to get the roosters to adopt it. The he-chickens insisted on going to work on the old schedule. In open defiance of congress, they refused to knock off the extra hour from their morning heavy sleep. So, under the new plan, instead of the roosters waking up the farmers, it became necessary for the farmers to wake up the roosters. This, quite naturally, aroused feelings of mutual antagonism. No farmer relishes the task of going out each morning, while the moon is still riding high in the heavens, and culling a barnyard full of roosters off the perch. So there was nothing to do but repeal the law.—Thrifty Magazine.

Best Influenza Treatment.

There is only one point in regard to influenza on which the medical profession is in agreement. This is stated by the Journal of the American Medical Association as follows:

"The pulmonary complications of influenza, which make it so serious a disease, may be avoided to a large extent by rest in bed at the onset of the illness. Influenza itself is not usually fatal, and generally insistence on the importance of rest and warmth at the onset of the illness will accomplish more than all else in preventing complications and reducing fatalities from the disease."

China Egg Traps Snake.

Swallowing a china egg was the fatal mistake which brought to a close the long egg-stealing career of a black snake. Found in a hen house which it had been plundering, the reptile was vainly trying to squeeze through the hole by which it had entered the building. The bump (snout) in the scaly body by the nest egg would not permit the exit, and the snake was killed. A post-mortem operation was performed to remove the egg.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

THE OVERALL FAD

There is such a thing as wearing overalls in the flesh; there is such a thing as wearing overalls in the spirit.

Of course if 100,000,000 Americans set out at one and the same time to plunge their 200,000,000 American legs into overalls many millions of those modest legs would be without covering. There wouldn't be the overalls to encompass immediately all the legs, either to the ankles or to the knees. There wouldn't be the machinery to manufacture them immediately; there wouldn't be the material to supply the machinery immediately.

And of course if all of a sudden the whole world began to clamor for overalls the price, under the eternal law of supply and demand, would soar to the market heights of silk shirts and other costly raiment.

But, taking the overalls both as an idea and as an ideal and applying this to all our conduct, aspiration and endeavor, there is a pretty and a wholesome moral lesson to be learned by the nation figuratively rather than literally going into overalls; there is a sound economic triumph to be achieved.

To wear overalls in the spirit should mean to waste not anything so that we shall want not of anything. Waste neither silks nor wools, neither conventional garb nor overalls. Waste neither canvassack duck nor beefsteak, neither terrapin nor corned beef and cabbage. Waste neither our working hours nor our working minutes.

To be in overalls in the spirit means in the bigger and the truer sense for every worker to put in the hardest ticks he knows how at production, whether digging coal, hoeing potatoes, spinning textiles, building houses or whatever be his share of the task of earning his living and contributing to the world's store of necessities of life. Such "overall" labor will be worthy of every American—the man who scratches out his daily bread with his pickaxe or with his pen; the man who is a builder of railroads and of steel plants or of chicken coops and beanpoles. Such "overall" production will make more of everything, however we dress; it will make everything cheaper—even overalls.

To be in overalls in spirit means to get back to the fundamentals of economics, to the grass roots of Americanism, to the bed rock of honest and honorable, stout and clean manhood.

In that sense let us all get into our overalls forthwith and wear them proudly.—New York Sun-Herald.

The aldermen have acted wisely in refusing to issue bonds for street resurfacing. This same conclusion has been reached several times in the history of the city and it has always proved a sound policy. The idea may, for the time being, postpone possibly four-fifths of the cost and give to the taxpayers who pay the one fifth, the benefit of a newly surfaced road, but as the years go by, the annual serial payments of the principal will, in time, if the policy is continued, aggregate the entire sum used for resurfacing and the taxpayers will then, not only pay out each year the same amount but in addition will be called upon to pay interest on the unpaid amount of bonds. It has been proved that in the long run it is not the best policy to even pay for so called permanent improvements when the expense is annually recurrent, even with thirty year bonds, and the same principle applies with even greater force to shorter periods of bond issues. There are two alternatives, either pay for resurfacing from the annual tax levy, or if that is inadvisable, take the uneconomical course of doing nothing at all.

Alderman Forknall's use of the charter objection last Monday night was contrary to the reason for establishing this veto on hasty and ill-considered action by the aldermen. As originally devised, it was the intention of the charter framers to give to one member the right to veto the passage of any order, through all its stages of legislation at one session, in order that public opinion might be aroused in case improper measures were proposed. The order Monday night, related to the acceptance of the Sunday Sports bill and had been in the public mind for several weeks and followed a long public hearing on the matter. No public sentiment will be aroused by the delay caused by Mr. Forknall's motion and it will only result in postponing for two weeks the inevitable acceptance of the order.

The aldermen did not act with their usual discernment in passing snap resolutions opposing legislation in regard to maternity benefits. If they had taken the time and the trouble to consult their better halves (those who have them) they would have found that the women's clubs of Newton have given this matter the most careful consideration and are on record as approving this legislation. It should also be remembered that so conservative a Governor as Calvin Coolidge, has in his recent inaugural advocated action in this direction.

The proposed auxiliary pumping station for the Water Department will give the city a method of using metropolitan water in case of trouble in our present water plant.

Junk licenses continue to be a debatable question in the board of aldermen.

This is cleanup week. Have you done it?

Sunday is "Mothers' Day." Why not every day?

WILLIS-FISKE

Miss Cornelia Horsford Fiske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fiske of 216 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, was married yesterday afternoon to Harold B. Willis of Newton, at the home of the bride by the Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity Church, Boston.

Mrs. Willis is a member of the 1914 Sewing Circle and the Vincent Club. Her husband is a graduate of Harvard 12, and while serving overseas with the French army was captured by the Germans and escaped after swimming the Rhine. The couple will reside in Weston on their return from their wedding trip.

"100 CONDENSED NOVELS"

The Famous Boston Post Collection Now in Book Form

When the Boston Post published daily its series of condensations of 100 of the best written and best liked novels of all time, the response was immediate and gratifying. The interest was so great and so general that there was immediately a great demand for their republication in permanent book form.

And now the long-expected books are out. "One Hundred Best Novels Condensed," edited by Edwin A. Grozier, editor and publisher of the Boston Post.

They are printed in four compact and convenient volumes, with 25 condensations in each. They are attractively and durably bound in cloth, the paper is good and the type very clear. An illustration and a very brief biographical sketch about each author precedes each condensation. They look well on a book shelf; they are not burdensome to hold.

The editor's intent, as he states in his preface, was to give preponderance to novels written in the language that we speak, and to insure a liberal number of thoroughly characteristic American stories, to include novels of widely varying schools and to exclude fiction that might be regarded as unwholesome.

Notable Writers Condense Tales

The men and women who were asked to make condensations of the 80 novels included many whose names were familiar throughout the country, either because they had done notable things or because their books were widely read. They included such names as William Howard Taft, David I. Walsh and Samuel W. McCall, an ex-President, an ex-Governor and now a Senator from Massachusetts, and a man who had won national renown by his review of many years in the House of Representatives at Washington and as the war Governor of Massachusetts. Ex-President Taft and Senator Walsh had written many articles upon political conditions and ex-Governor McCall had been among the notable contributors to some of the best biographies in the American Statesmen series.

There were, too, Charles Francis Dorr Belden, librarian of the Boston Public Library and Charles K. Bolton, librarian of the Boston Athenaeum, heads of two of the largest and finest libraries in the country.

Two men of singular authority in fields they had made their own who also contributed condensations were Clarence W. Barron, author of many books about Mexican problems and war conditions, a man who had made finance his life study, and Richard Henry Dana, a distinguished member of a distinguished American family, president of the National Civil Service Reform League.

Ellery Sadwick, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, was also a contributor. Another was Mrs. Larz Anderson, wife of a diplomat. The Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham and the Rev. R. Perry Bush are clergymen whose reputations are not confined to New England.

These books, "One Hundred Condensed Novels," will make a library in themselves and will be welcomed by old and young.

A trip has been arranged for Friday afternoon for the members of the eight grade. Permission from the Thomas G. Plant Shoe factory of Jamaica Plain has been received, and the class is much enthused over its good fortune. This is the seventh in the series of industrial trips.

The lineup of the baseball team has been decided upon and the boys are faithfully practicing for the important game with the Hosmer School team of Watertown next Tuesday.

Clafin

On Tuesday morning, May 4th, the pupils of Clafin School were entertained in the school hall by Chief Tabau and his daughter, Nacomee. The Chief told the story of his life, demonstrated Indian dances, explained some of the Indian sign language, and told many legends and myths of his tribe. Princess Nacomee explained the Indian music, and played the violin in an entertaining manner.

The dancing classes have their last lesson on Thursday, May 6, the lesson taking the form of a party for each class, when the pupils may entertain their parents and friends as guests.

The baseball game scheduled for Tuesday, May 4, with the Peirce team, was postponed till a later date. On Thursday afternoon the Clafin School team will play the Bigelow School at Cabot Park.

Hyde School Notes

Miss Anna Kloss, an agent of the Massachusetts Board of Education, addressed the girls of the eighth grade Wednesday morning, on the subject of "Girls' Vocations." She told them of the preparation necessary for various vocations. Miss Kloss is especially interested in Household Arts.

On Thursday of last week Professor Percy Maynard of West Newton gave an interesting lecture, illustrated by specimens, on the room and least bitter, to the Audubon Society of the seventh grades.

The Hyde School baseball team played the Roger Wolcott team on Tuesday, April 26, and beat them 6-5. On Thursday, the 29th they played the Mason team and after a close game were beaten 9-8.

Thrift Stamps for the week of April 26th, amounted to $71.94, an improvement of $26 over last week. Miss Ryder's fifth grade led with $12.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

"Tommy's Wife," the tenth annual Newton Technical High School Play, which was given in the Assembly Hall, April 29, 30, and May 1, was one of the most successful entertainments in the history of our school.

Judging from the large audiences and the enthusiastic applause from start to finish, the past and those assisting in the presentation of the play, are justified in feeling tremendously proud and well pleased. One of the hits of this charming farce, furnishing keen amusement, was the part which Mr. Thurber wrote, starring James Coleman and his talented young "sister," Veronica Maguire. Another general favorite was Raymond Heisler, who very cleverly impersonated a love-stricken, exceedingly melodramatic Frenchman. His gestures and very broken English delighted the audience, and his make-up could not have been improved upon. Manley Kiley in the title role was especially admired because of his naturalness, his utter abandon, which, in a part like his, was difficult to maintain.

Rehearsals are underway for the Freshman Prize Speaking Contest, which will take place Wednesday, June 9th. The nine girls chosen to be in this contest are busy rehearsing their parts with Miss Fiske.

On Wednesday morning, May 5th, Mr. H. C. Bentley of the Bentley School of Accounting spoke to all of the boys of the Technical High School. He said that business demands a specialist and the professional school has replaced the old-time apprenticeship method. Graduation from High School is beneficial for three reasons. 1. The ordinary boy gets too young to enter business earlier than that. 2. It indicates ability and perseverance. 3. Examinations for all sorts of positions are not open to non-graduates. He considers college training desirable but not absolutely necessary, and says that the best training for business, after education, is to focus on one particular thing and go after it.

The famous class of 1915 is to hold a reunion at the Technical High School on the evening of May 23rd. Miss Stacey, president of the class, and her committee are making preparations for a grand good time of reunion and fun.

Miss Marion Churchill, President of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston, spoke to the girls of the school Wednesday morning, April 23th. Miss Churchill taught at one time in the Classical High School, afterward in this school, and there accepted a position in the Brookline High School. Since leaving Brookline, she has been Dean of a Colorado College and now has returned to New England.

Miss Churchill spoke to the girls on "Thrill or Wise Spending," and advised them to save in order to be ready for a "sunny opportunity," and also because it is as much a patriotic duty today as it was during the war.

The teachers in the English Department attended a very pleasant and interesting meeting of "The West of Boston English Club" at the High School in Cambridge on Tuesday afternoon, April 27, 1920.

POLICE NOTES

Yesterday morning, in the West Newton Court, Gladys Osborne of Westham pleaded guilty to charges of theft from the home of Mrs. Harold K. Weeks of 81 Otis street, West Newton, where she was played as a maid. It was alleged that the girl stole several valuable articles, and that all the property had been recovered from the collection of clothes and household articles that the maid had carried away. The girl is being held for another hearing on Saturday.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The principal event last week was the action of the House on the 275 bill, so called. This subject has been a live issue with many members of the Legislature who had been instructed by their constituents to vote for 4% liquor. About 30 members of the House took part in the debate, which was known at the beginning, did not change a single vote. The advocates of the bill argued that the expressed will of the people must be followed and that it was advisable for Massachusetts to have such a law on the books in case the Supreme Court should declare the Volstead act unconstitutional. The opponents of the bill argued that state legislation was ineffective as against national legislation, and that this bill was absolutely useless at the present time and that, in case the Volstead act was, by any chance declared unconstitutional, there was already plenty of law on the statute books of the state to meet the situation. The bill was passed by a vote of 33 to 145 all three Newton men voting in the negative. The next day there was a roll call on passing the bill to be enacted and the vote on that question was 67 to 121.

Governor Coolidge has since vetoed this measure and a part of his veto message is well worth calling to the attention of the people of Newton.

"We have had too much legislation by clamor, by tumult, by pressure. Representative government ceases when outside influence of any kind is substituted for the judgment of the representative. This does not mean that the opinion of constituents is to be ignored. It is to be weighed most carefully for the representative must represent, but his own province is that it must be faithfully and impartially according to the best of his abilities and understanding, agreeably to the rules and regulations of the Constitution and laws." Opinions and instructions do not outmatch the Constitution. Against it they are void. It is an insult to any Massachusetts constituency to suggest that they were so intended. Instructions are not given unless given constitutionally. Instructions are not carried out unless carried out constitutionally. There can be no constitutional instruction to do an unconstitutional act."

A favorable report has been made on the matter of regulating billboard advertising, the bill following the suggestions which had been made to the committee by City Solicitor Bartlett. The state will only have seven regulations for billboards but also authorizes cities and towns to make further local regulations—a condition which ought to satisfy the people of Newton who are interested in this measure.

The Newton representatives were successful last week in substituting a bill to prevent the pollution of the Charles river for an adverse report of the committee on Public Health. The bill is opposed by powerful influences, however, and may not pass thru all its stages, as easily as it did the first.

The police and firemen of the state were up in arms against a bill just defeated which gave all ex-service men an additional 5% on all civil service examination for promotions in the fire service. The original bill, providing for an absolute preference in such promotions was strongly opposed at the hearing and it was clearly pointed out that in the case of the Boston police force, for example, the 400 local policemen who remained on duty during the police strike, would be absolutely barred from all chance of promotion hereafter, on account of the 1200 former service men who filled the ranks of the strikers. This would mean that experience and knowledge of police duty could not be considered, in future appointments as sergeants and other officials of the department. The new bill was exactly as bad in principle, and differs only from the old bill in a matter of degree, and unless the civil service commission be devised some method by which experience and knowledge of police duty is given a greater weight than at present, a 5% premium will undoubtedly work as much hardship as the absolute preference bill.

The joint committees which have been considering the maternity bills, have agreed upon a bill which will enable the state to furnish advice and nursing for the pre-natal period only. This seemed to be the only possible step to be taken in view of the fact that no one knew what the expense would be under the bills for complete maternity benefits on which the hearings were held. The bill as reported allows $200,000 for this work, and it is expected that about 10,000 cases will be covered. If this first step in maternity benefits is taken, a foundation will be laid on which the work can be logically and sensibly extended in the future. Statistics gathered in Boston during the past few years, show that where prenatal care is given, the death rate of infants under two weeks, drops from 16 to 25 per cent, with a corresponding drop in the percentage of still births. If these figures can be carried throughout the state, it will mean a saving of something like 700 babies present death rate of the mothers.

The first skirmish on the moving picture censorship bill took place yesterday with two roll calls, the bill taking its second reading after a motion picture was shown. It was taken on to be read for the next general court had been defeated by a vote of 14 to 124, one of the largest roll calls this session.

FINE CONCERT

With a personnel of musicians and entertainers, many of whom are of professional calibre, the combined musical clubs of Wesleyan University gave an excellent concert in Newton Centre on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Boston Alumni. Seldom has Wesleyan had a musical club of such versatility as the one which appeared here.

The new department of the clubs, the University Orchestra, is proving even more popular as musical entertainers than the Mandolin Club which it succeeded. Few college orchestras are fortunate enough to possess a violinist equal to "Al" G. Mueller, '22, of Albany, N. Y. Though the majority of the numbers in the program are ragtime, his ability to play classical music was demonstrated during several of the selections, H. W. Taylor, '21, of Cornwall, N. Y., the leader of the orchestra, made a distinct hit with his banjo-mandolin.

Songs by the Glee Club and "Jibbers" and comedy skits by the well-known Johnson Brothers completed the program. The Glee Club under the direction of J. C. Leffler, '21, of Buffalo, N. Y., rendered such popular selections as the "Miller's Wooing," "The Sandman," "John Peel" and "Alexander." The Jibbers, including J. R. Ott, '21, of Roxborough, Pa., C. W. Quick, '21, of Newton, N. J., J. H. Boyd, Jr., '23, of Upper Montclair, N. J. and Leffler, always prove popular as "close harmonizers."

The individual stars of the performance were the Johnson Brothers, '21, of Meriden, Conn., who put over original comedy skits in a manner which is seldom surpassed by professional entertainers. Their "take-offs" on well-known literary works and burlesques of modern drama are always warmly received. Among their best pieces is "Bluebeard" and "Fifteen Minutes." The facial expressions, quick changes from comedy to cries of fear and pathos and general stage deportment of the "twins," as they are known at Wesleyan, were most popular.

WEST NEWTON CHAPTER ORGANIZED

The men of the First Unitarian Society in Newton formed on April 23 the West Newton Chapter of the Unitarian Laymen's League. The first dinner and business meeting was held in the Parish House of the Church on that date. Mr. William L. Barnard, Office Secretary of the Unitarian Laymen's League addressed the meeting, having for his subject "League Work and the formation of Chapters." Dr. Albert C. Diefenbach, the Editor of the Christian Register spoke on "Men in the Church." A constitution was adopted, officers elected and fifty-four members enrolled. Following is a list of the officers: President, Frank W. Remick; Vice-President, Donald Macomber; Secretary, Maynard Hutchinson; Treasurer, A. B. Rich; Executive Committee: the above and Charles E. Lauriat, C. Sinclair Weeks, Edward W. Whorf.

The Chapter will hold regular meetings during the church year and join in the activities of the League which has for its purposes:

1. To deepen the spiritual life of man.
2. To induce a keener sense of individual responsibilities of duties to the State.
3. To exemplify in actual practice the brotherhood of man.
4. To lend influence toward a just solution of post belium social and economic problems.
5. To promote the welfare of the child.
6. To aid in Americanization.
7. To encourage more efficient management of churches.
8. To assist in the work of training ministers and to provide a pension system for the ministry at large.
9. To encourage the use of parish houses.
10. To establish a publicity bureau for the interchanging of speakers giving information regarding the work and purposes of the League.
11. To stimulate attendance at church services.
12. To encourage closer co-operation among liberal churches.
13. To expand and strengthen attendance at Sunday Schools.
14. To establish club houses of the League in large cities.
15. To make widely known the devotion of the Unitarian to the essential principles of Christianity and their practical application to society.

This League and its affiliated chapters is distinctly an organization of laymen, officered and controlled by them. The organization is independent of all denominational organizations, but working in close harmony with them.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S SPECIAL POLICY

protects yourself while protecting is good, that is while you are young, or comparatively young, with a very little effort you may make it possible in case of accident, or in your advanced years to have a monthly income of a $100 or $150 as sure as the sun rises. Don't listen to a person who discourages this opportunity, for that discouragement is the cause of the 1,000,000 of women being left in their advanced years without adequate protection. Always keep in mind that 85 per cent of male adults fail to establish even a permanent basis for an income, also that 33 1-3 per cent of all widows are left without the necessities of life and 75 per cent without the comforts. Women, your future comforts are clearly up to you.

The Accident Policies, the most liberal ever written. $100,000 costs $100 annually, in addition pays $100 a week for 200 weeks. $40,000 costs $40.00 annually and pays $50.00 a week for 200 weeks. The above policies cover automobile accidents, which Frank A. Goodwin, Head of the Motor Vehicle Division of the State, says increased 90 per cent in 1919 over the number of accidents in 1918. You are now facing the beginning of the automobile season. Protect yourself with insurance before the accident occurs, and pray that the accident does not occur.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Time was when the women's clubs were looked upon more or less in the way of a joke, when to be a club woman was next to being a suffragist, wearing one's hair cut short or even adopting Mary Walker's style of dress. Today, however, the club woman is synonymous with taking a broad outlook upon life, extending the confines of one's home until it includes not merely the neighbor, but includes the whole heart of humanity the world over. Should there remain those, either women or men, who still look even a little askance at this great broad, educational movement known as the Federation of Women's Clubs, such should have been present at the annual meeting of the Newton Federation on Tuesday and heard the summarized report of the work of Newton's clubs during the past year. He or she could not but have been impressed with the great amount of philanthropic work accomplished by them and by the long list of objects to which they have contributed. Little by little people are beginning to realize that most such work is best done by experts and that to lend one's financial support is the best way to prevent duplication and overlapping and to render intelligent service. It would be impossible to give the aggregate of the contributions of the clubs, but the long list which have benefited by their generosity shows a wise distribution. Notice also that Newton philanthropies come in for a generous share. Here is the list: Newton Hospital, Newton Welfare Bureau, Stearns School Centre, Newton District Nursing Association, Newton Hospital Social Service League, Stone Institute, John A. Andrew Home, Pomroy Home, West Newton Music School, Well-Baby Clinics, Young Men's Christian Association, Boys' Club of the West Newton Day Nursery, West Newton Neighborhood House, milk lunches at the school, flowers for the sick, carriages for children to attend the story-telling hour at the Art Museum, Boston, treats for convalescent boys at Parker Hill, Blind Babies' Hospital, Sallio's Haven, Consumers' League, Young Women's Christian Association, Child Labor Committee, Fathers' and Mothers' Club, International Longfellow Home, Red Cross, War Relief, American Committee for Devastated France, while a number of French and Belgian orphans have been adopted.

General Federation

Already one hundred and twenty-five have registered for the party for Des Moines, enough to insure a special train, for each additional twenty-five delegates an extra car will be added. Those who heard Miss Georgie A. Bacon at the Presidents' Club in Boston on Wednesday will realize that there are still further reasons for attending the Biennial than merely to secure the election of Miss Bacon as the president. The question of reorganization looms large upon the horizon; whether the representation shall be by states, or through individual clubs as well, is one measure which will require the thoughtful attention of all delegates, whether the Federation shall remain the broad educational force, non-sectarian and non-partisan, which it has always been or whether it shall be entirely changed is another matter which will be considered. It is a critical period in the Federation's history and it will need intelligent and thoughtful voting on the part of the delegates to successfully steer the convention to a safe harbor. A woman of wide insight, clear vision and a great capacity for leadership will be required during the coming biennial period. Massachusetts feels that they have such an one in the person of their candidate, Miss Georgie A. Bacon.

State Federation

The special train for the delegates who are to attend the annual meeting in Springfield, May 18, 19 and 20, will leave the South Station, Boston, on Tuesday, May 18, at 2:05 P. M., daylight saving time. Those who plan to take that train should send to Mrs. W. E. Rowe, 41 Marion street, Wollaston before May 11, a check for the one-way fare to Springfield and for the parlor car seat, $3.75, accompanied by self-addressed, stamped envelope for return of same. A guarantee of 125 persons is necessary for the special train.

The sessions will be held in the First Church, Court Square, opening on Tuesday evening. It is expected that Bruno Roselli, who has been an attaché at the Italian Embassy in Washington and this year has been connected with Vassar College, will speak at one of the sessions. The large part of the time as usual will be taken up with the reports of the departments of work. Springfield offers many attractions and the hospitality of the Springfield Women's Club will be unbounded.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Harry Lutz, the newly elected president of the Social Science Club, was in the chair at the meeting on Wednesday morning. A change in the by-laws was adopted so that hereafter there will be no meeting of the club following the annual meeting. The last Wednesday in April. Mrs. Sterling Elliott reported the annual meeting of the Newton Federation.

Miss Mary Taylor Blauvelt, the speaker of the morning, under the title, "Trying to understand Russia," gave a thoughtful delineation of the Russian people and their characteristics and explained the various political parties who have in turn been in power since the revolution in 1917. The Russian novelists have given us more about the common people of the country than have the novelists of any other country about their own people, so that we are able better to understand them. They are full of contradictions; while they have had the most autocratic of all governments, they are the most democratic of all people; while they are the most gentle and the most affectionate, they are on the other hand the most cruel and the most vindictive. In fact, they are just children. Certain novelists make them the most backward of all people, while others make them the most profound. The truth is, they are more Asiatic than European. Asia is behind in practical things, but has led the world in religion, for every great religion has come out of Asia and there is no sign of any of them dying out, which is not true of the religion of either Greece or of Rome. The people are lacking in general patriotism, though they are patriotic so far as their own province is concerned.

The three political parties, the Constitution Democrats, the Social Revolutionists and the Social Democrats were explained in detail. All three wanted a political revolution. The first would stop at present with that, while the second party wanted an economic revolution as well, but would continue the war until the object was attained. The third, that represented by Lenin and Trotsky, wanted not only a political revolution and an economic one with a vengeance but they wanted to stop the war immediately. The common people had no idea for what they were fighting; they wanted peace and the land. The Bolsheviks on the other hand had no interest in the land. Among the hopeful things Miss Blauvelt feels that the peasants have got control of the land and that they are going to keep it; another is the growth of the great co-operative societies whereby 120,000,000 people are being supplied, and likewise the idealism of the people.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club is holding its annual meeting at the home of Miss Marion White tomorrow afternoon, it having been postponed from last week.

NEWTON FEDERATION

Twenty-five years of useful service to the community was closed with the annual meeting of the Newton Federation on Tuesday, held in the Central Congregational Church at Newtonville. These occasions are always full of interest and of inspiration for further accomplishment, and that of this year was in every way satisfactory. In addition to the ordinary dues the treasury received $1600, the proceeds of the rummage sale in November. Gifts have been made as follows: Welfare Bureau, $500, to a special teacher $100, West Newton Music School $75, Mothercraft outfit for the work at the Playgrounds, $25.78, Young Women's Christian Association $25, Child Labor Committee $4. A substantial balance remains in the treasury with which to begin the new year.

Miss Elizabeth Fyfe explained the enlarged plans of the West Newton Music School to establish further branches next year and stated that if funds are forthcoming the school will be equipped to serve 250 pupils. For this $6000 will be required. Mr. F. L. Richardson of the Newton Trust Co. presented the new Budget Book which has been prepared for the use of women of the city and may be had for the asking.

Discussion of the ratification of the action taken by the executive board relative to Sunday sports on the Newton playgrounds under careful supervision brought forth widely varying points of view and resulted in the action being ratified by an overwhelming majority. The statement published recently that the vote of the board had been 24 to 20 was erroneous. It should have read 24 to 10.

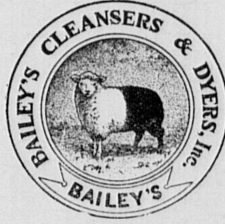

The delegates gave a vote of hearty appreciation of the immense amount of work Mr. Hermann put into the carrying out of the Thrift Exposition.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, chairman of the Civics and Social Service committee, summarized the work of her committee, which included the launching of the Central Council of Social Activities, that of the Bureau of Household Occupations, investigation of the health work in the schools, supervising the Dental Clinic and forwarding the work of Americanization through the big public meeting and later by the course of lectures in which a speaker presented a study of Racial Backgrounds.

Mrs. Palmer presented the following resolution, which was passed unanimously: "That the Newton Federation representing 5000 women of Newton goes on record as believing in the vital need of the immediate extension of the facilities of the Dental Clinic; that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the mayor and to the chairman of the Board of Health."

In reporting the work of the Education committee Mrs. Edmund I. Leeds stated that the schools through the history and English departments will take up the question of prize essays on "The Pilgrims in the Fall" that the year is now overcrowded with preparation for college entrance examinations. The play in the interests of better speech will be given the third week in May and the eighth grade pupils will have the benefit of it as well as the high schools. The great work has been for securing the raise in the teachers' salaries and the sale of the Christmas Red Cross seals. The committee has also been interested in the health crusade and stated that the milk lunches are likely to be extended to other schools another year.

Mrs. Abbot Rice for the Legislative committee reported their activities on behalf of the bills which had been endorsed by the Federation. Then followed the summary of the work of the clubs of the city presented by Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden. Two

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

By Rev. A. J. Graham, C. S. B., Attracts a large Audience at Players' Hall

The auditorium and stage of Players' Hall, West Newton, were filled by the audience which greeted the Rev. Andrew J. Graham, formerly pastor of a large church in Rochester, N. Y. The lecturer, who received the closest attention was introduced by Mr. Harry I. Hunt, First Reader of the Christian Science Church of Newton in these words:

In its attempt to interpret the God of the Bible Theology has given to the world a concept of God as a mighty Ruler who loves and hates, a Creator who makes man, capable of sin and then punishes him for sinning by sending upon him disease and disaster; a God who lives far away in a place called Heaven, entrance to which is gained only through the gateway of death. Theology, however, has not been able to furnish rational proof that this concept of God is correct.

Jesus the Christ taught a God who is good, a heavenly Father, the source of all life and of all truth, a God who is love, and he furnished overwhelming proof that his was the true idea of God by healing mankind of sickness and sin and showing others how to do the same works. Jesus revealed a God the understanding of whose ever-presence brings the Kingdom of Heaven to man here and now in this present state of existence, a God whom to know aright is life eternal.

The theology of Jesus the Christ is the theology of Christian Science, because Christian Science is the understandable knowledge of the truth taught by the Master. For close upon half a century students of this Science have furnished proof of this, preaching the gospel as Jesus commanded it should be preached, "with signs following," healing sickness and sin and showing man how to become better physically and morally.

The speaker of the evening, having been an expounder of the old theology before he learned the truth about God and man as taught in Christian Science, is particularly well equipped to present the gospel message of healing which is being given to mankind through these lectures on Christian Science. It is my pleasant privilege this evening to introduce to you a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Rev. Andrew J. Graham, of Boston, who will now address you.

Mr. Graham spoke as follows:

Mary Baker Eddy, on page 597 of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, gives a common sense and metaphysical definition of the word wilderness. This definition is two-fold, thus conforming to the redemptive experience of man as he passes from darkness to light, from slavery to freedom, from fear of condemnation to the joy of salvation. Here is the two-fold definition of the word wilderness: "Loneliness; doubt; darkness. Spontaneous thought and idea; the vestibule in which a material sense of things disappears, and spiritual sense unfolds the great facts of existence."

In speaking of the subject, Christian Science: The Voice in the Wilderness, we are seeking to elucidate the fact that Christian Science, through its literature and treatments, raises a voice of hope and confidence in all periods of mental darkness and depression, and expresses a voice of gratitude and love, when peace and harmony come into experience.

Perhaps it will be said that all of the Christian churches make the same claim, the reply to which is, that Christian Science not only promises but also fulfills. Let this be clearly understood, that Christian Science rests its claim entirely upon demonstration. It neither asks nor expects anyone to accept it on any other basis. It is known by its fruits.

An almost innumerable throng of men and women throughout the world testify that Christian Science fulfills its promises; that in loneliness, doubt, darkness and depression it has given a hope when all other hopes were dead; that its unfolding of spiritual truth has been the vestibule or pathway leading to the apprehension and understanding of the infinite, ever-present love. To this hungry age Christian Science proves to be "the world's great altar stairs which wind through darkness up to God."

Unrest

The human mind is never at peace. It is always in quest of satisfaction, seeking rest and finding none. This is because mortal mind does not understand the saying of Jesus, "In the world ye shall have tribulation, but he of good cheer, I have overcome the world;" "my peace I leave with you; my peace I give unto you." The Apostle Paul, understanding this situation, states the need for peace most clearly when he writes, "the whole creation groans and travaileth together in pain awaiting for the adoption, to-wit, the redemption of our body." The wayside flower perishing for lack of moisture, the helpless bird amid the wintry blasts, the lion roaring and seeking his meat from God, mortal man, sinning and sick, these all are evidence that the whole creation is reaching out blindly for help. Like Frankenstein, it aspires to satisfaction and finds no way to attain it. Now the fundamental panacea for this unrest is to know God. In an early Christian century, the Roman aristocrat, Augustine, after trying all material pleasures, cried out thus to the God of peace: "Thou hast made me for Thyself, O God, and my soul can never find rest until it rests in Thee."

In the first chapter of Genesis, man is recognized as being at one with God, made in His image and likeness, dwelling in peace and harmony. In the second chapter of Genesis, it is said, "there went up a mist from the earth." This mist marked the beginning of the "groaning creation."

In the early days of Moses and the Hebrew prophets, as preparation was going on for the establishment of the Jewish church, men communed with God as familiarly as man now converses with man. As time went on the mist of disobedience and self-righteousness rose up and the Jewish church became a part of the groaning creation. In time began the dawning of a new era. In the days of Jesus and the apostles, while the Christian church was being realized, the presence of God was a reality to men and peace and power were ever present and were manifested in destroying sickness and sin. Again there went up a mist from the earth, the mist of human domination and materiality, then the Christian church joined its groanings with those of its predecessor.

Again we say, the fundamental panacea for unrest is to know God. And now after fifteen hundred years of theological mist, darkening the human mind, comes Christian Science in this age, teaching men how to know God, by dispelling and destroying the veil of evil beliefs which obscure Him.

We pause here for a brief moment to elucidate the thought concerning the mist which obscured the spiritual sight, first of the Jewish church and later also that of the Christian church.

The Jewish Church

Perhaps most of us recall how it is said in one of the Gospels that when Jesus died upon the cross the veil of the Temple was rent in twain from top to bottom. What does this statement mean? Let us see. The purpose of the life of Jesus Christ was to reconcile man to God, to bring him back, in consciousness, so that he might commune directly with his Father. Now the beautiful Temple at Jerusalem was to the devout Jew the place where God peculiarly dwelt. In one part of that Temple was a wonderful curtain or veil of rich cloth, beautiful and ordered, which shut off from the outer congregation, the place known as the Holy of Holies. Here, behind this veil was claimed to be the special presence of God. Into this sacred place only one man was ever permitted to go, and he entered only once a year. This man was the High Priest of the Jewish church. All others who received any special benefits from God, must receive them through the illumination and instrumentality of persons or things which were permitted to enter the place where God was. Now the Apostle Paul speaks of this veil as representing the body, or flesh, or matter, which separates man from God. When Jesus completed his work on the cross this veil was miraculously rent in twain from top to bottom, thus signifying that henceforth the kingdom of heaven is open to all believers. That veil was the symbol of the mist which blinded the Jewish church to the Fatherhood of God because that church had forgotten that man was the child of God.

The Christian Church

For a good many years after Jesus' ascension into heaven the veil remained rent asunder, that is, the early Christians recognized and practiced the right of each one to commune directly with God. This period witnessed many marvelous works done by the early church, because as yet God was believed to be no respecter of persons, or the language of the later centuries, "quity thy state; all are equal within the church's gate." After three hundred years of the open veil, began that period of creed making and doctrine making, when theorizing about God gradually took the place of knowing God. And thus the mists of self-righteousness and human domination obscured the spiritual vision of the Christian church.

God

Christian Science is the realm of knowing. Ecclesiastical theology is the realm of believing. Now, as we have indicated, both in the Jewish and Christian churches, theology gradually came to teach that God is a mysterious being, remaining un-revealed to a large extent, and incapable of being known clearly by men until after death.

The Bible passage which says "clouds indeed and darkness are round about Him" was taken to mean that God wrapped himself in an impenetrable cloak. All those texts in the Bible which seem to indicate that God cannot be clearly known and that he is shrouded by clouds and darkness, deserve special attention; for in a sense they are all true, by which it is meant that God is indeed behind a veil, but that curtain of cloud and darkness is not made by God, rather it is the result of mortal mind ignorance and sinful thoughts. In other words, the mist that seems to separate man from God rose from the earth. It was not a curtain let down from heaven.

Now to the sick and sinful and troubled, brooding over the thought of an unknowable God, Christian Science comes and says: "Your sores and sickness and sins and broken hearts may be healed here and now." The veil which seems to shut out from God may be destroyed through the aid of healing, coming directly through Christian Science, trembled or through the reading of its text-book. The only Comforter in the universe is God, and Jesus Christ said: "This is life eternal, that they might know Thee, the only true God and Jesus Christ whom Thou has sent."

Now the puzzle to the human mind has always been this, since God is so infinitely great and man seems so small, how can man expect the Omnipotent One to take note of himself. The psalmist voiced this when he exclaimed: "When I behold the moon and the stars, which thou has ordained, what is man that thou art mindful of him?"

For his comfort and encouragement man needs something concrete, individual. He needs something which he is capable of understanding, and this concreteness we find in the teaching of Christian Science. Mary Baker Eddy in using the abstract noun "good," in apposition with the word God, has bequeathed to mankind an illuminating thought. By it she enables us to make active and real a religious expression which has been a dead letter, for practically fifteen hundred years, namely, "to love God." The pulpit has preached that to love God is absolutely necessary to salvation and the pew has silently answered: "How can I love God unless I know Him? I can love a friend because I know him; this is concrete experience and I can understand it, but to love God seems intangible, because to know Him seems so difficult." It is a thought which seems altogether abstract and yet men are commanded to love God as a means of salvation. Now Christian Science individualizes God, good. St. James says: "Every good and every perfect gift is from above and cometh down from the Father of lights." All good moves, aspirations, thoughts, all kind, gentle, loving words and deeds come from God. There is nothing in the whole universe which is loving, protecting, saving or compassionate but comes from God and centers in God. Any of these qualities manifested in men and women are positive proofs of the presence of God. Therefore we repeat, that when Mrs. Eddy employs the word "good" in apposition with the word God she causes us to see at once how simple and practical it is to love God and to know that we love Him. To love the manifestation of anything which is true, honest, just, pure, lovely and of good report, is to love God. Therefore in the wilderness of darkness and fear wherein one feels that he is without God in the world, comes the voice of Christian Science, and through its treatment, its services, or the reading of its literature, one is assured of the wonderful fact that he can know God here and now with as much certainty as he can know the truth of mathematics, and knowing Him, can love Him.

Evil Never Beneficent

The only chance that evil ever has to succeed is by simulating good. Under this pretense of good for mankind old theology and materia medica have been busy, for ages, in making pictures, the main feature of which has been the claim that good can be born out of evil. One of the Christian churches has a hymn beginning: "O felix culpa, O happy fault!" that is, I am so glad that I sinned; for by repentance of it I have learned how sweet forgiveness is. Out of wretched teaching like this comes such apothems as the following: "a young man must sow his wild oats." Is that true? Must one be dishonest and hateful before knowing how to be honest and loving? Paul says: "Shall we do evil that good may come of it? God forbid."

Beginning with about the fourth century of the Christian era the teaching became prevalent that the only way or method by which man could attain to holiness was to withdraw himself from the rest of mankind; that is, he stood in fear of associating with others, and so there appeared these abodes or retreats known as monasteries into which men betook themselves from their fellows, and this, contrary to Jesus' prayer in John xvii: "I pray, Father, not that thou wouldst take them out of the world, but that thou shouldst keep them from evil." In connection with this picture of fear as a means of salvation there arose what are known in history as the Morality Plays. The entire feature of which was to frighten man away from hell and to frighten them into heaven. Within the past twenty-five years an attempt was made in this country and England to revive the Morality Plays; and one recalls the rendition in various cities of a play known as Everyman with all its ghastly and horrible scenes. The age, however, had advanced too far in right thinking to encourage this sort of teaching. The appeal of that play was altogether to the element of fear and the public repudiated it.

In the later middle ages artists were busy with the brush, painting in various places, pictures known as the Dance of Death. In the old covered bridge, crossing the Swiss river at Lucerne, one finds nearly half a hundred such paintings, on the large triangular panels; and these represent the most notable of all the paintings known as the Dance of Death. Their purpose was to inspire fear in the thought of all who saw them. Beginning with infancy, passing through youth and manhood, and embracing every business and every profession of man, the panels represent various individuals busy and happy with the affairs of life, while near at hand, unseen by them, is peering the ghastly figure of a skeleton. This was supposed to be a series of religious paintings, intended to lay a pall of fear over every human scene and to remind men constantly of the one enemy they all fear. The great movement known in history as the Reformation did away with the worst features of this practice, and yet it survives in hymns, poems, sermons and funeral orations of the Reformation period; and these are still accompaniments of a great many services and sermons in modern orthodox churches. What inspiration, for instance, can one find in a hymn beginning on this wise: "So soon as the infant draws its breath, At once spring up the seeds of death. Or this:

There is a time we know not when, A point we know not where, That marks the destiny of men To glory or despair.

One does not care to advertise some modern preachers by mentioning names, but they should certainly cease from making these terrible word pictures and claiming them to be efficacious as means of spiritual growth.

Materia medica has also added its contribution to the element of fear which ever mankind has known, but it may be said, and said truthfully, that the pictures drawn by materia medica in the dark ages were not nearly so fear inspiring as those traced by theology. This is because the medical profession in the middle ages while familiar with the outward form of man had not sufficiently accurate knowledge of anatomy and physiol-

In-Deed

Out of the wilderness of belief, Christian Science leads mankind back to the Sermon on the Mount. On page 40 of Science and Health Mrs. Eddy writes: "It is said that the phrase divine service has come so generally to mean public worship instead of daily needs." One says to a friend of a Sunday morning: "Are you going to service today?" What does he mean by that question? Generally this, that in a material building called a church people assemble for an hour to pray or to hear some one talk about religion. That may be called worship but certainly it is not service. Service does not end with talk; it issues in visible results. One says to an acquaintance: "Are you a Christian?" The reply is apt to be: "Yes, indeed." Is that true? What does it mean? It is composed of two words, "yes" and "indeed." The word "yes" in Jesus' statement, "I am the light of the world," means "I am," in my words there are ye my disciples indeed." Christian Science accounts no prayer effectual unless it results in works. This is why Christian Science following Jesus, has no creeds. Other churches say: "Credo—I believe." Christian Science says: "Scio—I know." That which supports Christian Science and keeps it on the Rock Christ, is its works, not its words.

Like Produces Like

By much the largest part of Christendom today holds the declaration that "the unwortainess of the minister hindereth not the nature of the sacrament"; or to put it more plainly, that a public teacher of religion may, in his daily life, be godless and yet his moral turpitude will not prevent his teaching and ministrations from advancing the spiritual growth of those to whom he ministers. This pernicious teaching, advanced in order to excuse an ease-loving and sin-loving priesthood has for centuries tended to lower the standard of Christian character. The common sense of humanity has, however, coined a phrase which runs like this, "like priest like people," and this saying demonstrates its own truth. It is no listening to correct teaching, but to serving and stimulating spiritual living, that has realized the Christian life. The power of Jesus' words came from his holy, obedient living. No words he ever spoke can justify anyone in claiming that a disobedient, unholier life can impart health and holiness to another. "For this Principle there is no dynasty, no ecclesiastical mo-consciousness. Let us here employ a simple illustration. I want to show the lack of levity that there are five, so called causes, any one of which may produce death. Let us say these causes are tuberculosis, anger, liver trouble, drunkenness and cancer. Suppose now, as often happens, that a man is healed of tuberculosis, that means that one of the five causes of death is destroyed; in other words that 20 per cent of death is destroyed. He can be healed of the vicious habit of anger and another of the so called causes is eliminated. This means that 40 per cent of death is destroyed. This progressive destruction of death is what is taking place in the consciousness of every active Christian Scientist; and on this plane of existence he may destroy so much of the death thought that if the change called death does come he has no connection with it and it may be as painless an operation as the laying of a wornout garment.

Who shall say how much of the death thought was destroyed by the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, before she passed on? Remarkable testimony bearing on this point was given by a friend of Dr. George L. West. Obedient to civil law, the morning after Mrs. Eddy's decease, Dr. West was called in to sign the required certificate. At the time of his official visit he did not know who the woman was whose remains he was viewing. He subsequently made this impressive comment on the occasion: "It was merely the performance of a perfunctory duty, although had I realized at the moment that I was in the presence of the body of a woman who had ruled thousands for many years, I might have been impressed with the importance of the official duty, and perhaps I might have struck me most as I looked into the dead face was its extraordinary beauty. She must have been a beautiful child, a beautiful maiden, and extraordinarily beautiful in the fullness of womanhood. There still were substantial traces of beauty left in the white face reposing on the pillow. Time indeed had laid its hands lightly on her all through the years. Wrinkles there were, of course,—but the wrinkles that she bore looked more as if some one had been playing with the skin, and not as if they might have been brushed away with the gentle smoothing of the hand. They did not seem to belong amid those features. The entire countenance bore a placid, serene expression, which could not have been sweeter had the woman fallen away in sleep in the midst of youth. It was the expression of one ever seeing in death before a face which bore such a beautiful and tranquil expression." (Life of Mary Baker Eddy by Sibil Wilbur). Such testimony shows to what remarkable degree in the case of Mrs. Eddy, Mind had dominated, destroyed matter, so that the Spirit could pass through the veil of flesh proving the nothingness of death and the almsness of Life.

The Eternal Now

In no way has the theological teaching of the past fifteen hundred years involved more confusion and bad results than the statements about, 'this life and the next life,' 'time and eternity,' 'now and then,' 'here and there.' The prevalent teaching has been that everything on this side of what has been called the 'great divide,' this life and 'here' and now and all beyond that is known as 'the other life,' 'eternity,' 'there' and 'then.' The practical results have been that preachers have stressed the importance of getting ready for the next life instead of teaching the importance of rightly living in this one, and this has kept people in a state of uncertainty, looking for a good time or a bad time to come instead of knowing that the good time or bad time is already here. It has been one of the mental habits of ecclesiasticism to point to eternity as the state or place of so-called heaven and hell, understanding by eternity what is beyond this life. Neither the Bible nor the Scriptures in their teachings justify anyone in claiming that there is, in any real sense, any other time than the time in which man now lives. In other words he is in eternity now. A simple allusion to the Scriptures will make this meaning plain. By his own declaration, God's name is 'I AM,' the 'I' being the first person, indicative mode. God's name is not I was, or I shall be, but, 'I AM,' pointing to existence without beginning and without ending. Now man is created in the image and likeness of God, that he is the reflection of 'I AM'—the God who is existence without beginning and without ending. This is the teaching of the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, the words past and future are used but this is a condescension to the limited human mind, and as that mind gives way to spiritual understanding men begin to think and speak in terms of eternity instead of terms of time, and yet to be understood then, that when we say, 'eternity,' in the language of Christian Science, that we are in eternity now, we mean that the same experience of joy and peace and love which constitutes harmony or heaven in its completeness, is with us now in its beginning, and to endeavor to live up to the light we possess is to approach nearer that state of thought which is the health of the soul, and to trouble and the weary are at rest. As man approaches the 'there' he discovers it is the 'here,' and as he reaches the 'then' he finds it to be the 'now.' From which it follows that Christian Science teaches the observance and rewards of the religion of Jesus are for the 'here' and the 'now' and not for the 'there' and the 'then.' This sense of a present God and a present heaven encourages, builds up, energizes, and rejoices the heart. On page 39 of Science and Health by Mrs. Eddy we read, "now," cried the apostle, "is the accepted time, now is the day of salvation," meaning now that now man must prepare for the future, but that safety, but that now is the time in which to experience that salvation in spirit and in life."

The World-Wide Problem

No religious teacher can consistently remain silent concerning the universal social and business unrest prevailing throughout the world today. During the last fifty years distance and time have been destroyed to such an extent by inventions and discoveries that the peoples of the earth are now one family for weal or for woe. A discordant nation in any quarter of the globe is a menace to the peace of all other nations must help to heal or suffer inevitable consequences. The whole world at the present time is in just this condition. The great homicidal war not yet finished, has thrown into view this illuminating fact that the nations of the earth can no longer dwell apart as separate entities. We are one people. Our children are included in His family. The loving recognition of this fundamental fact is the only solution for the world's problem.

The Impelling Cause

I would not that I have neglected a privilege and a duty were I to close this lecture without some allusion to my own physical healing and to my spiritual release from the old theology. In 1872 I became a member of an orthodox church. The six years following were passed in preparing for the ministry. Beginning in 1877 and for thirty-four years thereafter I preached and ministered in that church, standing sincerely and loyally by its doctrines, discipline and worship. As a clergyman I was bitterly and unreasonably opposed to Christian Science and frequently denounced both Christian Science and Mary Baker Eddy publicly and privately. During the latter part of 1891 I suffered increasingly from indigestion, liver trouble and, as diagnosed by one physician, chronic appendicitis. A so-called nervous breakdown ensued and an horrible, never-present fear which filled my thoughts with distressing pictures day and night. At that time, against my moral will, I was led to receive treatment in Christian Science, which resulted in physical healing, and what proved of a still greater relief, the destruction of the beliefs in old theology. There was only one thing I could do and that was to follow the insight which came to me as I sat in my room the last of the month of a few weeks before we were to take final leave of the church and the loving people to whom I had ministered for seven years. I was suddenly awakened at midnight, out of a sound sleep and in the darkness I seemed to see an interrogation point a mile high and it said to me: "What if it is all a mistake, and you find you are turning up your long ministry, your church and your loving people for nothing that proves itself to be a lie?" My heart was so full of love and gratitude for my healing that I could not take it unawake. I instantly answered, "No, I deeply believe it." I answered, "You shall know them." Then I said to myself: "Do you love me as much as in other days?" Answer: "There is no comparison." Question: "Do you love mankind as much as of yore?" Answer: "I did not seem to know universal love for mankind until my healing in Christian Science." With that the interrogating spectre vanished forever. Other long-lying problems have arisen but they have been uniformly destroyed by the spiritual law of Christian Science, the law of "I am that I am." Then we as Christian Scientists seem to yield to that physical, also will not go "like the quarry slave scourged to his dungeon, not like the weary traveler who wraps the dirty of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams," but we will go with our spiritual eyes open dwelling in the Lord's house, consciousness, knowing that our Receiver liveth, and that because he lives we live also. For this beginning of the destruction of death and the little understanding of Life that has come to us, we are ever grateful to our Leader. Mary Baker Eddy is not the saviour of mankind, but she is leading us out of the wilderness of confusion back to the Saviour.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Lasell

One of the most attractive parties of the year was the one given by the Seniors to the Sophomores. The Gardner Gymnasium was transformed into a spring scene, the girls themselves being dressed in complimentary colors.

The speaker for Vespers on Sunday was Rev. Charles Laubach, who spoke very interestingly of his work in the Philippine Islands, his subject being "Self Government in the Philippines."

The cause of suffering Armenia will be brought before the students on Saturday morning by a member of the New York Relief Committee.

Through the courtesy of Dr. and Mrs. Chalmers, some of the young women were entertained at the Allen School at West Newton on Saturday evening.

The Secretary of the Consumers' League of Boston, Miss Mary C. Wiggins, spoke to the students at the regular lecture period on Thursday.

Horace Mann

The fourth grade gave an entertainment yesterday afternoon based upon their work in Language. The pupils of the class elected the brightest language scholars for actors. "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," was the title of the play. This was given in two long acts and was very interesting. Visitors were invited to attend. The school orchestra played selections during the afternoon.

A very interesting reflectoscope lesson was given Tuesday morning to the 8th grade on "Scotland" by Gertrude Davis and Bertha Trussell. Two members of the eighth grade are busily engaged in completing a spelling chart which is to be used for the record of the Horace Mann and Clafin Schools in their daily spelling.

A play entitled, "The Little White Flower" was given by many pupils of the Third Grade, for the benefit of the first and second grades, as a part of their Language work.

A very interesting program was given by a few members of grade eight on the life of Thoreau. First a talk was given on his life and this was followed by a recitation of poems. The class enjoyed the program very much and learned many things concerning his life.

A health drive is being conducted in the third grade. The row having a record for cleanliness receives a prize.

Mrs. Murdoch, a seventh grade teacher of the Union School, Vermont, visited our Grade VII and invited us to write to her boys and girls. Our letters were mailed April 22nd and we have been receiving answers from Montpelier since April 25th. When they all arrive they will be read in class.

Wednesday, May 5th, Chief Tahan and his daughter, Princess Nacoomie, visited the Horace Mann School. They told Indian legends and danced for the boys and girls. Nacoomie, who is a violinist, also played and told stories.

Stearns School

Three girls from The Home Economics Club (comprised of girls from the seventh and eighth grades) gave a bread demonstration in the hall, next Monday evening. Bread will actually be made and the process explained. Any questions from the audience will be answered by the demonstrators. The bread is to be judged by Mr. Trask, Country Club leader. Prizes will be awarded by Mrs. Waterhouse.

A very interesting program was given Friday afternoon in the hall by the members of the primary grades of the Eliot and Stearns Schools. The entertainment consisted of songs, dances, recitations and dramatizations. The parents and the children of the grammar grades were the guests of the afternoon.

The April weight of all the pupils of the district has been taken and those children who are more than ten per cent under weight have been referred to the doctor and nurse.

Bigelow

The boys of the two sixth grades had a baseball game after school Wednesday, resulting in a victory for Miss Winslow's boys, the score being seven to six.

Members of the Bigelow Captain Ball Team 1919, most of whom are now High School Freshmen, challenged the Bigelow 1920 Captain Ball Team to a game which was played Wednesday afternoon. Both teams played a spirited game. The score was 2 to 1 in favor of 1919.

Several of the Bigelow Teachers attended a lecture last Saturday morning at Boston University.

The speaker was Angelo Patri of New York, city, author of "The Schoolmaster in a Great City." Mr. Patri made an inspiring address which had for its underlying thought the close relation which must exist between the people and the school of the coming age.

LILLIAN OWEN'S MARIONETTES

Under the auspices of the Mount Holyoke Campaign Committee for Greater Boston, Lillian Owen's Marionettes will give a series of performances in and around Boston beginning with two in Cambridge on May 13. The Newton committee has secured them for May 21, when performances will be given in the Newton Classical High School hall both afternoon and evening. Miss Owen has been associated with both Tony Sarg and with the Browns of the Chicago Little Theatre and is the designer of the dolls used by Tony Sarg. All who have seen them have been fascinated. With so few desirable things for children parents will welcome this opportunity for a thoroughly high class and delightful entertainment without having to take them to Boston for it. Miss Margaret McGill is chairman of the committee in charge.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NEWTON Y. M. C. A.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic Annual Meetings was held in the Assembly hall of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association on the evening of May 3rd. Our special guest and speaker of the evening was Mr. L. Wilbur Messer, General Secretary of the Chicago Association.

Music was furnished by the Mt. Ida Jazz Orchestra which was composed of a group of Y. M. C. A. members.

Mr. C. D. Kepner called the 43rd Annual Meeting together in a few well chosen remarks emphasizing the need of new donations and saying that the Association was free from debt. He emphasized also the need of loyal support of all the members in making the Association a success.

He then introduced Mr. S. M. Sayford, an Honorary Director of the Association, who in turn introduced Mr. L. Wilbur Messer, the guest of the evening.

Mr. Sayford was instrumental in getting Mr. Messer to take up Association work, and in introducing him to his home in Reading where he urged him to make this his life work.

Mr. Messer expressed his gratitude to Mr. Sayford for his interest in him as a young man and told of some of his early experiences in Association work. He then spoke about the need of the Association in these modern times.

He then spoke about the need of the Association in these modern times and boys, and gave his opinion that it would be a permanent organization in the life of our country, backed by money and consecrated effort to put across an adequate program.

The General Secretary, H. W. Bascom, reporting for all the departments, told of the growth of the Association during the past year. Among other things mentioned was the fact that the Newton Association stands first among the Associations of Massachusetts in contributions to Foreign work. $22,000 was the amount given by Newton friends during the past year to establish Associations in China, Japan, South America, India and the near East. He spoke of the good record of the Newton team which has not yet been defeated this season, of the Fellowship Club which has had an unusually good program this year under the direction of Mr. Fred G. Howe, Chairman of the program committee, and of the wonderful work done by the boys on State Boys' Day when they raised $900 for Association purposes. He gave some statistics in regard to the representation in base ball, basketball and basketball, and gave the following figures in regard to the attendance at the gymnasium classes:

Business Men	1,445
Seniors	3,312
Boys	8,182
Swimming pool	22,525

710 private swimming lessons have been given and nearly 200 have learned to swim. He also gave some interesting figures in regard to Community work carried on by Mr. Leary who has just completed his first year's work for the Newton Association. Churches, clubs, and schools visited:

Boys' brotherhoods organized	149
Personal talks with parents	158
Talks with boys	63
Conferences with men and women regarding boys' work	444
Classes organized for Americanization work	135
Gymnasium classes started at Newton Centre at which there have been 488 present in 20 class sessions.

Mr. Bascom said that it was always a pleasure to report about the work of our Boys' Day because the name of Lewis and Clark was so service to the Association and because it is such a pleasant spot where the young men and boys of our Association can build character in the great out of doors.

Last year the capacity of the camp was doubled, the length of time the camp was open was increased to eight weeks, improvements were made in the ball field, a new diving float was given by friends, a new flag was given on the equipment and new dishes, tents and stove were added so as to take care of 50 boys at one time. The total enrollment last year was 96. Mr. Bascom stated that the enrollments for this year were coming in fast and the camp would not be able to take care of the boys who applied unless someone would give the equipment to take care of the whole number who wanted to go.

During the year 490 ex-service men took out three months' free memberships in the Association given to all who applied. Mr. Sterling, for six months, gave his entire time rendering service to returning soldiers, sailors, or marines. It was shown that his work was appreciated by the number of calls that were made upon him.

The need for dormitory rooms was mentioned. Our own rooms have been filled and we are turning over class rooms on the second floor into dormitory rooms in order to take care of some of the men who are pleading for rooms. We keep a list of outside rooms which is often consulted.

A committee consisting of Mr. Dougherty, Chairman, Lockwood, Perry, and Bascom, have been granting scholarships to ex-service men of Waltham, Newton and Watertown. These scholarships provide for study in the evening or day schools of Greater Boston. Sixteen scholarships have already been given amounting to $710 and there is a considerable fund available for this purpose. Any ex-service man who is ambitious to improve his education may apply for a scholarship.

The work of the Women's Auxiliary was mentioned with appreciation for what they have done during the year.

In closing the Secretary spoke of the work of Mr. Kepner who has been with the Association for the past five years. He also spoke of the work of Mr. J. W. Blaisdell, Treasurer of the Association for the past thirteen years who retired from that office on May 1st. The service which Mr. Blaisdell has rendered during these years has won many friends for the Association. The work of Mr. E. O. Childs, the Vice President, and Mr. C. V. Moore, Clerk, was also spoken of with appreciation. Mr. Moore has been clerk for more than 15 years.

The following directors were re-elected for a term of three years—P. D. Fuller, C. D. Kepner, E. O. Childs, D. W. Anders. New men elected to the Board of Directors (which has been increased from 18 to 24 members) were: H. P. Fuller, Oscar E. Nutter, J. C. Clark, Fred L. Smith, for three years, and N. W. Dennett for two years.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the new Board of Directors for May 18th at which time the president and vice president will be elected.

The membership of the Association is larger than it has been for some time past and members and officers are looking forward to a prosperous year's work. A special membership campaign is now being conducted for sustaining memberships, under the direction of Mr. James A. Stafford, the chairman of the membership committee.

A hearing was also ordered on proposed concrete sidewalk on Wolcott street.

There was some discussion on the petition of the City Hall clerks to the effect that as the Finance committee was evidently prejudiced against their petition for an increase in salary, a special committee was requested to consider the matter. By a vote of 15 to 5 it was finally voted to refer the petition to the committee of the whole.

No action necessary was reported on the proposed readjustment of salaries of clerks in the Street Dept., on request of Mrs. Lucia Antoinelli for increase in Workmen's Compensation, and on the proposed resolve asking mayor to recommend $4000 for investigation of water supply.

The appointment of Leo McIsaac as a public weigher was confirmed and the appointment of Charles Raymond Cabot as a member of the board of appeal was also confirmed by a vote of 18 to 2.

Alderman Forknall opposed granting a junk license to Max Canter in a new location from last year and it was at first refused by a vote of 9 to 11, but later this vote was reconsidered and the matter sent back to the License committee.

The board adjourned at 12:05 A. M.

The great desirability of the zone system of building restrictions was forcibly brought out, and examples of the consequences of the lack of such a system shown by the experiences of St. Louis and Philadelphia.

In concluding his most interesting and instructive lecture, Mr. Shurtliff said that no planning board however wise can of itself bring about radical and much needed changes; that these can only be brought about through the co-operation of enlightened public opinion.

SALVATION ARMY APPEALS

The annual raising of funds for the maintenance of the Salvation Army work throughout the country starts next Monday (May 10th to 20th). The Army makes no other appeal for funds throughout the year, with the exception if such it may be called of the ladies standing on the streets Thanksgiving and Christmas. Greater Boston has to raise $170,000 to maintain the various Salvation Army institutions as they are at present, but it is hoped that amount will be exceeded as there are several departments in which extension is imperative. Newton's quota is $11,000. The Newton committee is as follows: C. Sinclair Weeks, chairman; Horton S. Allen, treasurer; Hon. J. Weston Allen, William L. Allen, George M. Angier, D. BURGLAR ARRESTED

William Toomey, arrested after a chase in which a shot was fired, early yesterday in Newton Centre, and who later pleaded guilty in the Newton Court, to attempted breaking and entering, may be the man for whom the Newton police have been searching for five weeks and to whom several breaks are charged. Toomey is 21 years old, gave an address on Washington street, Jamaica Plain, and is employed as a driver by W. B. McMullin, a Waban milk dealer.

He was taken after climbing a waterspout to the piazza roof of the dwelling of General James G. White, M. V. M. (retired) on Centre street.

Mrs. White heard him and on looking from a window saw the intruder with a few inches of where she was standing. Her screams awakened her husband, who fired one shot at the man making his way to the ground. Four policemen were in the vicinity and Patrolman John McNeil captured Toomey, who was running across a field to his wagon, which was standing on Ward street.

He denied all knowledge of other breaks, but the police are carefully investigating him. That night he left the McMullin farm with his wagon at 11 o'clock, although not supposed to start until two o'clock this morning. His route is through the section where the burglaries have been committed. All the breaks occurred in the early morning hours. After Toomey pleaded guilty the police asked for a continuance until Monday and for substantial bail. The continuance was granted and bonds were placed at $5000.

CENTRAL SQUARE THEATRE

They include Billy Bouncer and company, "Nothing But Laughs"; Sweeney and Rooney in Mirth Melody and Motion; Malcomb and LaMarr in Music Interpretations; Chase and La Tour in a comedy offering "Silk Stockings"; and Dancing in a whirl wind sensation.

COMMUNITY SERVICE CLUB

Three hundred and twenty-five ladies assembled in the Unitarian Church, West Newton on Wednesday, to hear a lecture for a Community Service Club to vote upon a constitution and bylaws and to elect officers.

Mrs. F. S. Sawyer presided and a report of preliminary work was read by Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas, the clerk.

On January 7th, the last regular meeting of the West Newton Branch of the American Red Cross was held and all sewing for the Red Cross was completed and shipped. There being no further call for work from the Newton Chapter, the officers and directors, for several previous meetings had had under consideration plans for continuing the life of our community meetings.

One of the bright things among the dark tragedies of the war has been the splendid spirit of co-operation and sacrifice on the part of the women of our village who toiled early and late doing their part to bring about our victory. To lose this united strength by disbanding into individual neighborhoods and churches, again, now that the war need was over seemed to all a great loss to the Community.

A committee was appointed and this committee secured the consent of the officers and directors of the Red Cross then in office to continue in their several offices for a period, during which plans could be made for a future society of the women of West Newton to study the needs of the community.

A society before which local problems could be brought for their discussion and their assistance.

Of the names suggested, the Community Service Club of West Newton seemed to best express the aim and purpose of the club, and this name was adopted.

Three sewing meetings have been held with an average attendance of about fifty. Garments, Layettes, on-the-robes, etc., have been sent to the Newton Hospital, the District Nursing Association, the Day Nursery and Neighborhood House, the Stearns Centre, the Stone Institute, the Pomeroy Home, and 25 suits of pajamas were made at the last meeting, an emergency call from the Red Cross for the Naval Hospital.

Miss Louise Lovett as chairman of a nominating committee submitted the following list of officers, directors and committees:

President, Mrs. Arthur G. Hosmer; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Herbert L. Fitch, Mrs. Joseph N. Lovell, Mrs. Elvira Peabody, Mrs. Fred S. Sawyer; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Philip H. Thayer; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Marjorie Lincoln; Treasurer, Mrs. Frank W. Remick; Clerk, Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas; Auditor, Miss Olive Harrison; Chairman of Finance Committee, Mrs. Frank W. Remick; Chairman Hospitality Committee, Mrs. Irving Fisher, Miss Louise W. Lovett; Chairman Sewing Committee, Mrs. Herbert M. Cole, Mrs. George P. Hatch; Chairman Cutting Committee, Mrs. Herbert M. Andrews; Chairman Purchasing Committee, Mrs. Sarah M. Wyman; Chairman Wood Committee, Mrs. Andrew S. Woods; Chairman Luncheon Committee, Mrs. Fred M. Lowe, Mrs. Clarence L. Weaver; Chairman Serving Committee, Miss Mary Newhall; Chairman Entertainment Committee, Mrs. Warner Marshall; Mrs. Ernest S. Gile; Mrs. Warner Marshall; Chairman Refreshment Committee, Mrs. William T. Glidden, Jr. and they were duly elected.

Signorina Garibaldi said in part: She told of her early life of her grandfather and his interest in all who were oppressed, whether Jew, Pole, or Italian, of her English mother and her interest in the little children of Italy. The first Protestant church in Italy was founded at the suggestion of Garibaldi assisted by the English.

She also told of visiting Brazil the home of her grandmother and of founding a Red Cross there and of her experiences in the Balkans preceding the war.

When Italy declared war, Signorina

Garibaldi's brothers fought in the Trentino, but she herself was in charge of a hospital in Rome during the first years, though, later she went to the front and joined her brother's unit. She paid a beautiful tribute to America and her work for Italy, and said that she wished her audience could have seen the joy of the soldiers at the Italian front over the Christmas remembrances from America.

In regard to the Fiume and other vexing questions, she said that Genoa had long been the port of Switzerland and that country has not shown any dissatisfaction with her treatment at the hands of Italy, so, she believed the Fiume question could be settled to the satisfaction of the Jugo-Slavs.

In concluding, the speaker expressed her desire to promote the good feeling already existing between Italy and the United States.

A Constitution and bylaws were read by Mrs. Sawyer and adopted.

Mrs. Arthur G. Hosmer, the President, then made a short address of greeting after which she introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Signorina Anita Garibaldi, who spoke on Italy's trend toward Democracy.

A social hour followed in the Parish House.

Over 300 women signed cards signifying their intention of becoming members of the club.

WONDERLAND MAY PARTY

A most enjoyable Beach May Party was held by Summer P. Lawrence Rehakals, No. 177, at Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville, last Saturday afternoon and evening. Both halls were a miniature wonderland, games and booths running the length of the halls and ante-rooms.

In the afternoon the little tots were there in full force and there was a Baby Show and Doll Carriage Parade.

Music was furnished in the small hall by the Smith Brothers of Newtonville, who demonstrated their Victorrols and also sheet music to the enjoyment of all.

During the afternoon music was rendered in a delightful manner by Miss Marjorie P. Perkins and Miss Olive Beal of Newtonville. Miss Mildred Beardsley and Master Blakesley also played a few selections very creditably.

In the evening music was furnished by an orchestra consisting of Mrs. Fred E. Perkins, pianist, of Newtonville, Mr. A. White, 1st violin, of Waltham, Mr. F. E. Perkins of Newton, 2nd violin, and Mr. J. P. McMahon of Newtonville, trap drummer.

A most interesting announcement was made during the evening that the two violins used by the violinists were made by one of our Newton residents, Mr. Benjamin F. Tripp.

The violins are certainly a work of art, and were examined by many of those present. Newton may be proud to lay claim to such an artist, and it would be well worth while for anyone, who is interested in hand made violins to call upon Mr. Tripp and examine these violins.

Much credit is due the committee, and all those who worked to make the occasion a success, and those, who were not fortunate enough to attend missed a unique and delightful time.

Norumbega District of Boy Scouts Stands Well Up in List of National Councils

In the annual report of the standing of the various Councils in the country, sent out by the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts, it is found that due credit was not given to the Norumbega Council, owing to some error at New York Headquarters, they giving the number of available boys in the territory over one thousand more than the state census shows. This placed the Norumbega Council in the 30th place among 73 cities of its approximate population (35,000 to 75,000) while actually the Norumbega Council is 12th.

The scouts of Newton have been distributing posters in aid of the drive for funds on the part of the Salvation Army. As there were only a few, the boys had an easy time.

There are still a good supply of free seeds at the scout office, and any scout interested can have some by applying to Mr. Talbot.

The many friends of Commissioner Irwin will be sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. Irwin. We all wish her a speedy recovery.

The scouts of Troop 4 hiked "by canoe" to their cabin on the banks of the Charles last Saturday, the usual good eats and sleeps prevailed. The scouts are getting to be such good cooks that the French chefs of those New York hotels will be in danger of losing their jobs, if the boys decide to become "chefs".

Troop 5 News

On Saturday, May 8th, Scoutmaster Mansur and five members of Troop 5, Newton, left Waltham in the Council "river" for a day's camping trip at the old Three Pond Camp in South Sudbury. A suitable place was found on the top of a hill, and just as the scouts decided to get lunch, it started to pour. Mr. Talbot, who went with the scouts, says he broke all world's records in getting his fire going in the rain, but scout Hodgdon claims to have tied in the race. Despite the fact that there was no shelter, and the rain poured and poured, the scouts built their fires, and had such good things to eat as steak, fried potatoes, cocoa, coffee, cake, bread and jam and a few other things to fill in the corners. Shortly after lunch, Mr. Talbot flivvered on his way, and the rest went to the old cook shack, where they spent the afternoon with scouts from troop 4 Watertown, telling stories, and learning First Aid and Knot work. The Watertown scouts started to swim home about 3.00, the Newton scouts having forgotten their bathing suits, decided to spend the night. By the aid of a neighboring farmer fresh provisions were bought, and the parents of the scouts notified, and at 5 P. M. all equipment was moved to a camp on the edge of the water where a good supper was cooked indoors. "Taps" was sounded at 9.00 P. M. and two hour watches (the kind that made the dollar famous) were kept during the night. An early start was made at 5.00 A. M. in the morning and they hiked from camp to Weston, a distance of 7 miles. A truck was used from Weston to Waltham where the hike ended at 9.30. All the scouts thoroughly enjoyed this method of roughing it and disbanding, a weary and foot sore but happy bunch. The troop plans to take their next overnight hike to the "Ohio", the Council camp in Dover.

Troop 5 will give a mixed entertainment at the Trinity Parish House, Newton Centre, May 22nd, at 7.45 P. M. Musical selections will be rendered by the Newton Technical High School Orchestra and a War Scene will be given by members of the troop. It is expected that the entertainment will be a great success, and the money raised will be devoted to troop equipment and for the baseball team. Dancing will follow the entertainment.

Scout Albert Radway is manager of the troop baseball team and will arrange for games with the different troops. He can be reached thru the scout office, or at his home 103 Commonwealth avenue. A game has been arranged with troop 7, Scout Edward Wales, First Class Scout, has been appointed Senior Patrol Leader of the troop, "Edgie", or as he is better known, "Jelly" Wales, did fine work at the School for Patrol Leaders last fall.

Troop No. 11, Newton, had an interesting Court of Honor Thursday evening, May 6th, at Bigelow School, their regular meeting place.

Scouts Gallagher, Babb, Person, Bray and Butler were advanced from Tenderfoot to Second Class and the following passed their Tenderfoot tests: Robert Arnold, Arthur Schindler, Robert Hodgson, Albert Stein and Richard McTarnahan. It was especially interesting that the latter celebrated his twelfth birthday by becoming a Boy Scout.

The troop committee was very well represented by Mr. Chas. E. Rees, chairman; Mr. Edmund Leeds and Mr. George Angier. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilm and Mr. Gallagher.

Scouts Wilm and Rees passed nearly all of the first class requirements but have some parts of the examination to complete due to a misunderstanding of the requirements.

The troop has had one overnight hike this spring and hopes to have another soon, probably to the same place, the "Ohio", the new district camping place near Needham.

A full attendance is requested Friday night at the usual meeting place to make plans for the District Rally at Clafin Field, May 22nd. Parents and friends are urged to keep the date of the Rally free and give the troop their support by attending.

Asst. Scoutmaster Woodbridge has been confined to the house with a serious case of tonsillitis but was able to be at the Court of Honor.

Scoutmaster Carley made a flying trip to St. Louis for a meeting Monday of Railroad Signal Valuation Engineers, returning home Wednesday.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

Holds its First Annual Meeting and Elects Officers

The first annual business meeting of the Newton Choral Society was held on Tuesday evening, May 11th, in the parlors of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. About 100 members were present.

In the first part of the evening the reports of the secretary, treasurer and Librarian were read, and the chairman of the music, arrangements, publicity and ticket committees gave an accounting of their work during the past season. Mr. Bates, the conductor of the Society, gave a short informal talk, voicing his appreciation of the work and the co-operation of the Society individually and collectively, and also outlined plans for the coming year.

The nominating committee, through its chairman, recommended the re-election of the present officers for the Society then adjourned to the parlors of the Central Congregational Church, where the second vice-president, Recommendation was also made that a third vice-presidency be created, to be filled during the coming season.

The full list of officers of the Choral Society for next year is: President, Mr. Edbert L. Tenney; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Augustus L. Wakefield, and Mr. Walter H. Stevens; Treasurer, Miss Helen Bevan; Secretary, Miss Theresa L. Cram; Librarian, Mr. Fred M. Earle.

Following the election of officers Mr. Paul C. Scarborough, rendered several songs, and Miss Eillian West played two piano selections.

On the invitation of Mrs. Augustus L. Wakefield, chairman of the refreshments committee, the members of the Society then adjourned to the parlors down stairs for cake and coffee. Before leaving the members indulged in an informal and enjoyable "sing," with Mr. G. W. Auryansen, as leader.

MEN'S CLUB

The Men's Club of West Newton held its annual ladies night on Friday of last week in the parish house of the Second Church. There was a large attendance and the banquet and entertainment were thoroughly enjoyed. Alderman Leon B. Rogers, the president was in charge and at his request a vote was taken on the matter of Sunday sports, the result being an overwhelming majority in favor of accepting the act, only five voting in opposition.

Colonel Furlong gave an intensely interesting illustrated lecture on the Argentinians and Patagonians and Mrs. Ethel Walcott Ross added to the pleasure of the evening with several songs. This is the last meeting of the Club for the season.

WINS THIRD PRIZE

Pupil in Classical High Wins Honor in a National Competition

Newton Classical High School has recently received what may justly be called national prominence as a result of a competition conducted under the auspices of the Doubleday and Page Publishing Company of New York. To Miss Phyllis Keyes, a member of the senior class belongs the credit of winning very great honor for herself and bringing this distinction to the Newton High School.

During the winter the Doubleday, Page and Company offered prizes for the best compositions that would be written in appreciation of the latest novel by Mr. Booth Tarkington, entitled Ramsay Milholland. The competition which was widely advertised was open to students of the high schools in every state in the nation. In consequence of this publicity a great number of manuscripts were submitted—so many in fact, that the committee of judges including three very prominent college professors of English, was obliged to spend considerable time in reading and appraising the compositions.

Last week Miss Keyes was the happy recipient of a letter from the publishers stating that she had been awarded the third prize of twenty dollars for her essay. Miss Keyes is the daughter of Mr. A. H. Keyes, a manager of the Wm. Carter Company of Needham Heights.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS' W. C. T. U.

Under the auspices of the Newton Highlands W. C. T. U. "Anne of Old Salem" the play so successfully given at the Technical High School earlier in the season by the Newton Grade Teachers' Club was repeated on Tuesday evening in Lincoln Hall.

As in the earlier production, the parts were admirably played, "Anne" (Miss Helen F. Kuriz) showing the difficulties that a charming girl of Salem Witch Craft days had to undergo because of the suspicion of the age. Miss Mary M. Higgins, Anne's mother, was very dignified and motherly, while Miss Grace M. McCray represented the worldly unscrupulous mother well.

The men of the day were ably represented by Miss Laura H. Baker, Miss Marguerite W. Greene and Miss Ida E. Scheib. Even the little Quakers, Miss Elizabeth F. Hartshorne, did not escape the suspicion of the wife.

Ezekiel's love making to Miss O'Neil and Miss Cecile C. Crandall was a source of delight. In contrast to Ezekiel, Cotton Mather (Miss Jessie E. West) represented admirably the austere clergyman.

The Newton Music School Orchestra rendered several selections before the play and between the acts. Following the play, the audience which was a good one, stayed for a social hour and dancing.

PRIZE DEBATE

Held at High School of Church of Our Lady on Wednesday

Last Wednesday evening, the Aquinas Society of the High School of Our Lady, Newton, held their tenth annual prize debate in the school hall, which was crowded with an appreciative audience. The subject was: "Resolved: That Industrial Disputes Should be Settled by Compulsory Arbitration."

The debaters for the affirmative were: John D. Atkins, '21; John J. Hart, '20; and John E. Murphy, '20. Those for the negative: Thomas L. Ryan, '20; Lawrence A. Lombardi, '21; Francis B. Driscoll, '20.

The prize, a gold medal, the gift of Mr. Charles P. York, A. B., an alumnus of the school, was awarded John E. Murphy.

The judges were: Rev. Lawrence W. Slattery, chairman, Rev. Walter J. Roche and Rev. Conrad J. Quirbach.

DEATH OF MISS PETERSON

Miss Izora A. Peterson, who died of pneumonia at her home, 193 Tremont street last Friday after a week's illness, was a woman interested in every good cause.

She was one of the founders of the Frances E. Willard Settlement in Boston, and a Director for many years. At the funeral services held on Sunday at her late residence, Miss Nellie Frank Hill, President of the Frances Willard Settlement, paid her a beautiful tribute.

She was also a director of the Boston North End Mission, and of the Juniper Point Improvement Association of Southbury, Maine, where she had a summer home, and a member of the Dorchester W. C. T. U. All of these societies paid tribute to her unselfish character and interest.

Her early life was spent in Charlestown where she was a member of the Trinity Methodist Church. Upon coming to Newton, two years ago, she attended the Methodist Church here, and the Rev. Henry H. Crane, formerly of this church, officiated at the funeral.

Miss Peterson leaves a mother, Mrs. Phoebe J. Peterson, and a sister, Mrs. Ella A. Brown.

The burial was in Wakefield, Mass., where Miss Peterson formerly had a summer home.

"COME ACROSS"

Newton is not doing its duty in the drive for the Salvation Army. When we recall the splendid work done by this organization during the war, there is absolutely no excuse for not coming across with the money so badly needed. Mr. Horton S. Allen of Newtonville is treasurer of the Newton Committee.

JOINT ANNUAL MEETING

Held by Newton Hospital Aid Association and Social Service League

The joint annual meeting of the Newton Hospital Aid Association and the Newton Hospital Social Service League was held in the parish house of the New Church, Newtonville, Tuesday, May 11th, with an unusually large attendance.

The president, Mrs. George H. Talbot, opened the meeting with an expression of her appreciation of the splendid work of the Hospital and the wonderful opportunity afforded us in having a share in it.

The annual reports were read by Mrs. F. E. Anderson, secretary and Miss Rose Loring, treasurer. Mrs. H. V. Jones, chairman of the Nominating committee proposed the following nominations which were unanimously accepted. President, Mrs. George H. Talbot; vice-presidents, Mrs. Joseph N. Lovell, Mrs. W. M. Flanders, Mrs. Geo. W. St. Amant; secretary, Mrs. Frank E. Anderson; Treasurer, Miss Rose Loring; auditor, The Hon. Alonzo R. Weed.

The list of directors was augmented by the addition of the following names, Mrs. F. H. Allen, Mrs. E. E. Hills, Mrs. H. D. Lloyd, Mrs. Fred M. Lowe, Mrs. G. H. Noonan, Mrs. F. H. Stewart.

Miss Riddle then gave a very interesting account of the year's work at the Hospital, speaking of it as a year of hardships and some deviations from the usual path. The problem now being how to get back into the old routine with a few forward steps.

The same domestic problems which housekeepers are facing are encountered at the hospital, women who took the places of men in industry have been retained, this condition with the lack of emigration, is responsible for some of the obstacles which they were striving to overcome or go around.

The shortage of applications to the training school, due to many conditions following the war, has become a serious consideration. Great unrest and indecision in industry, the three years' training, long hours, and the social ostracism of the nurse are some of the reasons for withholding the average nurse from the hospital. This shortage in supply must be overcome if the public is to have the nurse in the future. Theoretical and practical hospital managers and nurse-teachers find themselves dazed in trying to make plans for meeting this shortage and stand ready to accept propositions.

It is hoped that the Centennial of Florence Nightingale, which is being celebrated this year may arouse young women to follow in her footsteps on the path she opened, and on which she stands to show the way.

Mrs. J. N. Lovell then spoke of the very expensive needs of the hospital and the plan of our association to hold a Rummage Sale in the early fall with the following committee: Mrs. J. N. Lovell, West Newton; Miss Rose Loring, Newton; Mrs. W. H. Allen, Newtonville; Mrs. H. M. Cole, West Newton; Miss Florence Tower, Auburn; Mrs. Bernard Early, Newton Lower Falls; Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Newton Upper Falls; Mrs. H. M. North, Waban; Miss Constantia W. Smith, Newton Centre; Miss Mary Sawyer, Wellesley.

Following the meeting of the Social Service League Mrs. Talbot introduced the speaker Dr. William Preble of Boston, who gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on "Diet and Health." He laid great stress on food values as necessary in right proportions to the upkeep of the health and struggle of the adult and the proper growth of the child, he emphasized the necessity of a balanced diet. In order to attain efficiency, the goal toward which all are striving today, intelligence on this vital subject is essential.

A delicious luncheon under the direction of Mrs. F. S. Webster was served to members of both organizations and closed the days programme.

The following officers of the League were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Harold B. Sherman; vice-president, Miss Marguerite Flanders; Secretary, Mrs. Charles B. Jones; Asst. Secretary, Miss Edith Fisher; Treasurer, Mrs. F. W. Webster, Jr.; Asst. Treasurer, Miss Mary L. Rolfe.

WEST NEWTON ITALIAN RALLY

Under the auspices of the Court Nuova Italia, No. 266, F. O. A. of West Newton, the Italians of the City will hold a rally Sunday, May 16th at 1.30 P. M., to hear Miss Italia Garibaldi of the famous hero family, speak about the reconstruction work going on in her country and in favor of the Italian Victory Loan.

On account of the patriotic spirit of the speaker, there is no doubt that the Hall at 1351 Washington street (West Newton) will be filled to its capacity.

The Italian Victory Loan yielding an interest of 7 1/2 per cent. and payable in dollars in New York in 1924, should appeal to Italian and American friends and investors who wish to see Italy regain promptly her financial strength.

Next Saturday, May 15th, at 3.15 on the Y. M. C. A. field, the local Y. M. C. A. baseball team will cross bats with the fast M. I. T. combination Freshman-Sophomore team, weather permitting.

While the Institution does not support a Varsity team this combination team really takes the place of such a team playing a full schedule with other school and college teams and is regularly coached team. M. I. T. is also represented by a Freshman team and a Sophomore team, but the Freshman-Sophomore team which is the pick of the two classes is the team that is coming to Newton the 15th and a good hard game is anticipated. With Hunt of Newton going at his usual pace the Association team ought to come out a winner.

May 22nd, the strong Framingham Town team comes to Newton for a game.

Junior teams are being organized from the various boys classes. The intermediates are forming a team and will play outside boys teams averaging 15 years of age. The prospective line-up for this team is as follows: Cunningham, first base; Crosby, left field; Weidner, second base; Duly, first base; utility, Eaton, second base; Van Buskirk, shortstop; Seward, catcher; Nellan, centerfield; Matheson, third base; E. Dobier, rightfield; Marchant, substitute, Miller, substitute. This team will practice Monday and Friday nights on the Y. M. C. A. field at 7. The first game will be played May 28th, against the Newton Highland All Stars. This will be a twilight game played at 7 P. M.

The Junior A team picked from the Junior A Class will practice Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 3.30 on the Y. M. C. A. field. This team is composed of boys averaging 13 years of age and will play outside teams of the same age. The first game will be played against the Bigelow School team in the near future.

A very interesting Bowling match was rolled on the alleys of the Maugus Club, Wellesley Hills, on Monday evening, Newton winning all three strings. The next match will be with the Newton Club on Wednesday evening, May 12th.

NORUMBEGA PARK

With the return this season of Carl Alberte, as manager of Norumbega Park, a number of innovations will be made at this favorite summer amusement place. The coming season marks the 24th year of Norumbega. Mr. Alberte's connection with this warm weather playground began the second year of its existence, and his master hand guided it, ever extending, beautifying and improving it until three years ago.

When the park opens this year on Saturday, May 22, its patrons will find the picnic grounds enlarged and improved, with many added facilities for their comforts and pleasure, including perfectly equipped locker rooms and shower baths.

A pleasing innovation will be the devoting of the big open air theatre to motion pictures. The opening attraction will be Zane Grey's "Desert Gold," afternoon and evening, the opening day only. In addition to the big feature picture there will be a complete program of film comedies, new reels, etc., and special vocal and instrumental artists.

The big zoo, canoeing on the Charles River, the bowling alley, shooting gallery, and other features will be continued and special attention will be paid to dancing in the restaurant which, it is expected, will prove one of the most popular items in a visit to the park.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

Next week is the period of the "Big Push" for new members in the American Legion throughout the State, and the Newton Post will do its utmost to enroll in its ranks every man or woman who was in the service of the country during the World War. There are hundreds of eligibles in the city, and the officers of the Post are confident that, with a systematic method of placing the matter of joining the Legion before them, practically all of them will be enrolled when the campaign closes. Teams are being organized in every ward to interview every ex-Serviceman in their section who is not already a member, and a house-to-house canvass will be conducted to attain this end. The teams will be captained by one of the members of the Executive Committee representing the various wards. The Team Captains are as follows: Ward 1, Charles A. Mahoney; Ward 2, Thomas F. Quinn; Ward 3, Joseph Cunningham; Ward 4, Edward Edmund, Jr.; Ward 5, Edward L. Cannon; Ward 6, James Walters, and Ward 7, Dr. Henry Viets.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic: The making of the presidential election into so important an issue is to infer that the President has the power to make or unmake the country. The convention of 1787 which drew up our Constitution decided, for the sake of unity and efficiency, that there should be but one executive at the head of our government. He should, however, be merely the executive officer of the great council of the nation, and should not interfere with its legislation.

The changes which time has brought are sadly apparent. The office has been so magnified, that today the people demand a President who shall formulate programs, dominate Congress, and force such legislation as the people desire. Though Congress itself pretends to be jealous of the authority usurped by the executive, it quite willingly places the responsibility in the White House.

The results of magnifying the presidential office stand out more clearly now, than at any time in our history. In addition to the unsettled business conditions, and labor troubles, which are attributed, and perhaps rightfully, to the aftermath of war, we unfortunately must contend with the Presidential year. The appeals made to Congress, by the business men of the land, to better existing conditions, are being turned down with the excuse that things must wait for the election of the new President. Then, of course, we must be held up again till after March 4th, which means nearly a whole year of suspense and uncertainty.

From this it is evident that we are approaching the very centralization of power that our forefathers fought against so bitterly. Hearty co-operation on all sides, with politics playing a less important part, will alone remedy our precarious situation.

P. R. PALAMOUNTAIN.

To the Editor of the Graphic: In accepting the base ball playing on Sundays many things must be taken into consideration and first would be as to what effect this will have upon our family life.

The ideal for which we are all striving in one way or another is to bring our families together on the one day in the week when it is possible, to give father a chance to get acquainted with his boys and girls and for the children to be with their fathers. Other days are too crowded. But Sundays we hope for more time and for this ideal every mother strives. She provides special clothing for the Sunday wear, she prepares an extra good dinner and expects all to take time to enjoy it together, and she provides reading and music and sociability with leisure and quiet happiness. The church has its call for the morning, the Sunday School for the noon and the family for the afternoon.

It is then when home life is best, and its influence most lasting, and the whole week leads up to the day. Now if a boy is thinking only that Mike Somebody or Bill Somebody else is going to be playing base ball on a field a mile away, he is not going to be happy to stay at home for these few exciting pleasures.

It is not that he is going to play himself, it is the excitement of seeing someone else play, and of getting in with a crowd.

When it is said that base ball is such a healthful game and so good for boys to play, we can only say, yes, it is good for boys to play ball, but only nine can play and all that the others can do is to stand around and get into mischief; they get no chance to play.

If it should be allowed that base ball might be played on Sundays by nine boys at one time with no spectators, how attractive would it seem? Base ball as it is now developed is a rough and tumble game with dirty clothing, face masks, gloves, spitting on the hands and much stage play. It stirs the blood to watch it played, and is sometimes "as good as a circus."

Football is also exciting but without the hurrah and aud noise it is not much. If we start in with allowing a game to be carried on every Sunday, as it soon will be there will be an organized game, and noisy crowds will collect, and our parks will be occupied by all the toughs in the city.

On a Sunday recently, boys in rough clothes were passing through our streets with base ball bats over their shoulders followed by smaller boys and some other boys, a large young man they were playing ball on a private field surrounded by private dwellings. There was a good big crowd watching casually but mostly strolling around and visiting.

Would you want your boy there? Would you want your girl there?

The officers of our city are supposed to be the City Fathers and fathers they must be. The Federation of Women's Clubs is supposed to be composed of the mothers of the city, the City Mothers. They must not say "shall boys in Newton play base ball on Sundays?" but "shall my boy be hanging around a base ball field on Sunday? Am I doing my duty by him if I consent to his doing it; and if it is bad for my boy it is bad for other boys. They must not be tempted to do it."

ALICE RETURNS

The children were so delighted with the performance of Alice in Wonderland, given for the benefit of the Bryn Mawr Endowment, that after many requests an additional performance has been arranged.

Alice, the Rabbit, the Mad Hatter and all the other well known friends will be shown at the Newton Olympia Theatre, Saturday morning, May 22d, at 10 o'clock.

Many scenes in this fascinating production were staged in Massachusetts. The meeting with the walrus and the carpenter, and the famous lobster quadrille were filmed at Cape Ann.

All the costumes, even those of the animals have been copied from the drawings of Sir John Tenniel, made for the original Carroll book. Neither expense, trouble nor art has been spared to convince the children that they are really wandering with Alice in her adorable wonderland. No wonder the film has been so popular. No one should miss this opportunity of seeing Alice in Wonderland.

COURTSHIP OF MILES STANDISH
Last Wednesday night "The Courtship of Miles Standish" was presented by the Central Guild of Central Church under the direction of Mrs. Derby Brown, Miss May Cotton, acting as pianist.

The play vividly portrayed the life of the Puritans, and the setting was most realistic. There were scenes in Miles Standish's house and in Priscilla's house and outdoor scenes as well.

Miles Standish, played by Miss Theresa Cram, was a strong, manly character admirably acted. John Alden and Priscilla as acted by Miss Helen Carter, and Miss Kathryn Kelley were also true to tradition.

An appreciative audience greeted the players and the encores were many.

LAST MEETING OF SEASON

The last meeting of the Woman's Association of Central Church, Newtonville, took place at the church on Wednesday. The luncheon took the form of a basket lunch, charming hand-painted baskets of gay colors being at each place, and flowers of all descriptions upon the tables.

The meeting was opened by the President Miss Abbie Miller. Then followed the Treasurer's report followed by an account by Mrs. D. Brewster Eddy of the great need of missionary work among the Zulus of South Africa, especially in regard to a Medical Training School.

Mrs. William E. Strong also told of the need of hospital work in China. She was followed by an address by Mrs. Edmund Lee of Nanking, China. Mrs. Lee touched upon the history of China, its great antiquity, its high state of civilization when other nations were only in their infancy, which civilization has been arrested because of China's isolation from the rest of the world.

In the earliest days, she said, China was favorable to the foreigner. It was only after she had suffered at the hands of foreigners, many of whom sought to exploit her, that her attitude became hostile. Particularly was this true after the occupation of Korea by Japan.

The boxer uprising represented the last effort of China to throw off foreign influence.

Through the influence of the missionaries, and the better class of traders the attitude of China has now completely changed. She now seeks to learn Western ways. This has been brought about very largely through the 6,000 missionaries in her midst. Among the changes which they have brought about are the introduction of modern methods of education, hospitals and trained nurses, and industrial activities of many kinds.

One of the most important of the parts played by the missionaries in the making of modern China is the part of interpreter of the ways and thought of China to the World Outside. Almost all of the books written upon China have been written by missionaries. In the recent world war, China chose as her representatives the missionaries and those who had come under their influence.

She is at the present moment, eager for Christianity and her Christianity is very real to her. There is also clearly to be seen a strong movement toward unity; all the Presbyterian churches have been united under one head, and the Episcopal churches seem soon to be united. Moreover, she is fast training her own youth to rule themselves in church matters as well as in government matters, so that there are those who prophesy that the times is not far away when she will no longer need outside help.

At the close of this able address, money for the year was appropriated for the many splendid causes in which this society has always been interested, flowers were sold, and the ladies voted to make a dollar earn more during the summer.

NATURE STUDY

The following extracts have been taken from the recent annual report of Mr. Raymond W. Sweet, supervisor of nature study in the Newton schools:—

Gardening formed a permanent part of the Nature Study for this year. We had forty-seven demonstration gardens totaling 84,000 square feet at the various schools, which produced $436.86 worth of vegetables at a cost for plowing, fertilizer and seed of $132.29.

I recommend that the Mason Garden on the Newton Centre Playground be given up because of vandalism and lack of protection.

We had about 1200 home gardens which were given constant supervision. These averaged very well and the introduction of record books helped considerably in getting the co-operation of parents and keeping up the interest of the children.

I recommend that we discontinue the present plan whereby playground supervisors have charge of certain gardens even though it means our employing an additional supervisor.

Prizes offered for the best garden in each village were awarded as follows: Newton, Kingsley Church; Newtonville, Francis O'Halloran; West Newton, William Ramsland; Auburndale, Atherton Lawrence; Lower Falls, Francis Bernard; Upper Falls, Elizabeth Marcy; Newton Center, Edmund Perry; and Thompson, Percy Delvin.

An exhibition of fruits and vegetables was held in the gymnasium of the Classical High School in which some two hundred children competed. The quality of exhibits was excellent and from an educational standpoint I believe it was well worth the trouble and expense.

It seemed advisable to co-operate with the Junior Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture in taking up Boy and Girl Club work in which the following projects were undertaken:

Canning Club: Out of a total of forty-three doing work, twenty-six completed all requirements with a total of 2386 jars of fruit or vegetables. As regards quantity, Irene Hoban of Auburndale easily won first place in the county, putting up a total of 209 jars against 660 for the next highest. In addition she did canning for outside people so that her summer earnings totaled over $500.

In quality of work Ralph Patterson of Newtonville scored 98.5 percent, winning the city championship and third place in the County. This entitles him to a two day trip to Amherst.

Garden Club: Newton upheld her record as the "Garden City." The Massachusetts Horticultural Society awarded a silver medal to Elridge Ciccone of Newton Highlands and a bronze medal to Jennie Cooper of Lower Falls for excellence in gardening. Elridge's work stood out very prominently as his garden was by far the best in the city. He won first place at the exhibit for the largest and best display, won four awards on four entries at Springfield and made a place on the Poultry Judging Team.

In demonstrations the Newton team won second place in the County in "Planting a Garden" and in "Vegetable Judging." Two Newton boys, members of the Agricultural Department of the Vocational School, won second and fourth places on the County Team in Vegetable Judging. Two "Aggies" also won first and second places on Poultry Judging team.

Of the thirty-four doing work in this project eighteen reported with an average profit per member of $3.33 from a plot of 1200 square feet, the total value being $239.76. Bernard Kenyon of Newtonville won the city championship and gets the two day trip to Amherst.

Poultry Club: Of the eleven doing work in this project, six completed the requirements. As many members started with hatching eggs or day old chicks the production per hen was low at 64, yet the average profit was $2.57 per bird. The best record and city championship went to Munroe Cill of West Newton with a profit of $3.43 per bird.

Pig Club: Thirty boys and girls started this project eleven of whom finished all requirements. The profits were nearly wiped out by the tremendous drop in the price of pork, the last thing after the high cost of feeding all summer. Even at that Howard Phillips, of the Agricultural Department, made a profit of $14.40, winning the city championship and the trip to Massachusetts Agricultural College.

At present new projects are running in Home Economics and Poultry. The discrepancy between members who started projects and those who finished is due to two correctable facts. First, there was too much enthusiasm at the start and second, I could not give the required time to following up the club members at the close of the projects owing to opening of school and resumption of Agricultural Class teaching.

In the Nature Study this year we are putting special emphasis on three phases of the work. In no better way can quick, accurate observation be encouraged than in the study of birds where distinguishing characteristics of flight and color are a mere flash amongst the foliage. How can civic pride be better taught than through the medium of beautifying the home with flowers and shrubs. On gardening we depend for the appreciation of Nature's laws as well as the economic aspect of food production.

50% More Mileage

In Boston, Green & Swett Co. watched the Miller records on some hundreds of large cars. They found that Millers increased the former tire mileage from 50% to 75%. They eliminated blow-out troubles. And only six tires in each 1,000 proved disappointing to the users.

tests—Miller cords last year averaged 15,000 miles.

The new Miller treads, in these tests, outwear the best of others by 25%.

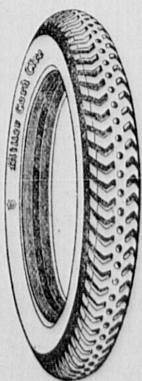

Defective Miller Tires are a rarity. Some large Miller dealers last year had not a single adjustment.

If you don't know these new-day tires you should find them out. They are saving millions of dollars to motorists.

Get one and watch it. It will give you new conceptions of a modern tire.

The tremendous demand for more houses and the reluctance of men of means to supply this demand on account of the high cost of labor and materials should lead our city fathers to a close examination of our Building Code to see if it is not advisable, under all the circumstances to lessen some of the most rigid requirements and make it a bit easier for persons to invest in real estate. In one particular at least, we believe there should be prompt action by the city government and that relates to the building of apartment houses. At present the Building Code will not allow such a building, for instance as the Hunnewell apartments at Newton, to be duplicated, for that building is what is called a second-class construction and the Building Code now calls for first class construction, almost prohibitive under normal conditions, and absolutely impossible under present conditions. The construction of a few apartment houses of the same class as the Hunnewell would be most advantageous to our people and would not be a detriment to the city as a whole.

The remarks of Dr. Chirug at a recent hearing at City Hall ought to be heeded by our city fathers in general and by our city officials in particular. Dr. Chirug merely called attention to the lack of wisdom in spending money for improvements at the present time of high prices, and urged that only the most necessary work be done until conditions change for the better. It was good advice and we ought to have more of our citizens take the same attitude.

KNIGHT TEMPLARS AT CENTRAL CHURCH

A noteworthy service was held last Sunday in Central Church, Newtonville, when one hundred Knight Templars marched from Temple Hall, to Central Church in full regalia. A police squad preceded the Knights, and they were led by an escort of twenty followed by Eminent Sir Harry W. Twigg, accompanied by ten past commanders, and the other Knights.

Sets in the centre of the church at the front had been reserved for the Knights who came down the center aisle and took them. The Rev. M. H. Lichtner, who has recently been elected to the Gethsemane Commandery, then preached on the "Meaning and Significance of the Knight Templars."

The service was attended by the Ladies of the Knight Templars, also the collection was taken up by the Knight Templars.

The altar of the church was decorated for the occasion with a large passion cross made of red carnations surrounded by lilies. After the service this cross was presented to Eminent Sir George Breeden, of Newtonville, who has been confined to his house for the past year with illness.

At the conclusion of the service which will long be remembered by every Knight present, the Commandery marched to Temple Hall, where they were dismissed.

O'BRIEN-CARVER

A pretty home wedding took place Wednesday evening when Miss Edythe Helen Carver of 39 Bowery street, Newtonville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Newstead was married to Mr. Arthur Edgar O'Brien of Quincy. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock under a bower of white roses and boxwood, by Rev. Percival M. Wood of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale.

The bride was gowned in white Pussy Willow tulle, trimmed with pearls, her tulle veil being caught with orange blossoms and sweet peas, she also wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her bouquet was white Killarney roses with shower of sweet peas.

The maid of honor, Miss Gladys L. Carver, sister of the bride, wore light blue tulle and carried Ophelia roses. The ring bearer, little Genevieve Paquette of Newtonville, wore plain yellow organdie.

The best man was Mr. Richard C. O'Brien, brother of the groom.

A reception was held from 8.15 to 10 o'clock. The ushers were: Messrs. Fred Randall and Percy Smith of Newtonville, Miss Ellen N. Anderson of Ashland played Lohengrin's wedding march and during the ceremony rendered "A Perfect Day." Miss Marie Fleming of Newton sang, "The Gypsy Trail."

The house was prettily decorated with Calla Dula, boxwood and palms. After a wedding trip to the Cape, Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien will spend the summer in Marblehead.

THE PLAYERS

The Players are giving their 79th series of plays this week, at Players Hall, West Newton, presenting the farce, "It Pays to Advertise."

The cast includes: Mrs. Pitt F. Drew, Miss Bonnie M. Jarvis, Miss Marguerite Jones, Miss Elizabeth Newhall, Arthur R. Smith, Jr., Waldo F. Glidden, G. R. Pulsifer, T. E. Stutson, Henry N. Pratt, Lawrence Pratt, W. L. Fearing and Philip W. Carter. Hon. Charles E. Hatfield is stage manager and is assisted by Mrs. Warner Marshall and Charles A. Welch, 2nd. The play was given on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights to large audiences.

Punctilious Elephant.

A little six-year-old boy was attending the circus, accompanied by his soldier father. When they reached the elephant Edward was allowed to feed it peanuts. The elephant raised his trunk to its head and Edward said excitedly: "Look, daddy, he's saluting you."

NEWTON CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

May 14, 1920.

The annual Senior Play of the Newton Classical High School was given last Saturday evening in the Newton Classical Assembly Hall. Ordinarily this event has covered two nights but owing to the fact that it was not necessary to make a large amount of money for any fund, it was decided an evening's performance would bring a better audience. The management was right, for the play itself, "The Tempered Whirlwind," was by far the most successful that has been produced there for some time. The cast was made up of a larger proportion of the school's best talent, and then, too, its members were well placed. The play, being more or less of the melodrama style, gave a fine chance for some clever acting, and with Stanley Lyon as "Jack Stevens," the college fellow, Lucy Doyle as "Isabel Stevens," the much talked of sister at college, and Eddie Nelson as "Sidney Palmer," Jack's roommate, such cleverness was not lacking. Miss Rosalind Winslow, the authoress, made some very good points in her conception of the first scene which was a college boy's room. Her portrayal of the crooks was also exceptionally good, and Wendell Burbank together with Gordon McLennan helped to make these two roles successes. Among the others who were also very good, was Isabel Fayes, acting as a wife of one of the crooks, Robert Cowing, one of the college boys, and Richardson Brown, another one of the frequenters at "Jack's" room. There seemed to be no hitch anywhere, and all the acting was well worked out. Mrs. Mills and Miss Richardson together with the points furnished by the clever writer of the play, certainly are due much credit for the fine coaching which they did. The management is also to be credited with fine work, for from the latest results $450.00 is the amount of profit.

The Chemistry Club held its last meeting today in the Lecture Hall, where experiments on ammonia were conducted. Although this Chemistry organization is a new scheme, the club certainly has flourished and is due for a good year in 1920-1921. Advance Chemistry always keeps interest at the highest point and helps to make many students more interested.

The baseball team has at last settled down to good work so that with Lyon and his steady throwing, Everett fell before Newton's onslaught in the lucky 5th and 7th innings, and brought home the victory 6-2, on Saturday, May 8. It was a very good game, well played throughout, except one or two slip-ups which cost both teams additional runs. This 6-2 result put Newton firmly in third place in the standing of the Suburban League.

Wednesday, May 15, witnessed the best game of the season without doubt. Cambridge, with a victory over Newton, came to Clafin Field fully confident that two wins were to take the place of one. However, Newton again backed by some very remarkable pitching, gave a different decision. In the first inning Cambridge got a single and a double but that was all. In the second inning it was a case of one, two, three, for both teams, but in the third Cambridge got a two-bagger and after the second out, again looked threatening and tapping a very pretty one into right field. Blodgett, playing there took it on the first bounce and with one of the nearest whips that has ever been witnessed on that field pegged the ball to Seavey, the catcher, so that the latter had ample opportunity to take the man coming in from third. That was the last time a Cambridge runner ever had a chance to see third. After that nothing occurred until Lyon started things in the last of the fifth, when the pitcher hit him and gave him his base. Stafford, second base for Newton, then sacrificed, while Blodgett drew down a pass. Harris, who is the third baseman, and not a very good hitter, took the hint and topped out a single. With bases full, Blodgett repped a very well placed two-bagger so that nobody could get it, letting in two men, as one or next up hit the ball into deep right and brought home two more men, while he right fielder for Cambridge was waiting for it out in right. In the sixth inning Lyon hitting out a single and Stafford putting the ball out of reach helped to boost the score. The final count came later in the game when Macomber helped to bring home a man by another single.

The game itself was full of quick plays, neat handling, and all around good baseball. With the score of 6-0 against Cambridge, Newton is due to a come-back stunt and possibly lead the league again as she did last year. It was announced at the game to the members of the Newton team that Dr. Henry Waters had offered a prize to the batter who is the most useful to the team. Also a prize to the player who has the highest batting average. With this fine opportunity to win something extra, the team can work hard.

NEWTON MEDICAL CLUB

At a largely attended meeting on Monday night of the Newton Medical Society held at the Newton Hospital, Dr. Joseph W. Courtney gave an address on "sleeping sickness." Representative B. Loring Young of Weston spoke on the subject of maternity benefits with special reference to the pending legislation to provide for prenatal care and at the conclusion of his remarks the Club voted unanimously to give its approval to the bill.

Famous French Ecclesiastic.

The Swan of Cambray was Renelon, archbishop of Cambrai, born in 1651 and died in 1715. Of him "The Catholic Encyclopedia" says: "With him disappeared one of the most illustrious members of the French episcopate, certainly one of the most attractive men of his age—one of the most attractive, brilliant and puzzling figures that the Catholic church has ever produced."

The regular all-day meeting of the Woman's Benevolent and Church Aid Society of the First Church was held on Tuesday. Sewing was done during the morning session and luncheon was served at noon, over a hundred members participating.

Sands; Hospitality Committee, Mrs. Charles D. Sage; Relief Committee, Mrs. Sylvanus C. Morse. The neighborhood sewing circles that have been held during the few weeks preceding the meeting, for the purpose of extending a cord from the society to all new comers in the parish have been most successful. These meetings will, without doubt, be continued in the fall. An every woman canvass is being conducted under the direction of the finance committee. It is the aim of the committee to make the membership of the society at the opening of the fall season one hundred per cent strong.

ITS 100TH MEETING

Newton Lodge of Elks observed its centennial meeting last night with an enjoyable and unusual entertainment in its club rooms in Eliot Block. There was a large attendance. The entertainment took the form of a burlesque on a street corner, the conductor, Mr. Hughie Foxwill having a mackerel that caused a laugh at every look. The motorman, Mr. John Goldrick as a hump-backed negro was much in evidence. The passengers, who later contributed songs and dances to the program included Lieut. Dohoney, T. J. Silliker, John Theriault, Harry B. Silliker, Neal McDonald, Miss Curtis, Miss Gordon and Miss Allen. During the evening, Mayor Edwin O. Childs presented the retiring Exalted Ruler, Mr. O. J. McCourt with a handsome traveling bag.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Governor Coolidge's veto of the 2.75 bill has been laid on the table in the Senate until next Monday, when it is expected the Supreme Court of the United States will render its decision on the Volstead act.

The Auburndale Congregational Church has sent to Governor Coolidge an appreciation of his veto of the 2.75 bill.

There has been but little of interest to Newton people the past week on Beacon Hill. The various matters acted upon were mostly routine in character.

Senate Ways and Means is still considering the maternity benefit bill and strong pressure has been brought to bear on the committee to report the original Spencer Bill instead of the pre-natal care bill submitted by the joint committees on Public Health and Social Welfare.

If this is done, it is fairly safe to say that there will be no legislation on maternity benefits this year, for the Spencer Bill calls for an indefinite amount of money, the author herself estimating it as at least a million dollars, and the Legislature would be almost crazy to pass such a bill at the present time. The pre-natal bill submitted by the joint committees is a step toward the maternity benefits aimed at in the Spencer Bill and is so drawn as to make an initial appropriation of two hundred thousand dollars for the first year's work, and it is expected that the data which can be secured during this year will give sufficient basis to determine whether or not it is advisable to extend the plan further.

There was an extended debate Wednesday afternoon in the House on the so-called "Narcotic" bill which seeks to place some check on the flood of injurious drugs which are being placed on sale in drug and grocery stores in the state. The House did not rise to the seriousness of the matter and after adopting most of the amendments killed the bill by a large majority.

The bill to prevent the pollution of the Charles River is now in the Senate with prospects that that body will make material changes in the text. The Roosevelt Club will give a complimentary dinner next Tuesday night at the American House to Attorney-General J. Weston Allen of this city and Speaker Joseph E. Warner. Governor Coolidge and other dignitaries will be present and it will be a notable affair. Any Newton persons interested can obtain tickets by making application to the club.

Supervisor of Administration Thomas W. White of this city was granted an increase of salary to $6,000 in the House yesterday after a warm debate in which Representative Young, the floor leader, paid a glowing tribute to Mr. White's sincerity, ability and courage.

The Middlesex County tax this year will be $1,019,469.84, an increase of over $57,000.

J. C. BRIMBLECOM.

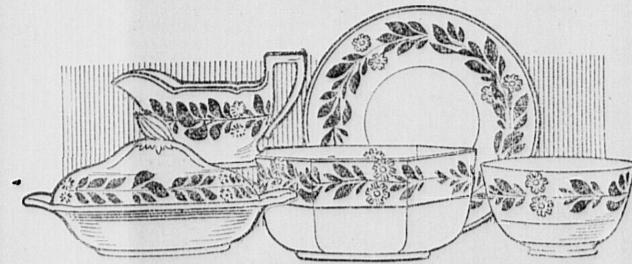

BASEBALL

On next Saturday, May 15th, at 3 P. M. the strong Saxony baseball team will clash on Allison Field with the Columbus club of Dorchester. The latter is a semi-professional team composed of ex-college and high school stars and should prove a worthy foe to the local champions. The Saxony team bids fair to repeat its success of last season. It has already won the first three games played and in two of these shut out the opposing teams.

The games arranged by the Saxony for the balance of the season are to be played with the strongest semi-pro teams in the state. No expense has been spared to put the diamond at Victory Field in perfect condition and in all probability the first game will be played on this field on May 31st.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S SPECIAL POLICY

When the male head of a family dies there are in reality three deaths: first, the death of the Husband, second, the death of the Father; third, the death of the Income. In 85 per cent of these cases the head of the family fails to establish even a permanent basis for an income. Hence 33 1-3 per cent of all widows are left without the necessities of life and 75 per cent without the comforts. A business woman, let us assume, is 27 years old. She wishes her policy to provide $100 per month and to pay $500 at her death, the total Premium would be $58.61 payable quarterly, or $114.92 payable semi-annually, or $229.84 annually, when she attains the age of 60 years, if the annual basis has been used she will have paid the sum of $7,295.31, then her monthly income starts. Assume that she lives until 70 years of age. She will receive $200 monthly income checks of $100 each or $2,000 paid at death, $500, total benefit, $2,500 compare this amount with Premium paid $7,295.31. Assume that at age of 37 years, or 10 years after purchasing this policy the business woman becomes totally and permanently disabled, the payment of premiums would cease, the monthly income would start. Assume further that she lives until age 64 years is attained, or 27 years. She will receive 318 monthly income checks of $100 each or $31,800.00, paid to beneficiary at death, $500.00, total benefit $32,300.00, total cost ten annual Premiums $2,210.70. The life income from a monthly income policy is as certain to be intact this thirtieth year as the first. Women, after you lived in luxurious homes, ridden in elegant automobiles, etc., at a little expense each year above your income you are sure one day to face the stern realization of discomforts and want unless you are provided for by a policy payable on the instalment plan.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

AT HEAD OF COLUMN

Twenty-five years' service as reviewed by the different presidents of the Newton Federation at the annual meeting last week disclosed much of interest both to the older members who had lived through those early years and also to those to whom it was merely a matter of history. Members of the Social Science Club were surprised to find out how large a part their club had played in bringing the Federation into being. It seems that Mrs. George G. Phipps of Newton
Highlands gave them a paper upon Work of Women's Clubs, which led to a discussion of possibilities for Newton with the result that shortly afterwards the Federation was organized. Many incidents of the early years revealed how the women were feeling their way along, but ever impelled by the one motive—to be of service to the community, or in the words of the constitution—"to be hospitable to all thought affecting the welfare of the city and the interests of humanity and to secure more thorough acquaintance, and in case of need, united action among the Women's Clubs of Newton.

All along the way has it been demonstrated over and over again that united action has brought the desired result, which one club acting alone could not possibly have done. Today, one has but to recall such recent events as the Thrift Exposition and the Rummage Sale of last fall to see how the women do respond to the call for united action.

Among the pleasant social events by means of which thorough acquaintance has been secured, the old custom of the annual reception was recalled, the luncheon given to Mrs. E. N. L. Walton, the first president of the Federation, that to Mrs.
Philip N. Moore, president of the General Federation, as well as the earlier reception to Mrs. Henrietta another president of that Federation.
One might go on indefinitely enumerating events in its history and all would only strengthen one's realization of the power of effective organization and of the fact that Newton would be the poorer should the Federation cease to be.

State Federation

An attractive program is arranged for the annual meeting of the Federation at Springfield next week. The convention opens on Tuesday evening at 7.30 with addresses of welcome from the Mayor, Arthur A. Adams, the president of the Chamber of Commerce, the pastor of the First Church, where the sessions are to be held, and by the president of the Springfield Women's Club, the hostess of the occasion, Mrs. W. W. McClench. The rest of the evening will be given up to the reports of officers and special committees. Wednesday will be a strictly business meeting with the election of officers. In the evening there will be an address by Bruno Rosselli, an officer in the Italian army, and the first exchange professor to come from Italy to this country. This will be followed by a reception tendered by the hostess club. Thursday forenoon completes the business and reports and the presentation of new officers.

The special train for the delegates from Eastern Massachusetts will leave the South Station, Boston, at 2.05, daylight saving time. Tickets should be secured from Mrs. W. E.
Rowe, 41 Marion street, Wollaston.

GARDEN NEWS

What thrills we are daily experiencing as we note that the seeds which we planted a short time ago are germinating and breaking through the surface of the ground! Cultivation should start in the garden as soon as the seedlings have come up sufficiently so that the rows can be seen. Cultivation should be frequent and thorough. The home gardener should stir the soil at least twice a week with a rake, hoe, or garden cultivator. One should aim to stir the soil after each rain. The ideal is blanket, or loose, dry soil upon the surface, commonly known as dust mulch. This dust mulch breaks up the capillary tubes and prevents the too rapid evaporation of the moisture in the soil. There probably will not be as much rain fall from now on as formerly. Therefore all good farmers and home gardeners will attempt to retain all the moisture as an important factor in successful gardening as is plant food. Weed seedlings also are killed by this frequent cultivation. They are eradicated very easily at this early stage of their growth. A week later and twice as much work will be necessary to accomplish the same result. Level cultivation should be practised on all crops with the possible exception of those grown upon wet, heavy soil.

Set Out Lettuce and Cabbage Plants

Lettuce and cabbage plants can be purchased at many of the seed stores and nearby commercial gardeners. It is well to put in a limited amount of them at the present time so as to furnish an early crop before the plants will that are growing in the garden from seed.

Transplanting

Many of the tomato plants and other plants being grown in the cold frame or seed box in the house are ready for transplanting. As soon as the third and fourth leaves make their appearance, transplanting should start. When transplanting, be careful not to disturb the root system. The small root hairs are very tender and should not be broken off any more than is necessary. A large amount of the dirt which adheres to the seedling should be taken up and moved with the plant. In order to have as much dirt adhere to the root system as possible the plants should be watered thoroughly a few hours before they are transplanted.

AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE

When the New England Telephone and Telegraph company opens its first central switching central office in Boston during 1921 at Harrison avenue, Essex and Oxford streets it will be known as "Liberty".

On the base of each telephone instrument connected with the new exchange there will be a dial with ten holes, one for each digit. In addition to the digits, eight of the dial holes will have three letters of the alphabet. These letters and numerals are necessary in order that the subscriber may "dial" the exchange name and number of the telephone desired.

The apparatus has been so arranged that it will be necessary to dial only the first three letters of the exchange name, which will be printed in full faced type in the subscriber's listings in the telephone directory.

There are more than 50 central offices in the Metropolitan division. In some instances these three letter codes will conflict if the present exchange names are continued. This unavoidable condition will make it necessary to change the present names of several central offices. Just what the new names will be has not been definitely determined by the telephone engineers who are now carefully studying this problem.

In some of the larger downtown central offices in Boston proper, where party lines are few in number, it will also be necessary to group the party lines together and assign new exchange names in addition to the existing central office names which will be retained for individual line service only. This will involve some new office names.

When the new mechanical exchange is opened all telephone numbers in the Metropolitan division of one, two or three digits will be preceded by three, two or one ciphers like this: NOR wood 0078, or MAL den 0042, or REV ere 0322-M. Four digits are necessary because the machine switching apparatus will not work properly unless all telephone numbers consist of four numerals.

The new exchange names and numbers and the change in the typographical appearance of the exchange names will probably appear in directories which will be delivered in greater Boston during the fall, in order that telephone users may become accustomed to the changes, although the method of making telephone calls will remain unchanged until the new office is opened in 1921.

The detailed method of making a telephone call from a subscriber's station connected with the new "Liberty" office to any office in the Metropolitan division is simple. Assume that John Smith, connected with the machine switching office, desires to make a call to John Doe in Roxbury, where the switchboard is manually operated. He will find the name listed in the directory in this way:

Doe, John, 782 Moody street, Roxbury 9264

After removing the receiver from the hook, Smith will place a finger in the one of the ten holes on the face of the dial containing the letter "R". He will revolve the dial until his finger strikes a little arm which prevents it from going further. Revolving the finger the dial will quickly revolve backward and stop. Smith will then revolve the dial from the letter "O", as far as the little arm, and once more from the letter "X". These letters will appear at different places on the dial.

After indicating the exchange desired, Smith will repeat the same process with the number "9264", revolving the dial for each numeral. If it should be a party line that is called another turn of the dial from the proper ring letter will call the person desired.

When a Roxbury subscriber desires to call a person connected with the "Liberty" office in Boston, he will give the name of the exchange and the number wanted to the Roxbury operator, who will establish the connection in the same manner as at present.

FORWARD STEP IN SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

At the annual convention of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association held in St. John's M. E. Church at Watertown on May 6th, a very decided step in advance was taken toward making permanent the fine work which the District is doing in training teachers through the Bible School at Plattsburg in the autumn, and in developing the spirit of the Christian Community through memorizing of hymns of the church by several thousand members of the various schools.

This consists in the decision to employ a part time secretary, both to aid in carrying out these plans, and to do such other work in the District as the schools may direct through the Executive Committee of the District Association. A similar plan has been in operation in the Fall River District for several years with great success.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are:—
President, Richard O. Walter of Auburndale; first Vice-President, G. L. Foster of Belmont; second Vice-President, Charles J. Olney of Waltham; third Vice-President, Rev. Newton A. Merritt, Jr., of Newton; Secretary, Miss Eleanor H. Stearns of Waltham; Treasurer, Bertrand M. Clarke of Waltham.

District Representatives as follows:—
Lester H. Hilton, for Auburndale; G. H. Cutler, for Belmont; C. V. Moore, for Newton; George H. Tracy, for Newtonville; W. M. Breed, for Newton Centre; A. P. Williams, for Newton Highlands; W. H. Williams, for Newton Lower Falls; James E. Tully, for Newton Upper Falls; E. Payson Upham, for Waban; Frank L. Barnes, for Waltham; W. A. Hall, for Waltham; Dr. B. T. Loring, for Watertown; Harry T. Barnes, for Waverly; A. L. Cutting, for Weston.

THE T. D. WHITNEY CO.

At the Annual Meeting of the T. D. Whitney Company, Mr. Hazard A. Dunning and Mr. Edward L. Hubbard, having purchased a stock interest in this corporation, were added to the Board of Directors.

The business of the T. D. Whitney Company has been greatly developed during the four years that the present owners have had charge of it; new departments being added and others having been enlarged. With the advent of these younger men, it is determined to still further increase its scope, while retaining its individuality as a specialty store.

NEWTON CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

There were practically no meetings held in the High School last week, and thus all attention was turned to the baseball team which has been limping along of late.

Saturday, May 1, Medford came to Newton and was beaten by the latter under Lyon's steady pitching arm, by a score of 8-3. There was nothing which marked the game as being first-class ball, but there were some fine plays and one or two hits which featured the game. Newton got the best of Medford in the first inning and put over four runs, before the rivals had a chance to wake up. Seavey and Lyon were the best players on the field and helped credibly to bring home two runs in the lucky seventh, which with two more in the ninth gave Newton a score of 8.

The big surprise came on Wednesday, May 5th, when Rindge won her contest with Newton by a margin of one run. Newton's tally was blank when the end of the game was reached. It seems to have been the same old story. Cowing, Newton's pitcher was poorly supported by his team mates and with a loose playing team, its hard work for him to pull out of the holes. He played the whole game and did some very fine pitching but when it came to the ninth inning, defeat stalked onto the field, for with three men on, and two outs, a Rindge man got home safely, Newton failing to convince the umpire that there ought to have been an out instead of a run. The last chance which Newton had to score was in the ninth also, when with three men on, and one out, either Bjorkman or Farrell could have helped to bring in a run. Both failed with pop flies, and the game slipped into Rindge's hands. The Cambridge team certainly has come very near putting the skids under the League leaders, but if any one had expected to see Newton beaten by them after their first contest, they would have appeared to be on the wrong side. However, the very thing happened, and in a very close game, to be sure.

The Sophomore Class held a meeting on Wednesday, May 5th, the first half hour, in the Assembly Hall. Different matters were discussed, mainly plans for the dance which is to be held soon in the Gym, under the direction of the Sophomore Class. Old clothes were the rage in school a while ago, but it seems rather evident by all appearances, that the khaki shirts and patched trousers as well as the outworn dresses were not as comfortable as they ought to have been. The result is that many are now back in "regulars." Possibly a few of the real earnest ones may continue to execute their promise of wearing old clothes until graduation, but they don't seem to be able to make the others believe them. The "regulars" motto certainly is, "they'll all fall sooner or later." Although overalls have not been very much in prominence, sweaters of all kinds, khaki shirts and trousers, sweat-shirts, and worn-out shoes have all been admirably displaced. Even some of the fair sex have come forth with sweat-shirts, khaki shirts, midly-blouses, and sweaters that before were unheard of and certainly beyond consideration. The hardest part of it is that everybody will not help to carry on this campaign, with the result that promoters lose heart and again appear in real good clothes.

of procedure was the same as at a national convention. Nominating speeches were made for Herbert Hoover, Leonard Wood and Hiram Johnson, by the various admirers, and a first ballot was immediately taken. No choice was then made, the result being 35 for Wood, 33 for Hoover and 7 for Johnson. In the second ballot, however, Wood polled 39 out of the 67 votes cast and was therefore elected; Hoover receiving 27 and Johnson's dwindling down to one.

Since the beginning of the term Fessenden has played two outside games; one with Allen Military Academy and the other with Browne and Nichols. In both games Fessenden held the lead for the first three or four innings but then weakened, losing both games because of this bad attack of over-confidence. In the second game, however, the team showed up essentially better than in the first and great things are hoped for and they expect to win future games.

The new building has progressed a good deal during the last month or two and the boys are beginning to take more interest. An organ fund has been started and last year's graduating class also presented the school with several furnishings so that Memorial Hall will surely be a beautiful building on the inside as well as the outside. It will be ready for occupation about the end of this term and Commencement will probably be held in the new schoolroom.

CENTENARY OF FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE'S BIRTH

The vast importance of the Red Cross through the civilized world created by its meritorious service in the recent wars and its socializing and equalizing powers as it binds nations together and strengthens the tie between the men on the battle field and the women at home, makes it difficult to realize that such an organization was unthought of less than a century ago. The conditions during the first of the Crimean War make one shudder. In the barrack-hospitals "the sick were tended by the sick and by the dying. Scarcely no provisions had been made for the wounded though out of the forty-five thousand men eighteen thousand were in hospitals. Then appeared the "lady with the lamp as Florence Nightingale was popularly known by the soldiers. Out of the chaos, in the year and a half that followed, an organized system of hospitals appeared while the deathrate dropped considerably.

Long before this courageous mission to Turkey, as a child, her favorite pastime was nursing her dolls. When very young she was well known about Derbyshire carrying her little basket of dainties as she went about with her mother or the rector visiting the sick. Later in recognition of her social position, she was presented at court but during her first London season she preferred studying hospitals and charitable institutions to the gay society life. After training at the famous Institute of Protestant Desconnettes at Kaisersworth on the Rhine and studying still further in Paris, she returned to London where she reorganized the Governesses Sanatorium in Harley Street. The dire reports of the need of medical aid in the Crimea seemed to this woman of mercy like a bugle call. By strange coincidence the letter offering her services crossed on from Sidney Herbert, secretary of war, asking her to take charge of a relief commission. The system of sanitation, the kitchens and provisions for entertainment of the men; such as talks, recreation rooms, and libraries sound very modern. Her definition of nursing is of interest as it sums up the ideals upon which her whole line of action was based. According to her it is the "proper use of fresh air, light, warmth, cleanliness, quiet and the selection and administration of diet—all at the least expense of the vital force to the patient." In the following books will be found many tales of her unceasing sympathy for the soldier, the men not as mere ciphers but as human beings needing tenderness and encouragement. Many a night after all was quiet she was in the habit of taking a lamp and going through the wards to smooth a pillow here and speak a word of hope somewhere else. To be sure the cost of the long strain was great as she was never strong afterward but when she retired to a quieter life of service, the deep gratitude of a whole nation was hers and she had inspired many with a wondrous vision of service.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Horace Mann Notes

An interesting campaign is being waged in this school on "personal appearance." Mirrors and posters have been hung up in the corridors. It is hoped by all that the posters and mirrors will influence the pupils to care more about their personal appearance. We do not mean "Fine feathers make fine birds" but simply "A good appearance helps make good people." The posters were all made by the Horace Mann teachers, and are very effective ones. We advise other schools to take this step also.

The first League game of the season which was to have been played on the afternoon of May 11th was postponed on account of rain.

A very interesting Reflectoscope lesson was given Wednesday, May 12th, 1920, by two eighth grade boys, Summer Harwood and Noble Griffin. The lesson was on "Silk" and "Linen." The pupils enjoyed it very much.

On account of her sister's illness Miss Doane, the fifth grade teacher, was called home Friday, May 7th. There has been much sickness in her home and this is the third time she has had to leave us.

Grade II, after working earnestly, has "gone over the top" in collecting money for the French Orphan, which our school adopted last year. "Snow White," the dramatization given by the Fourth Grade on May 7th before our whole school, was given again on May 10th for Mr. Wheeler, Mr. Carr, and Miss Bragg and the first and fourth grades of the Clafin school.

Some pupils of Grade VI planned a trip to the Peabody Museum, May 11. On the first floor of this Museum were many interesting Indian relics and statues, showing the way they dressed. While there the children visited the rest of the Museum where they saw relics from all parts of the world. Then they stopped awhile to see the grass flowers and stuffed animals in the Agassiz Museum.

Burr School

Several of the Eighth Grade pupils went with Miss Kingman to see Robert Mantell on Saturday in "The Merchant of Venice." The class have been reading this play in school and enjoyed it very much.

Miss Kelley's Seventh and Eighth grades are going to have a theatre party the last of this month.

Mrs. Spooner's class and Miss Kelley's class have been chosen to represent Abundant at the Field Day, May 27th.

The Seventh and Eighth grades are to have a debate on "Resolved that the Advantages of Professional Life are greater than those of Business Life." Miss Kingman's class has the affirmative and Miss Kelley's class the negative. The debate is a part of the vocational course of the school.

Clafin

Grade V, Room 1, is the only room in the building which has the honor of having no tardy marks on the last four weeks' report.

The Clafin-Stearn's game scheduled for Tuesday, May 11th, at Cabot Park was not played because of rain.

Many clever posters for Health work are being prepared by the lower grades.

The class of '20 have chosen their courses for High School work to be begun next year.

The Horace Mann and Clafin Schools are having a spelling contest, and 100 per cent. for every pupil in a class is a frequent occurrence in many grades.

Bigelow School

Thursday afternoon, May 13th at 2:30 o'clock a meeting of the parents was held in the School Hall to consider the matter of lunches for school children. Miss Mabel C. Bragg told what is being done in the Newton schools.

Miss McGill of the High School visited the Bigelow on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of interesting the different classes in the Marionette show to be given in the Classical High school on May 21st, in aid of the Mt. Holyoke College Drive.

The Roger Wolcott School

The Roger Wolcott School Field Day on Thursday was a tremendous success. Approximately forty dollars was realized which will be used to buy caps with the school "W" and baseball materials for the teams. The candy tables were splendidly decorated and beautifully covered by the fifth and sixth grades with Miss McCarthy in charge. The seventh grade boys and girls with Miss Emerson sold many gallons of ice cold lemonade. The eighth grade early closed up shop because of lack of money, pineapple ice cream and cake made by the girls of the cooking class.

On the diamonds, the midges played a fast game, both teams chosen from Roger Wolcott School boys. The School Girls' Nine easily defeated the Second Church Team from West Newton by an extremely wide margin. Harriet Bond captained the winning team and Hazel Capron captained the losing team. The game was a great success, and the school lost by a margin of two runs. This game was the second of a series with this team and the score reads one to one. The deciding game will be played this week.

The Roger Wolcott Baseball Team has entered the south side league with the Burr, Hyde, and Emerson. Nine games are to be played in this league.

Miss McCarthy, who has taught successfully for several years in the fifth and sixth grades, will not return next year. She has been very fortunate in finding an excellent teaching position in Norwood which is her home. Parents, teachers, and children unite in an expression of regret because of her leaving, but with the best wishes that she will be as successful and happy in her new work as in Waban.

The milk lunches are proving a great success and gaining in popularity every day. Mrs. Forbes has a picked corps of deliverers and waitresses so that but a few minutes are necessary for the serving of them.

Wednesday morning the upper grades listened to an excellent presentation of the advantages and disadvantages of being an insurance agent, given by Mr. Stratton, a general agent of the Equitable Life. This work is being done in connection with the vocational guidance classes of Mrs. Colton.

Lasell

Saturday a large and enthusiastic group of students in the Secretarial Course attended the Chandler School Convention in Boston.

On Saturday night the Senior Class entertained the Juniors at a "Children's Party" in the Gymnasium in Bragdon Hall. Moving Pictures was the feature of the evening.

Rev. Brewer Eddy of the American Board gave a most inspiring message on the Interchurch Movement at the Vesper Service Sunday night.

The Home Economics classes were conducted by their instructors Monday through a number of the best known markets in Boston.

Monday the annual excursion to Plymouth was made. This year the trip was more interesting than usual as it was made by automobile, giving the girls from a distance an opportunity to visit historic places en route to Plymouth and also to "take in" the famous Jerusalem Road. The children of the Junior Department at Woodland Park Hall also enjoyed the same trip on Saturday.

Friday night Dr. and Mrs. Winslow will entertain the members of the graduating class in their home.

Stearns

The seventh in the series of industrial trips planned by the eighth grade this year was enjoyed Friday afternoon. The initial visit to the Plant Shoe factories in Roxbury was thoroughly appreciated by every member of the class. The class members felt that the valuable privilege accorded them was exceptional and were unanimous in thanking the Plant people. The rush of business with other conditions heretofore have repulsed any demand from outside groups securing permission to inspect the plant. Thoroughly informed guides showed the class through the different buildings explaining intricate processes. The Goodyear welt stitched shoe was contrasted to the McKay. The most modern processes of attaching heels, counters, boxes and vamps were observed and explained. A machine room with 400 machines was a novelty which amazed all.

Discussion in class brought out numerous interesting observations. Naturally some of the boys were surprised to find the messenger boys through the plant equipped with roller skates, for speed and general efficiency. The trip was decided by the class to be one of the most interesting of the year.

The next trip is planned to the Stanley Motor Co. for May 22nd.

The school baseball team opened the season Wednesday afternoon on the Stearns grounds. Its opponent was the strong Parochial School team from Newtonville. The team is very young but has considerable baseball sense.

The Boys' Club is preparing for an important meeting Thursday evening. Plans for the banquet will be perfected.

The Mothers' Club were entertained Monday evening by members of the "Powerful Cooks," a home economics club. Mr. Robert Trask, Middlesex County leader, judged loaves of bread brought in by the members. Mary Bennett was awarded first prize, Ina Hanson second, and Mary Garafalo third. Prizes were awarded by Mrs. Waterhouse.

Mr. Trask showed moving pictures of the work carried on at Amherst, and the production of rubber used in making "Good Luck" jar rubbers.

Mary Bennett, Mary Boudrot and Gladys Quinan demonstrated the making of bread.

All the girls received a club pin.

Members of the Girls Club held a dancing party in the Stearns School Hall, Tuesday evening. About fifty couples were present. The hall was attractively decorated in pink and white.

NEWTON TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The freshman girls, who sit in Room 306, have contributed money during the year and have now presented the room with the picture "The Castle of Chillon."

"Tommy's Wife," the tenth annual play, which was given in the Assembly Hall, April 29, 30 and May 1, was one of the most successful entertainments in the history of our school.

Judging from the large audiences and the enthusiastic applause from start to finish, the cast and those assisting in the presentation of the play, are justified in feeling tremendously proud and well pleased. One of the hits of this charming farce, furnishing keen amusement, was the part which Mr. Thurber wrote, starring James Coleman and his talented young "sister," Veronica Maguire.

Another general favorite was Raymond Haislein who very cleverly impersonated a love-stricken, exceedingly melodramatic Frenchman. His gestures and very broken English delighted the audience, and his make-up could not have been improved upon. Manley Kiley in the title role, was especially admired because of his naturalness—his utter self-abandon, which, in a part like this, was difficult to maintain.

The way the play was executed in general was praised unstintingly, and generous congratulation is extended to the participants and the coach whose untiring efforts made the play the great success it was.

Congratulations are also due all the teachers, who so generously donated, and particularly the Fine Arts Department. Though the itemized financial report has not yet been published, it is understood on good authority that the net proceeds will be about $540.

During last year and part of this year Inez Cormack has been accompanist for the orchestra. Since she has left us and gone to work her place has been filled by a very capable substitute, namely, Francis Sheehan of the Junior Class.

On May 7th, a debate took place in the N. T. H. S. Hall on the question, "Was Washington Greater than Lincoln." The affirmative side was supported by Archibald MacGregor, John Perkins, and Edwin O'Halloran. Supporters of the negative side were Frank Quinn, James Howley, and Thomas Joyce. The debaters proved their ability as speakers not only by quick thinking, but also by the straightforwardness of their talk. It was decided at the close of the debate that the negative side had won by a very small margin. It has been decided by the faculty to carry on a number of debates between teams chosen from classes of the school.

SMILE

"There is no room for sadness when we see a cheery smile; It always has the same good look— It's never out of style. It naves us on to try again when failure makes us blue; The dimples of encouragement are good for me and you. It pays a higher interest, for it is merely lent— It's worth a million dollars and it doesn't cost a cent."

DEATH OF MR. WHEELER

Mr. Edward Slade Wheeler of 585 Centre street, Newton, who died at the Newton Hospital on Wednesday, was born in Boston, Sept. 14, 1862. After finishing his education he entered business with the firm of Vinal Pope & Co. on High street, Boston, shoe goods and leather merchants, and was with this house until their dissolution. Mr. Wheeler was injured in the well remembered Wolcott disaster of many years ago and never fully recovered from the effects of that accident. He had been in invalid and a great sufferer for more than 15 years, and had retired from active business many years ago. Aldermen Almost Unanimous on the Matter. License Fees Increased

An element of comedy was injected into the meeting of the aldermen Monday evening at a hearing on petition of J. V. Monaghan's Sons to move their gasoline filling station across the street from its present location corner of Washington and Auburn streets. Mrs. James J. Deffely strenuously opposed the petition although it was evident from what portions of her remarks which were distinct enough to be heard, that the real trouble was caused from people wanting gas coming to her house instead of to the Monaghan's, and she said that after twelve o'clock tomorrow she had taken legal steps to prevent trespass upon her property. She was followed by Mr. Deffely, who repeated what his wife had said, and then Mr. and Mrs. Deffely, side by side, told the same story a third time as a det.

After Alderman Blake had explained the existing situation in regard to the proposed widening of Walnut street, both north and south of the bridge in Newtonville, Messrs. Horace W. Orr, Adams D. Claffin and Charles F. Avery were heard.

At the hearing on a sidewalk on Wolcott street, Mr. E. G. Chamberlain filed a written protest.

Alderman Rogers, who is enjoying a brief vacation was the only member absent from the meeting.

Mayor Childs sent in a recommendation that $22,389.95 be appropriated for the improvement of South Meadow and Paul Brooks and it was granted, $30,000 in sewer bonds be authorized to meet this expense.

The mayor also recommended $7000 additional for Dudley road, and $3000 additional for Parker street, to enable the streets to have a six inch surface instead of four inches. He also favored $650 for a new automobile chassis for the Health Dept., repeated his former request that the foreman of the Forestry Dept. be paid $1800, invited the aldermen to serve on his staff Memorial Day, and sent in the suggestion of Chairman E. E. Kent of the School committee, that it might be advisable to have a public hearing on the need of increased school accommodation. On the last matter, Alderman Whidden had the board order a hearing on June 7 in regard to the advisability of establishing junior high schools in this city.

Petitions of Amato Pescosolido, John Segerson, and Henry H. Read for auctioneer licenses, the Edison Co. for attachments, of J. R. Mumford, the Silver Lake Garage for a 2nd class license to sell automobiles, of Rev. J. Edgar Park for permission for several children to take part in a church entertainment, of J. P. Gay for Soldiers' Relief and of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Lowell avenue and for a relocation on Dudley road were granted. Other petitions were received for sewer in Carlton road, for laying out of Acaia avenue, for laying out of Hood and Rogers streets, for sewer in Mill street, from M. J. Geagan for a taxi cab license, from Antonio Magni, Murphy court, Frank C. Cross, Underwood avenue for private garage permits, from the Gas Co. to open certain streets for gas mains, and from citizens of Newton Centre objecting to heavy traffic on Beacon street.

On recommendation of committees, hearings were assigned on the laying out of Algonquin road, laying out of Washburn avenue, with building lines on both streets, on rounding corner of Jefferson street and new boulevard, on widening of Maple street, and on a sidewalk on Playstead road. Leave to withdraw was granted on petitions

Every Tire Is Signed

Two men sign every Miller Tire—the maker and the inspector. Both are penalized if a tire comes back.

Under this method, defects have become extremely rare. Not a tire came back for adjustment to many Miller dealers last year.

Over 1,000 tires yearly are worn out in Miller factory tests.

All the best rival tires are constantly compared with the Miller, with these results:

Millers now excel all rivals, both in average and in uniform mileage.

Miller treads outwear rival treads by 25 per cent on the average.

Miller Cords average 15,000 miles—Miller Fabrics from 8,000 to 9,000 miles—in rear-wheel tests under extreme conditions.

You will gain a new idea of modern tires when you test a new-type Miller. Get one now and watch it. The super-service of the Miller Tire is now everywhere discussed.

MR. IRWIN RETIRES

As Boy Scout Commissioner for Norumbega District

Mr. James C. Irwin, who retires June 1st as the Scout Commissioner of Norumbega District of Boy Scouts, was the guest of honor Tuesday evening at the Newton Club at a dinner given by the Council of the district.

Mr. James A. Stafford, president of the Council acted as toastmaster and after substantial repast had been served in his usually efficient manner by Steward Piper, introduced the speakers.

Mayor Childs paid a glowing tribute to the fine work done by Mr. Irwin, saying that he had done the best work for scouting in the city, because he had put himself into the work. He believed Mr. Irwin would be poorer in money, but far richer in those things which money cannot buy. The Mayor told of some of his own experiences in work among the boys, in a most interesting and personal way.

He believed that the boy who had the nerve to go bad had the nerve to go right, if headed in that direction. The strength of a city he said was not in its wealth, its industry or its education, but in the character of its citizens and the Boy Scout work in building character cannot be overestimated.

Past President John H. Eddy made a neat speech in presenting Mr. Irwin with a fine double barreled shotgun as the gift of the Council, to which Mr. Irwin responded in a happy vein. He spoke of the heart co-operation he had had in his work and wished that it might be extended into all parts of the city. He urged the scoutmasters to turn the wealth of energy in these boys into right ways.

Charles L. Pearson, who wore her grandmother's wedding gown of pale yellow silk with a wonderful Duchess lace collar, and old-fashioned pearls. Mrs. Mary W. Mrs. Sidney Porter, a light checked silk. Mrs. George A. Salmon, a gown of grey silk with a green and black plaid. Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, a figured silk gown. Miss Dorothy Drake, a wedding gown of brown brocaded satin. Miss Clara J. Coburn, a brocaded silk gown. Hair was piled high on the head and Later in the evening Mr. Irwin was again surprised by a gift from Mr. Irwin of a gold wrist watch. Mr. Eddy in making the presentation saying that Mrs. Irwin was as good a scout as any one present.

At the business meeting which followed, Mr. John Benbow was elected Scout Commissioner in place of Mr. Irwin and Mr. Irwin was made an Honorary Scout Commissioner.

In his usual report to the Council, Mr. Irwin stated that there were 434 scouts in the organization with 30 officers, a gain of 6 per cent. over last winter. The spring rally will be on Saturday, May 22nd on Claffin Field with the usual marching and sporting events. The Scouts will also parade with the Grand Army on Memorial Day and will have an evening campfire on Cabot Park after the parade.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL

To Be Held at Eliot Church Next Sunday by Norumbega District

Plans are complete for the Second Annual Musical Festival of Memory Hymns of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association, which will be held in the Eliot Congregational Church in Newton next Sunday afternoon, May 23rd.

Last year was the first time that this idea was carried out, of learning a selected list of hymns in the various schools, and then meeting in the largest auditorium in the District to sing these hymns. Over 1000 were present at that First Musical Festival. About 1400 are expected this year.

Doors are open to the schools at 3.30 P. M. and to the public at 4 P. M. At which time, all people, regardless of connection with any Sunday School will be welcome to the limit of the capacity of the church.

One of the interesting features will be a chorus of the Junior Choirs of several of the Sunday Schools united to sing an anthem which they have learned in the various schools.

NEW BANK BUILDING

Newton Trust Company Opens New Quarters in Newtonville This Afternoon

The new bank building to be used as the Newtonville office of the Newton Trust Company is completed and is being informally inspected by a large number of invited guests this afternoon.

It is located on the corner of Walnut and Austin streets with the main entrance from Walnut street. This latest addition to the banking establishment is an impressive and substantial structure in granite, brick and limestone and it gives one, if he is by chance a depositor, the pleasing feeling which accompanies the knowledge that his funds or securities are well guarded and properly cared for in this structure which presents the very latest type of banking construction.

The building is constructed in an absolutely first class manner and has the very latest types of protective devices against all emergencies.

Glancing at the exterior of the building, one notes the pleasing facade in brick and Indiana limestone. The large arched windows indicate a spacious and airy banking room with the two stories in the rear for working quarters, etc.

One enters the building through a large vestibule, paneled in mahogany into the public space which is devoted to the quick and efficient transaction of the depositors' business.

This main banking room is finished with marble floors, mahogany counter and interscreen with heavy iron grilles protecting the various cages and working departments located in this room.

Depositors are given a feeling of confidence, knowing that this building is being erected for their interests and for the protection of their property and that it is designed to meet all the requirements of a banking institution with the necessary private offices, officers' space, cage, vaults, coupon booths, consultation rooms, ladies' rooms, etc.

This public space is provided with check desks, etc. for the convenience of the general public who do not require the use of safe deposit department or any of the private offices provided for their use.

This public space, together with the other departments of the bank, is of the very latest type and built in accordance with the most approved methods for transacting business as easily and expeditiously as possible and at the same time giving the funds of the depositors and the records of the bank the maximum amount of protection.

The various materials in which this main banking room is finished, together with the delicate tones of the plaster walls and mahogany woodwork, the hangings and shades at the windows, all give a harmonious and pleasing effect to the whole interior. The delicate tones of the plaster walls produce an excellent background for the mahogany fittings and furniture.

The heavily beamed and paneled ceiling will be artistically lighted with the latest and most modern type of electric fixtures, providing at such hours as the bank is open and when daylight is not available, an ample amount of light for all purposes of the bank.

On the left of the public space, as one enters, will be located a private office for the private transaction of business with the officers of the bank.

Just beyond this will be the officers' space, separated from the public space by a low counter, giving the officers the necessary seclusion for the proper transaction of business and yet making them easily available to any person entering who desires to see them and whom they are there to serve.

On the right of the main entrance will be located a ladies' room for the personal use of the lady depositors.

Beyond this will be the cages of the commercial department.

At the rear of the main banking room one passes through a heavy iron grille into the safe deposit lobby which serves as a main point of communication between the safe deposit department and the security vault, coupon booths, consultation rooms, etc. which are provided for the exclusive use of the customers of the safe deposit vaults.

These modern safe deposit vaults and security vaults are protected by the latest appliances for the security of valuables against any emergency.

This vault is built up in massive concrete, walls, floors and roof heavily reinforced with steel and railroad iron and in addition protected with a network of fine electric wires, a part of the Bankers' system, which, if touched in any way, will give an immediate alarm.

The vault will be equipped with a large number of safe deposit boxes of various sizes for the storage of valuables and documents.

SUNDAY SPORTS ACCEPTED

for improvement of Claffin place, and on petition for W. E. Halliday for a 4-stall garage on Broadway. Side-walks were ordered laid on Wolcott street and on Windermere road. 118.80 voted to pay 1919 taxes on land purchased by city on Elliot street, the Edison Co. granted a conduit in Wesley street, and the ownership of poles now on Austin street and these licenses granted. Max Carter, junk. L. W. Corliss, to sell gasoline. 274 Pearl street Herbert Swanson, to sell 1500 gallons gasoline Beacon street. G. W. Munroe, private garage, Floral street. G. J. and J. F. Dunn, auto truck. H. L. Generoux, taxi cab license, and Central Express Co., auto truck.

There was quite a discussion over the leave to withdraw majority report of the license committee on petition of the Middlesex Stations Trust to locate a gas filling station on Beacon street, near Walnut street. The committee report was defended by Aldermen Hollis, Cook and Blake and opposed by Aldermen Carter and Nichols and the committee was defeated by a vote of 9 to 10. A motion to recommit was also lost by a vote of 8 to 11 and the permit granted on a voice vote.

Alderman Forknall held forth at length on the acceptance of the Sunday Sports act, which had been held over from the previous meeting on a charter objection which he had made. He did get a second on his motion to postpone until after the next city election but it was defeated by a voice vote. Mr. Forknall told the board that there was a bar room in full swing in Nonantum and he did not think this helped the boys. He fore-saw that most of the boys wouldn't get an opportunity to use the playground on Sunday. He also stated that this legislation was passed because several Newton men had been fined for playing golf on Sunday. Remarks were also made by Aldermen Carter, Blake and Cook and the order passed by a vote of 18 to 2. Aldermen Forknall and Madden voting in the negative. Alderman Phipps created a smile when he immediately moved a reconsideration of the vote, hoping it would not prevail, and the vote was not reconsidered.

An order was passed increasing the license fees for billiard tables, pool tables, bowling alleys and intelligence offices to $3. and junk licenses to $15. The board also favored legislation authorizing the city to beautify portions of the Cochituate aqueduct.

"HOW THE STORY GREW"

"How the Story Grew" is the name of a delightful satire in humorous vein given by the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Messiah last Friday night in which the unfortunate and ludicrous results of gossip were vividly portrayed.

The first scenes were laid in New England kitchens, those genial gathering places of social life, where Mrs. Brown, the victim of the gossip, tells Mrs. Greene of the neighbors who have moved in "opposite the Smiths". She says that they might have moved in the night, because when she went over to offer her services, the curtains were down and she was unable to learn anything about them.

From this simple basis, the story grew to enormous proportions, each hearer adding and embellishing the tale until, at the last, Mrs. Brown is reported dead having been set upon by gypsies from the neighboring house. Where, according to one of the narrators, the children of the leading families were kidnapped and hidden in the cellar.

The setting of the New England kitchen with its old fashioned clock, its pressed flowers under glass, its table and chairs, even the bird in the window, made a very realistic background. The costumes, too, were most effective. The bonnet bought at "Woolworth's" was a "dream", and the dresses with their full sleeves fearfully and wonderfully made.

The actors told their versions of the tale, each in a way more realistic than the last, said tale growing more and more wonderful each time, until the climax was reached when Mrs. Brown suddenly appears in the little sitting room where her friends are discussing the possibility of her funeral.

Those taking part in the play were Mrs. William Alcorn, Mrs. Harry Preston, Mrs. Herbert Budding, Mrs. Thomas Brown, Miss Susan G. Fogwill, Mrs. William Theiling, Mrs. George Levery, Mrs. William Coulson.

Following the play there were several musical numbers including a piano solo by Mr. Raymond Sykes, a tenor solo by Mr. Bertrand Taylor, solos by Mr. Ralph Keyes, and by Mr. Fred Randall. The Misses Gertrude and Gladys Harley gave some charming dances assisted by Miss Phyllis William. Master John W. Hiebeck also gave several violin selections.

Owing to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Harry Preston, chairman, a snug sum of money was netted for the benefit of the Woman's Guild.

CENTRAL SQUARE THEATRE—In "The Heart of a Child" a special production adapted from Frank Danby's novel of the same name, Nazimova comes to the screen of Gordon's Cambridge Central Square Theatre Monday Tuesday and Wednesday in a role that is different from any of the wide variety of characters she has portrayed so marvelously in previous triumphs. There will also be five all-star vaudeville acts including Sebastian and Ryan in "Confetti"; Gray and Byron in a comedy sketch entitled "A Girl in Weigh"; Orr and Hager in a flirtation act; Hazel Edwards in impersonations; and Jesting Joe Jackson.

AN EVENING WITH THE OLD MASTERS

An interesting and somewhat unusual entertainment was given at the Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton, on Wednesday evening.

Copies of famous paintings, made by the skilful grouping of living models behind frames, were displayed in turn, each picture or group of pictures being preceded by quaint, old-fashioned music of a character to correspond. Brief explanations of the paintings and musical selections were also given.

Those who represented paintings were: Miss Barbara Fuller, Miss Doris Moore, Dr. L. H. Naylor, Mr. J. W. Blaisdell, Miss Dorothy Moore, Miss Elizabeth Eden, Mr. Harold Seacord, Mrs. H. F. Hunter, Mr. Grasse Guitan, Miss Eleanor Clark, Miss Elizabeth Chase, Miss Madeline Somerby, Miss Barbara West, Mrs. D. W. Anders, Mrs. H. C. Merritt, Mrs. C. H. Cotton.

Special attention should be given to Dr. Naylor's presentation of the "Durer Portrait" and that of Mrs. Hunter as "Isabella Brandt." Mr. Grasse Guitan, as the "Lute Player," gave a splendid reproduction of the "Franz Hals picture" and Miss Elizabeth Chase was most excellent as Romney's "Mrs. Robinson." Perhaps the picture which showed greatest fidelity to the original was Mrs. Merritt's impersonation of Mme. Leburn's well known "Portrait of Herself." It was true in every detail and most delightful to look upon.

The musical program, containing some unique numbers gave much pleasure. We can only mention here Mrs. Farrand's playing of the Gluck "Garoite," Miss Bowditch's delightful rendering of the familiar "Träumerei," and the Hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," sung by Mrs. Merrill, which, with the last picture on the program, made a beautiful ending to an evening full of information.

Those who contributed to the musical program were: Mrs. H. A. Farrand, Miss Ruth Bowditch and Mrs. G. E. Merrill.

YOUNG—JACKSON

Miss Mabel Louise Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Harriet Gay Jackson of Winthrop, and granddaughter of Mrs. A. A. Hammond-Sanderson of Weston, was married at noon Saturday in the Fuller Memorial Chapel of the Second Church in West Newton, to Howard P. Young, son of Mrs. Lillian Frances Young and the late William Ellsworth Young of West Newton. The ceremony, which was marked by simplicity, was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. Edgar Park, and the double ring service was used. Miss Jackson was given in marriage by her mother. Her bridal gown was of embroidered net and ivory satin and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies and orchids. Her bridal veil of hand-made Brittany lace was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and it formed an interesting part of her costume, as it was procured by the bridegroom when he was serving abroad with the American Expeditionary Forces. Over it was worn another long veil of tulle, fastened with sprays of white lilies. The bride's attendants were a cousin, Miss Gertrude Podmore of Winthrop, and Miss Dorothy Young of West Newton, a sister of the bridegroom. They were dressed in blue and gray taffeta and wore hats to match. Both carried pink sweet peas. Mr. Young's attendant best man was Edward A. Mason, of Winthrop, a comrade who was in service with him overseas. Milton Young, a brother, and Frederick Witton, Jr., of Boston, served as ushers. Following the ceremony at the chapel, an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Hammond-Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Young, after a short wedding journey, will reside at 79 Cliff avenue, Winthrop Highlands, where they will be "at home" after Oct. 1.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—That startling play, which makes the spectator sit on the edge of his seat throughout the performance, entitled "The Outlaw Board" comes to the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, for a brief visit beginning Monday, May 24, direct from its New York run. "The Outlaw Board" is recognized as the first and greatest play of the decade dealing in a practical and dramatic manner with the world-wide topic of spiritism and is said to answer the question and the arguments asked and advanced by Sir Oliver Lodge as to whether the dead can speak with the living. Everyone is interested in this vital subject. So great has been the sensation aroused by "The Outlaw Board" play that it is the intention to send it all over the world, going to London, Paris and other foreign cities immediately following its presentation in Boston.

HEAVY TOURIST TRAVEL

Alaska and Pacific Coast

Judging from the present inquiries, there will be unusually heavy travel through the Canadian Rockies, Pacific Coast and Alaska.

There is no trip in the world so unusual, so interesting, so intensely worth while, as that to Alaska and the Atlin Country. Here in this northland, nature has risen to its supreme efforts, and with a lavish hand strewn here gifts as nowhere else.

The beauties of the Alps with their glaciers are more than equaled in our own Rainier National Park, and also in the Canadian Rocky Mountains. The fjords of Norway are reproduced in Alaska, but with the added charm of the great glaciers and the picturesque icebergs to which they give birth.

The Colpitts-Beekman Tourist Co., 333 Washington street, Boston, Mass., are arranging for small party leaving June 28th, including all expenses. The company is also arranging other attractive tours through the Canadian Rockies to the Pacific Coast, including California, Grand Canyon.

Prospective tourists should secure booklet of these tours, giving full particulars.

SHUBERT THEATRE—"I'll Say She Does," the new musical comedy which began its engagement at the Shubert Theatre last week has secured an emphatic hit and promises to lead all its competitors in the race for popularity on Boston stages. It is just the sort of an entertainment for the Spring months and is playing to full houses of enthusiastic audiences that recognize the best the theatre has to offer. "I'll Say She Does" was written by Avery Hopwood, who gave us that smashing success, "Fair and Warmer," as well as other entertainments of a lively character. This is Hopwood's first musical play in recent seasons and it is destined to become one of the foremost "hits" when it reaches New York. The lyrics and music were supplied by B. G. De Sylva, who has furnished many laughable songs, of which, "It's Naughty But It's Nice" is perhaps the best. The airs are the sort one hums upon leaving the theatre and which linger in the memory long after a visit to the playhouse.

Junior High Schools

An enthusiastic meeting was held under the auspices of the Newton Upper Falls Women's Club on last Monday evening at the Auditorium to consider the question of Junior High School. Mr. Frank W. Wright, Deputy Commissioner of the Massachusetts State Board of Education was the speaker of the evening. Following his address there was discussion from the floor, during which Superintendent Wheeler of the Newton Schools addressed the meeting. He was followed by Mr. Kent, chairman of the School Board, who told some interesting facts concerning plans being made for the introduction of Junior High Schools in various parts of Newton. Mr. Ernest Cobb gave an interesting account of his observations during a recent visit in Somerville where the Junior High School plan is already in operation. Among those who spoke from the floor were Miss Bragg, Supervisor of Primary work, Mr. Murray of the School Department, Mr. Hicks of the School Board and Mrs. Leeds, representing the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. NEW BANK BUILDING

cial steel grilles for the needs of the bank itself.

This vault equipment will be thoroughly modern in all respects, and equal to any vault or safe deposit department in any of the most modern banks in the larger cities.

On the left of the security vault are provided coupon booths and shelves for the use of those people who may desire to transact business without leaving the bank.

Some of these booths are quite large and may be used for consultation rooms for trustees, committees or other groups requiring more space than an individual would need.

At the right of the vault is a working space for the bookkeepers and clerks of the bank.

Opening from this space will be a large book vault for the storage of the bank's records.

A stairway runs from the safe deposit department to the basement where are provided storage vaults for the rugs, silver and other equipment for which safe deposit boxes are not available.

The heating apparatus is also located in this portion of the building.

On the second floor will be located a rest room for the women clerks with toilet, hot and cold water, etc., and a large additional working space, from which one may view the main banking room from a little balcony over the vault.

This new building is of fireproof construction, the foundation, floors, etc. being of solid concrete with walls of stone, brick, terra cotta, etc., thereby making a structure which is as near fireproof as human ingenuity has yet devised and one in which, with the various devices against burglar attack, mob attack, etc., any person may feel that his documents, securities, etc. are as secure and safe as possible.

The general contract for the work has been carried out by the General Building Company of which Mr. H. Newton Marshall of Newtonville, is the official head.

They have carried out the work in strict accordance with the plans and specifications of Thomas D. James.

The main safe deposit vault, protected by several inches of hardened drill proof steel, is controlled by time locks which prevent any one from opening the door after it is closed at night until the opening hour in the morning.

Inner doors also of hardened steel give very great additional protection. The Bankers' system of Electric Protection is so complete and delicately adjusted that it is impossible to open any of the vault doors after closing time without setting off the burglar alarm on the outside of the building.

MAY PARTY AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

The May Party at the First Unitarian Church West Newton last Saturday was a great success.

The crowning of May Queen was a simple and attractive ceremony. The pages were Laurence Carpenter, who carried the crown, and Andrew Hutchinson who crowned the Queen, Jean Bachrach.

Little Jean Bachrach also had a very pretty dance around the Maypole.

As an interlude between the dances, Mrs. Louise S. Eaton of Worcester gave the following monologues, "The Little Red Hen," "The Sugar Plum Tree," "The Tin GoGo," "Willie," "A Bear Story" and others.

The Dance of the Elves which followed was most effective, each little elf being dressed in a dark brown suit. At the close of the dance, the elves sang "The Little Elfman Song."

Those taking part were: Jean Bachrach, Jean Fisher, Jean Macomber, George N. Lauriat, Priscilla Ballou, Molly Temple, Lucy Ogden, Ned Ogden, Edward Harrington, Laurence Carpenter, Andrew Hutchinson, Barbara Webster, Richard Ford, Roger Carpenter, Charles Brown, Betty De Bard, Stuart De Bard, Betty Rogers, Dorothy Best, Earle Cummings, Betty Cotter, and Elizabeth Kershaw.

A Copious Fall. There are parts of the Midlands where an unrelieved drought has now been endured for two years and nine months, while in other happier spots some showers at odd intervals have been just sufficient to enable farmers to keep their heads above water.—Rand Daily Mail.

EDITORIAL

In considering the subject of Junior High Schools in this city, we trust the parents of the children will be consulted and that proper attention will be given the element of danger in travelling to and from such schools, as well as the matter of suitable lunches.

The number of junior high schools, of course must be limited in a city like Newton and each school will have to serve more than one village. This means that the children from the adjoining villages must use some means of transportation in going to school, and which in the case of children of ten or eleven years of age, will be a source of danger in the present traffic conditions in this city. The matter of lunches is also a serious problem with parents and the establishment of junior high schools means the bringing in of five hour sessions for a rather youthful class of children, generally too young to appreciate all the elements which enter into their physical well being. Cold lunches from home, eaten in a hasty manner, in order to get a few moments of recreation are not conducive to good digestion and even where lunches would be purchased, the parents do not have that oversight which they undoubtedly desire.

The city ought not to jump into the junior high school movement without the most careful consideration of every side of the question.

The recognition of the splendid services to the community rendered the past four years by Boy Scout Commissioner James C. Irwin is fittingly expressed by Father Haney's characterization of Mr. Irwin as an "American Christian gentleman." There can be no higher encomium than this.

Newton is falling down badly on its subscriptions to the Salvation Army Fund, only 30 per cent. of its quota having been subscribed at the present time. When we recall the splendid work done by this organization during the war we should not allow this city to fall behind in sustaining it now. "Lest we forget."

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Plans are now being made to procure the Legislature about Saturday, May 28, but with the congestion of important matters in the Senate Committee on Ways and Means there is more than a chance that the session will run over into the first week of June.

The House is finishing its calendar every day and is ready and anxious to tackle some of the big questions which are stalled in the Senate.

Yesterday the House made a new record with four roll calls in thirty-five minutes, all of them emergency preambles for which the I. & R. is responsible.

The Senate acted on the Governor's veto of the 275 bill this week, sustaining the veto by a substantial margin. The measure will now go on the ballot next November, provided those behind it obtain a few thousand more signatures.

Waban residents will be pleased to learn that thru the courtesy of Speaker Warner, a bill was allowed to go in this week to authorize the city of Newton to spend money to improve the reservation on Waban avenue of the Cochituate aqueduct. The bill is passing thru its legislative stages in a rapid manner and will soon become a law.

The Supreme Court has rendered an opinion that the bill to allow cities and towns to establish zones, restricting building is constitutional. This bill was introduced on petition of Mayor Childs and City Solicitor Bartlett had a large share in framing its provisions. With this decision behind it, the bill will probably pass.

DEATH OF MRS. EAGER

Mrs. John P. Eager one of the oldest residents of West Newton, passed quietly away on Sunday, May 16, at her home on Otis street, where she has spent the past sixty years of her life. Her maiden name was Ann Eliza Withington. She was born in Boston, Jan. 1, 1829, and made her home there until after her marriage. On Oct. 28, 1851, she married Mr. John Perry Eager and in 1850 they built a home on Otis street, West Newton next to that of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Increase Sumner Withington. They moved into their new house, 292 Otis street, in 1861, and have made their home there ever since. She is survived by her husband, who is 94 years of age, three daughters, Elizabeth Ann, and Ruth Eager, and two sons, Edward N. Eager living in California, and Sumner W. Eager, West Newton. Mrs. Eager was a member of the Congregational Church. She was not connected with many organizations, but led a very quiet and beautiful life in her own home with her family.

Services were held Thursday, at 10.30, Rev. J. Edgar Park, officiating, and the burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Several pupils of the 8th grade recently presented a play written by Dorothy Denton, one of their members. Willard Pierce of the 8th grade was severely injured in playing a practice game of baseball. He is at the Newton Hospital. The members of his class sent him an attractive "sunshine" basket.

Two teams from Mrs. Blakemore's 7th grade held a debate on the subject following: Resolved that the motor-man of an electric car has a greater responsibility and renders a greater service to humanity than the engineer of a train. The negative side, led by Mildred MacDonald, won.

"Knick Knacks" a magazine written by Mrs. Blakemore's class, was completed this week. The debate between the two 6th grades, "Resolved that the Greeks did more for civilization than the Romans," resulted in a victory for Miss Jewett's room. Three 8th grade boys proved themselves to be very efficient judges.

Miss Kuntz's 3rd grade led in the Thrift Stamp record this week with 130.75.

The Hyde Baseball Team played the Roger Wolcott Nine at Waban, Tuesday afternoon. Our Nine defeated their neighbors. The score was 16 to 11.

NEWTON CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Although tennis is not a major sport at Newton, there is a very fine team representing the school. So far the team has beaten Cambridge and Concord High and is ready to defeat the rest of the schools on the schedule. Among the fine men who play on the team, Crosby probably is the best. He has shown wonderful championship form of late and is able to do as good work in the season ahead, he certainly will be a big factor in the Harvard Interscholastic Tournament. Fairfield is another good man and does very well when he teams up with anyone. Sly and Hill, the other two members of the quartette are both worthy of positions on this squad and are both valuable assets in helping to win.

Still the Baseball Team continues in second place, and certainly if Wednesday's game at Malden is any indication of what is going to happen on Saturday against the league leaders, at Somerville, Newton will strengthen her pennant chances and bring Somerville down a notch. The game at Malden was a repetition of Lyon's steady whip and can be summarized in the first five innings while he was in the box, by 9 strike outs, no hits, no man reached first. Coving then relieved him, in order that the former may be fresh for Saturday, and in the last four innings succeeded in holding the opponents to two hits. He certainly is coming through fine, of late and has helped out admirably. When Newton was at bat, Malden broke down tremendously, so that the Orange and Black's hits made a grand total of 13 runs, while Malden barely saw second in the whole game.

Last Saturday, May 15, Brookline also fell before the heavy slugging of Newton and in the end had the small end of the deal, the score being 4-2. Coving pitched the whole game and did some fine work. Farrell, once more in the lineup helped to put the pep into the team which it always seems to need to win. Bjorkman managed to get his eye on the ball again and helped the score by his hitting at bat. Although it was not the best game of the season by any means it was well contested and fairly well attended.

Notice has been received from Mr. C. E. Dallin, the sculptor of the Memorial Tablet which is to commemorate the war heroes of Newton Classical High, who died in the service of their country, that the original plan to unveil this gift of the Class of 1919 will have to be postponed. It seems that there is at present, as there usually is everywhere, a strike among the workers and consequently the tablet cannot be finished on time. It was to have been dedicated on Memorial Day, but this interference will put off such action indefinitely. Mr. Dallin stated in his letter however that he was truly humiliated and distressed to know just what to do, and said that he deeply regretted such unfortunate happenings at the very last moment, but that he sincerely hoped the uncontrollable situation would be understood by all, so that disappointment might not be too great.

Hyde School

Fessenden School

Like a blessing cast in the midst of grouches, spring fever and unfinished lessons, came the long-promised holiday. It was last Monday that Mr. Fessenden called everyone into the schoolroom with the explanation that he had a very solemn announcement to make. Immediately all faces became serious and everyone had prepared himself for the very worst, when came those glorious words: "We are going to have a holiday!" It was a beautiful, sunny day and Mr. Fessenden made it perfect by taking the sixth and seventh forms to see the baseball game at Fenway Park.

Stamps have found a very conspicuous place in the limelight of the Fessenden School. Not only are wonderful collections springing up but some boys are finding it very profitable to start a small stamp business, buying their goods by mail from larger stamp concerns and selling them to the minor collectors here at a slight advance in price.

The tennis courts on the north of the school are being smoothed over and resurfaced with clay. One court has already been finished and is in constant use.

The ugly-looking scaffolding, which has heretofore marred the beauty of the new building, is now dropping away and revealing, bit by bit, the architectural perfection of Memorial Hall. Work on the interior is also rapidly advancing, especially in the schoolroom where the beautiful new mantel has been erected.

TURNED TO COMMERCIAL USE

Historic Mansion in Mexico City Remodeled and Made Into Typical American Drug Store.

The conversion of the "House of Tiles" in the City of Mexico into a typical American drug store marks the passing of one of the most palatial and unique structures ever erected in that city of interesting buildings. Many persons in the United States remember the house as the "Jockey club," the most exclusive and aristocratic place of its kind in the republic, but for the past few years it has stood on a prominent downtown corner, a bleak, decrepit structure, whose shiny and gaudy exterior of tile gave evidence of its former glory. Soon it will open for business as a drug store.

The date when the building's foundations were laid is lost in obscurity, but it is thought that it was started about 1596. Later it came into the possession of Don Luis de Rivero, a man of varied career, who was responsible for its exterior coat of tiles. These latter are of blue, yellow and white, Moorish in design, and were made by artisans brought from Talavera, Spain, by the Dominican friars in the sixteenth century. They were modeled in a special ceramic factory at Puebla, about 75 miles distant, and the completion of this decoration was the occasion for a public celebration.

The family of Don Luis de Rivero, who later became the count of Orizaba, remained in possession of the house until the time of the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian. Its last occupant was a sister of the then Count de Orizaba, upon whom the emperor conferred the title of marquesa de Ciria.

Later the structure was taken over by the Jockey club and converted into a sumptuous club house. Stories of fabulous sums won and lost at its gaming tables persist to this day. Stirring revolutionary times caused its abandonment, and for several years the building was vacant until the present lessees secured it for a period of twenty years.

Indicative perhaps of an intention by the government to restore it later is the fact that before renovation started photographs were taken of all interesting portions of the building, including the huge carved door.

Freakish Costumes.

In the reign of Henry VIII of England the sleeve was generally a separate article of dress, and in Stubbes' time sleeves hung down to the skirts, "trailing on the ground and cast over the shoulders like a cow's tail." Violet-le-Duc gave cuffs which hung down 14 inches longer than the hand, thus proving that the wearer never worked. In the time of James I sometimes three pairs of gloves were worn, one over another. A curious custom arose about 1794 of hat-wearing within doors. The padding young women put metal collars around their necks when they were young children till they numbered between 20 and 30 and the necks of the wearers were stretched out in the most grotesque and uncomfortable fashion. African belles wear great copper rings on their limbs, which get so hot in the sun that an attendant has to carry water with which occasionally to cool them down.

Dressed Beef.

Some soldiers at camp spied a cow in a nearby field and after capturing her with the intention of having a drink of milk on the owner they discovered to their disgust that she was dry.

A disappointed doughboy leveled his gun at her, saying: "She'd look better to me as dressed beef."

"Give you $5 if you turn the trick," said another. "It's a go," said the first one. "I'll turn her into dressed beef before morning and claim that $5."

None of us thought he meant it, but in the morning he claimed the money, saying the cow was now dressed beef. We had to be shown, so were taken to the field, and there, sure enough, the cow was dressed. She was carcassing about the field in a complete outfit of the kitchen police.—Exchange.

Avenues of Communication.

Still a new means of communication has been devised. No longer is man to be dependent on the air for the rapid transmission of messages; for, a new invention—modeled after a barge in San Diego bay, California—has made possible the sending of messages through air and water. And, appropriately enough, the test of proof came when the United States Navy department sent a message from Annapolis, Maryland, to the British Admiralty, telling, in this manner, of the arrival of the R-34 in America. Bol! adventurer had conquered the air, indeed, but not long before another group, less spectacular, harnessed the sea and land to their own particular requirements.

Keep Children in School.

"Children should stay in school as long as possible because education means better jobs," the federal children's bureau urges. "Boys and girls who go to work at the end of grammar school rarely get good jobs. The work they find to do is usually unskilled; it offers little training or chance for advancement. When they are older they find they are still untrained for skilled work that offers a future. Education means higher wages. Many boys and girls when they leave school find work that offers a high wage for a beginner. But these wages seldom grow because the work requires no training. A position with a future and steadily increasing wages requires school training."

ANNUAL MEETING STATE FEDER- ATION

Springfield, May 19th.

Eight o'clock last evening saw the First Church well filled with delegates assembled for the 25th annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, this being the fourth visit of the Federation to Springfield, although eleven years have elapsed since the last one.

The welcome was three-fold from the Mayor, Arthur A. Adams, from the President of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Henry A. Field, and from the President of the Springfield Women's Club, Mrs. W. W. McClench.

Mrs. George Minot Baker, President of the Federation, in her response referred to the year just closing as one of reconstruction and readjustment, that we must not fear what the future may bring forth. "We must be calm and meet the issues ahead squarely."

Greetings were received in a telegram from the New Hampshire Federation, which is holding its annual convention simultaneously, also numerous letters of regret from other distant federations and one of special interest from Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, President of the General Federation.

These formalities out of the way the women turned immediately to the routine business of annual reports of the officer in which it was brought out that five new clubs have joined during the year, with two withdrawals, the membership at present being 321 clubs, numbering 115,899 women. One is struck all through with the growth of the work as well as growth in members. The treasurer's report showed expenditures to the amount of $3,330.44, and a balance on hand of $1969.93, with which to begin the new year, while the Endowment Fund now exceeds $20,000. This is being allowed to accumulate for the present. The General Federation Secretary's report was of more than usual interest this year, doubtless an account of the number of delegates to which Massachusetts will be entitled at the coming Biennial at Des Moines. Twenty-nine clubs have joined this year.

Badge, Bulletin, meetings, and Press Committee reports told of what has been done to keep both clubwomen and the world at large informed as to the activities of the Federation and to make smooth and comfortable all arrangements for the meetings.
The Americanization work of the individual clubs was summarized by Mrs. Arthur A. Hibbard, the retiring First Vice-President, and the list was impressive and indicative of the serious purpose underlying projects undertaken by the club at the Federation's behest.

Prizes for the best essays on "The Pilgrims," by high school scholars have been urged by the education department as a preliminary observance of the coming Tercentenary and in many cases it has proved to be a good piece of Americanization work as well, so many of the prizes have been won by children of foreign birth or of foreign parents.

One of the most interesting features of the evening was the reading by its author of the essay which was awarded the prize in Wakefield on "The Home Life of the Pilgrims." The name, Ruth Ingeborg Carlson, is suggestive of her origin, yet this sixteen-year-old girl very nearly presented a sermon to her hearers or at any rate revealed that she herself had gained a spiritual insight with our forefathers which many a real daughter has failed to get.

Another delightful feature was the singing of original "Bird Songs," by Mrs. Schuyler B. Eddy in which both the words and the music interpreted the character of the birds as well as their notes. Clubwomen like to "become as little children," so they entered heartily into the spirit of the dainty little songs as they were rendered.

The fourth address of welcome came from Rev. Neil McPherson, the pastor of the church, when under the topic, "The Influence of Women in the World Today," presented a forceful straight forward appreciation of the finer aesthetic and moral feeling, and the nobler spiritual power which women are going to bring into the world of affairs in the days not far distant. "No man has become great without the influence of a great woman by his side."

Sessions are being continued today and will close tomorrow noon.

These Newton women are in attendance: Mrs. Irving O. Palmer,
Mrs. Henry V. Jones, Mrs. Francis E.
Stanley, Miss Emma E. Walker, Miss
Jessie M. Fisher, Mrs. Harry Lutz,
Miss Helen F. Hull, Miss Grace M.
Burt, Mrs. Robert Gilman, Mrs. G. W.
McNear, Mrs. Francis N. Nathan, Mrs.
Ernest Cobb, Mrs. A. D. Colby, Mrs.
G. W. St. Amant, Mrs. C. G. Wether-bee, Mrs. Albert S. Hutchinson, Mrs.
G. D. W. Marcy, Mrs. F. G. Sandford, Miss H. B. Walker, Mrs. W. E. Bird-sell.

This "Thrift Song" written by Mrs.
John Morrill and sung to the tune of "Smiles," has created much merriment.

There is thrift that makes us happy.
There is thrift that makes us blue, Sometimes thrift will steal away our courage,

As we make the old look just like the new.

There are times when all this useful saving,

That the eyes of no one else may see,
Make the days that were so full of sunshine.

Naught but T-H-R-I-F-T.

There were shirts that now are aprons,

Sugar bags, all trimmed with blue,
And we wear these things with smiling faces,

Because thrift's the proper thing to do.

The pajamas that our husbands treasured,

Now are turned to sofa pillows new,
And the many stockings we have mended,

Are simply wonderful to view.

There is jelly made from currants
Fourteen glasses from one quart,
When in haste one wants to bake potatoes,

Then for thrift just boil them all instead.

Make the frosting out of milk and cocoa,

Use up all the scraps that you can see,

And perhaps some day when thrift's established,

There will be sugar for our tea.

So we'll smile and all be happy.
We will do what we are told,
And we'll make old towels into dollies,

And use all our tablecloths so old,
And our smiles will have a knowing meaning,

That the eyes of everyone can see,
For we've learned to help our glorious country,

By our T-H-R-I-F-T.

The next bird walk of the Community Club will take place Saturday, May 22, leaving Newton 8:15 train for Riverside. Leader, Mrs. J.
B. Jamieson, Jr., in the absence of Miss Margaret Tucker.

At the Showrooms of Messrs. McKenney & Waterbury Co., 181 Franklin all to show desired effects to meet every

THE NEWTON VACATION WEEK

The Directors of the Newton Vacation Week need $400 by June 1st to accomplish the work already planned.
It will be spent in the following directions:

Six widows with families of little children will be given a full day's outing at the beach. Cost $18.

Four fatherless boys, children of working mothers will be boarded at a Y. M. C. A. Camp, under the best of influences, thus relieving their mothers of care and anxiety for a month. Cost $64.

The twenty-five guests at the N. H.
A. P. can enjoy each ten electric rides, or the equivalent, in some little personal delicacy. Cost $50.

The score of children who still lament the loss of the Read Fund Picnic their only summer outing will be greatly consoled by a private picnic, under supervision, either to City Point or Norumbega. Cost $20.

Six worn-out working women can have a month's rest and change, with relatives or friends if furnished with money for traveling expenses. Cost $30.

The charges at all the desirable Rest Homes have necessarily advanced so that the ten worn out women to whom a month of rest is a necessity, cannot be properly cared for at less than a cost of $200.

As many more, aged people, past work, need only to "be tired over" the summer months, when those who usually help them are out of town.
Cost $18.

In these days of thrift and conservation, do not let a drop of the Milk of human kindness be wasted. Pass it on to some thirsty neighbor, who will appreciate it.

Elizabeth Spear, Chairman.

TO RAISE $5000

Myrtle Baptist Church, West Newton, Rev. William Wade Ryan, pastor, has launched a $5000-drive commencing with Monday, May 17 and ending with a grand rally May 20 for the purpose of raising funds with which to put the church edifice on Curve street, West Newton in thorough repair. Under the leadership of its pastor, Rev. Dr. Ryan, this parish has exerted a vast influence for good in the community and is deservingly of financial assistance in its endeavor to rehabilitate its church edifice from whatever source such assistance might come. A circular letter endorsing the appeal has been issued bearing the names of Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Alderman Percy M. Blake. Alderman Herbert M. Cole, 31 Somerset road, West Newton, Mass., has consented to act as treasurer for the fund. The letter endorsing the drive reads in part as follows:—

To the Citizens of Newton:—
From personal observations we know that this appeal is fully warranted, and the statements above on which it is based are so simple and straightforward as to make prompt response a duty which will become a pleasure to those who respond. This church performs a service to our city which is measurable in its uplift of citizenship through provision for those who seek a place of worship and enjoy the helpful spirit of church association. We hope that the response will be generous and prompt.

Dr. Banks is to speak at the evening service of the Methodist Church at Newton Centre on May 30th, on the subject, "World-Wide Prohibition Coming and America Leads the Way." This will be one of hundreds of National-Wide Prohibition rallies. The churches of Newton Centre are co-operating with Mr. A. T. Leary, Secretary of the Newton Centre Community Work in bringing this meeting to the attention of the public.

Since the beginning of his ministry, Dr. Banks has fought the liquor traffic in an aggressive way, finally giving up his work as a pastor to give his undivided effort to bringing about Prohibition. No one interested in Church and civic life can well afford to miss hearing this man who is one of the truly great men in Prohibition Movement. Everyone is welcome. Admission is free.

GARDEN NEWS

Many urban dwellers are attempting to fight old H. C. L. with backyard gardens. The Philadelphia North American recently printed a story telling something of the tremendous shortage of food and the likelihood of very much higher prices. Among other facts, the article brings out the fact that the wheat acreage is estimated at 4,000,000 acres less than that of last year, and rye 12,000,000 acres less. Only 25 per cent of the drafted farmer boys have returned to the farms. The European situation is not satisfactory. France has gained only 5 per cent over last year in her acreage of grain. Denmark and Sweden have gained about 20 per cent. To offset this, the grain acreage in England and Wales is less than last year. Australia's wheat production this season is 4,000,000 bushels, against 75,000,000 last year. The farmers are forced to reduce their acreage in New England and elsewhere in the United States because they cannot get labor at any price. The farmers are doing this reluctantly, as they prefer to plant their acreage in order to keep it up in good condition. With all of these facts in mind every urban dweller should exert himself to even greater extent than during the war period in order to protect himself against this tremendous food shortage and high price period which is bound to come with the shortage of food supplies.

Best Type of Tomato Plants
Shortly stores will start offering tomato plants, and home gardeners should exercise caution in their purchase. There are about two types: One type shows a stocky, dark green growth, about six inches tall, that stands well in the box. The other type is one which seems to lack the vitality of the short, dark green type. It is not a question of vigor, however, for if the two types were set outside by side in a garden, it is very likely that one would grow as well as the other, in fact the lighter colored type would doubtless grow taller and produce more tomatoes. The tall, light green plants are the ones the home gardener should select for planting. They are the early and main crop varieties and the biggest yielders. Do not be led astray this year and purchase one of the dwarf, dark foliaged varieties.

Plant Sweet Corn Now
It is now safe for the home gardener to plant his first planting of sweet corn. The corn seeds should not be planted too deeply as the ground is still wet and cold. It is well to plant sweet corn in squares rather than in long rows. This in order to get better pollination during the blooming period.

It is probably safe for the urban gardener to put in his first planting of string beans. Like the corn, they should not be planted deeply, however, and after they have come up it will be wise to exercise caution in case there is any likelihood of frost some evening and cover them with dirt or cloth.

NEW ENGLAND BYWAYS

"We may build more splendid habitations, Fill our rooms with paintings and sculptures But we cannot Buy with gold the old association."

We who live in New England are rich in old associations and need have but a mile or two in any direction to come upon a spot full of tradition spiced with a bit of fact. This summer, interest particularly focuses on this section as the three hundredth anniversary of the coming of the Pilgrims is celebrated. Once again we would stand on Burial Hill at Plymouth and looking down over the harbor, imagine the Mayflower full rigged, slipping into shore after the long voyage to this unknown, forbidding land.

As the twilight lingers, another trip lures us on to the water, along the beaches of the North Shore through Swampscott, to Marblehead with its sidewalks that melt into the streets and the medley of little white houses in scallop formation skirting the shore. There, is the Samuel Avery house where met the Committee of Safety and the Tuesday Evening Club, and the Old Town House (1727), the Faneuil Hall of Marblehead. Winding along the breakwater, we cross the peaceful harbor to the rocks of Marblehead Neck, where the water pounds and dashing far up, explodes in a myriad of rainbows. A bit further up the coast, Gloucester is tucked away, in its harbor floating the fishing ships, about which are woven many weird yarns of phantoms in the fog.

Less quaint perhaps than any of these villages yet full of associations, Salem attracts with her reign of terror, the witchcraft period, her fine colonial architecture and the fame of Hawthorne. Concord appeals too, for those who would make literary pilgrimages even as Stratford in England, for centered there the Emersons, Thoreaus, Agassizs, Margaret Fuller and Louisa Alcott, while still nearer is Cambridge, full of the stories of so many great Americans but more especially famous the home of Longfellow and Lowell.

The historic sites in Boston itself and the turnpikes leading from the hub far out to the country, are rampant in tradition. In the following books are many tales that all the quiet villages with the rush and tumble of war, the haunting fear of witches, or lead us back to a world of thought and fiction created by those who led in American literature.

NORUMBEGA PARK OPENS

Norumbega Park, the famous amusement place in Auburndale on the Charles River will open for its twenty-fourth season, Saturday, May 22, under the management of Carl Alberte, who, after an absence of three years, resumes the reins which he so successfully guided from the establishment of this popular outing place.

Mr. Alberte has wrought many changes in the park this season, not the least welcome of which is his program for the big open air theatre, where feature motion pictures will be shown every afternoon and evening with vocal and instrumental music. On the opening day and evening the picture will be Zane Grey's "Desert Gold". Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "Huckleberry Finn" will be played. "The Idol Dancer" will be the attraction the last three days of the week. Mile. Bertha Erza the French operatic star will be an added attraction all the first week.

The picnic grounds have been enlarged and improved and added facilities installed in the way of locker rooms, shower baths and other comforts. The zoo is replete with interesting animals, and canoeing on the Charles river, the bowling alley, shooting gallery, and other attractions make Norumbega the ideal, near at hand, spot for pleasure.

COUNTRY PARTY

The country party which was given by the Social Club of the Bachrach Studio, at Hertig's Bungalow, Oak Square on Saturday, May 8th, proved very much of a success.

Almost every person came in country garb, the girls with gingham dresses, bungalow aprons, and sunbonnets, and the boys in overalls and old clothes.

The evening was spent in dancing and general merry making, and the club is looking forward to another such good time in the future. Mr. Bachrach was unable to attend on account of illness, and Mr. Fred Willis, President of the Social Club, was unexpectedly called away to Worcester. The committee was composed of the Misses Olive Hollenbeck, Ellen Healey, Helen Kent and Mrs. Hilda Chamberlain, and the Messrs. Wilson, Studwell and Gilfix.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Mrs. George H. Mellon of Newton Highlands gave a most interesting talk illustrated by specimens of stuffed birds at the Morning Assembly Monday, May 17th.

A set of encyclopedias and a large number of other books of reference have recently been presented to the library by Mr. Murray.

The shop classes are visiting a number of manufacturers in the vicinity.

The Newton Vocational High School will hold open house on the evening of Tuesday, June 2nd, from 7.30 to 9.30, with pupils at work in shop, work rooms and classes. All those who are interested in the future welfare of the boys and girls of this city are cordially invited to come to see the opportunities this school offers. A more detailed announcement will be printed next week.

Mason School News Items

On Tuesday, May 11th, the Mason Ball team played its first league game with the Pierce school on the West Newton playground and won 7-2. Mr. Silva was the umpire.

On Saturday, May 8th, a party of girls and boys from the eighth grades of the Mason School, went to see "The Merchant of Venice," with Robert Mantell as leading man. All of the children met at the Hollis Theatre. Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Tolman were the chaperons. Although the class sat up in the second balcony, they could see and hear very well. The play was very much enjoyed by all.

Grade IV in Room 5 had a health race between the boys and girls the past week which came out a tie.

Interesting Dutch work is being carried out in Room 2. Also the class have found four different varieties of violets this spring, the white, the field, the bird foot, and the yellow violet.

Room 10 has had an attendance of 97-1-10 per cent., the highest in the district.

Country Day School

On Thursday the graduates of the Country Day School held their first alumni reunion. Following the dinner given in the school dining-room by Headmaster Kerns an Alumni Association was formed. The afternoon was devoted to a program of informal sports consisting of relay races, obstacle and three-legged races, races among the undergraduates. A tug-of-war between teams representing the first class and the faculty was followed by an alumni baseball game with the odd classes opposing the even classes. In the evening members of the Dramatic Club gave scenes from "My Friend from India," and a sextette from the Mandolin Club furnished music. The entertainment concluded with several reels of moving pictures given by the members of the Science Club, using the new picture machine which the club has just purchased.

Horace Mann Notes

Memorial Day programs are being printed by the children in the eighth grade. Special ones were made by Mrs. Curtin for the teachers. The ones for the children were made by the pupils of the fourth and fifth grades.

The eighth grade practised their gymnastics out of doors on the playground Monday May 17th. These gymnastics are to be performed at the Clafin Field at the May Festival, as the eighth grade has been chosen to represent the school on this day.

On May 18th the Seventh Grade went "over the top" in obtaining the money for the French War Orphan Fund.

The baseball team of Horace Mann and Clafin Schools defeated the Peirce School team last Monday afternoon. A run was secured early in the game leaving the score 1 to 0 in favor of this school. The fielding of our players kept the Peirce from getting any runs after this. Though our boys reached third base many times, none could reach home. In the sixth inning the Peirce had three men on bases with two outs, when a batter hit a fly into leftfield. It looked dark for us but Willard Richards caught it, saving the day.

Burr School

The posters are now ready for the play to be given by Miss Kelley's Eighth Grade. The play is to be "Mr. Bob" a comedy in two acts. It will be held in the Burr School Assembly Hall on Friday, June 4th, at 8 o'clock.

The Burr School Ball team have played two games. The first with the Waban resulted in a victory for the Burr School, score 21-5. The game on Tuesday with the Emerson boys was a close one, the score being 7-6 in favor of Emerson. Both sides played well and showed real baseball spirit.

Miss Kingman's room are hoping to make a trip to the Youth's Companion building either this week or next.

Clafin School

Grade VII has a bird and flower chart. About thirty different wild flowers have been brought in, and many birds seen.

The Horace Mann-Clafin baseball team won a 1-0 victory over the Peirce team on Monday, May 17, and on Tuesday, May 18th, they won over the Bigelow, with a score of 21-6.

The first edition of the school magazine "Clafin's Own" is just out from the print room.

Lasell Seminary

Mrs. Mary Nide Gamewell of Shanghai, China, the authoress of this year's Interdenominational Mission Study Book was the guest of the Seminary during the past week and spoke at the Vesper Service on Sunday.

A perfect day and perfect time was enjoyed by the students Monday at the annual Field Day which was held at the Riverside Recreation Grounds. One of the most interesting features was the horseback riding by some of the students. In the final of the honors were carried off by the Sophomore Class, the Seniors being second on the list. The most successful contestant was Barbara Streibigh of the Class of '22.

On Wednesday evening Helen Gould Balcom of the Senior Class gave a song recital in Bragdon Hall Gymnasium. The piano soloist was Miss Doris Crawford, also of the Senior Class.

The annual Glac Club Concert will be given on Saturday evening. On account of the large student body and visiting guests the concert will be held under a canopy on the Bragdon Hall grounds, and admission will be by ticket.

Friends are cordially invited to the following commencement events at Lasell Seminary:

Wednesday, May 26, 2.30 P. M. River Day.

Thursday, May 27, 8 P. M. Woodland Park Pupils' Piano Recital at Woodland Park.

Peirce School

In addition to the regular school baseball team this year, the Peirce School is having a team in each room. All the fifth grades are to play each other, all the sixth grades, etc. The champion fifth grade is to play the champion sixth grade. The winner of the game plays the seventh grade and the winner of the match plays the eighth grade. The champion eighth grade will have a shield; the champion sixth grade, etc. As every class wants a shield, the competition will be keen.

There are in the Health Crusade of the Peirce School 166 Squirrels who are working to become Knights.

The Honor List for the Third term of the Peirce School given to those who received "S's" in all their studies is as follows: Conduct, Mary Yeager, Evelyn Jackson, Helen Bosworth; Grade 6, Doris Sargent, Elizabeth Larcum; Grade 5, Edmund McLaughlin, John Cole; Grade 4, Elizabeth Moynahan.

Stearns School

Miss Eddington and Miss Stoddard are in Boston today with their classes, the two seventh grades, on a historical trip. Mr. Cox, formerly a Boston principal, is conducting the party and will give the children much interesting and valuable information.

The school baseball nine defeated the Bigelow team Monday afternoon on the Stearns Playground. The score being 9-1. Landry and Veno were the battery for Stearns while Wallace and Ancin won the points for Bigelow. The game was very interesting until the eighth inning when the Bigelow infield wobbled considerably, allowing the Stearns to score six runs.

Butler playing shortstop for Stearns treated the crowd to miraculous baseball, covering all sorts of ground and making many supposed impossible putouts.

The team in its second game of the week was defeated by the Mason nine 5-1. In what was easily the best game of the year at Cabot Park. The Stearns' defense cracked in the eighth inning, allowing Mason to score three runs without a hit. The fielding of both sides was fast throughout the game. Every feature of the playing would be a credit to any high school team.

The Stearns boys promise to decisively defeat Mason at their next meeting, June 3rd.

Miss Frost of the Newton Library recently visited the various grades of the Stearns School. It was suggested that the upper grades of the school be taken to the library and be given instruction in the use of the library for reference work. One of the sixth grades is to visit the Library on next Monday afternoon.

On Thursday afternoon of last week the Italian Mothers' Club enjoyed another concert. Piano solos and duets were rendered by Misses Jennette and Eleanor Martin of Newtonville, a violin solo was given by Miss Jennette Martin and several piano solos by Master Haddon White of Newton. All were heartily appreciated.

The annual banquet of the Girls' Club was held Tuesday evening at the Stearns School. Fifty were served. The tables were prettily decorated in the spring colors, yellow and green.

Violin and vocal solos were enjoyed by all.

Bigelow School

Last week room 2 led in the purchase of Thrift Stamps. The Bigelow School played Stearns School on Monday.

The score in the seventh inning was 1-1, then Stearns School scored 8 runs. The boys played a good game.

The eighth grade girls from the Stearns and Bigelow Schools, who are to dance at Clafin Field on Thursday afternoon had a practise dance on the Bigelow school lawn on Wednesday. The Bigelow School orchestra furnished the music.

The Pocket Handkerchief. The pocket handkerchief was first known as "kerchief"—couvre-chef—a covering for the head; then it became handkerchief, a covering for the head carried in the hand, and at last pocket handkerchief, a covering for the head held in the hand and kept in the pocket.

Sense Nonsense.

In a preliminary school examination a question about the senses was answered by a bright pupil in this fashion: "The five senses are sneezing, sobbing, crying, yawning and coughing. By a sixth sense is meant an extra one which some folks have. This is snoring."—Boston Transcript.

There is an old saying that "a man's character is as his nose is." The nose, according to physiologists, is one of the most important features. Both its size and its shape have their significance.

When he first came to Newton Centre, the present site was occupied by an old wooden building. Through his work he has established the present beautiful building.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The Freshmen-Sophomore speaking contest, which for some time has been anticipated with much excitement by the students of this school, was held Wednesday morning. Because of the limited seating capacity of the Assembly Hall, the Freshmen, Sophomores and Junior boys were the only classes favored with an invitation to this exceptionally interesting entertainment.

The Freshmen team, with Seby Gatus as chairman, was composed of Tudor Bowen, Walter Hannigan, Wellington Harper, Herbert Hunter, and John Sheehan. The Sophomores, who answered the challenge were headed by Harold Waters, chairman, and Arthur Connolly, Charles Doyle, Van Fraser, Louis MacLennan, and Arthur Shaw.

Both teams displayed talent of such excellent quality that the task of judging the winners was difficult. Miss Bigelow, Miss Fiske, and Miss Laselle, to whom the task was assigned, were seated apart from each other and graded each boy as he spoke. There was intense excitement throughout the audience during the interval before the announcement of the judges' decisions. The result was quite unexpected, a tie score.

Tudor Bowen, one of the Freshmen taking part, ranked highest in the reports of the three judges and was proclaimed the best speaker. Miss Robinson and Mr. Thurber were the supervisors of this unique contest.

Tuesday evening, May 25th, the class of 1915 to hold a reunion in the library of the school. Eliot Stickney, president of the class and an able committee is busy at work framing an interesting program for the occasion.

Memorial Day exercises are being planned for next Friday. The main speaker will be a graduate of the Technical High School, Charles Parlin, who is now a student in the Harvard Law School. Parlin graduated in 1915, and then attended the University of Pennsylvania. He was in service during the war. Four pupils of the school will give recitations suitable to Memorial Day, thus making a most inspiring and interesting program.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Annual Spring Rally Postponed on Account of Bad Weather

The annual rally of the Boy Scouts of Norumbega Council which was to have been held last Saturday was postponed on account of the bad weather. No definite date has been set as yet.

A water meet will be held on Wednesday evening, June 9th, at the Newton Y. M. C. A. for the scouts, the "Y" having very kindly turned over the use of the pool to the scouts for the evening. 20 and 40 yd. dashes for both juniors and seniors and giving together with a relay race between the different troops will make it a most interesting affair. Each boy is supposed to bring a father or brother or uncle, no ladies being allowed, as this is a "stag" affair. A small "feed" will be served after the races. It is hoped that members of the American Red Cross Life saving corps will give a demonstration at this meet.

Troop 5 Newton presented a successful entertainment Saturday evening, May 22, at the Trinity Parish House, Newton Centre. It was the first entertainment given under the new leadership of Mr. E. W. Mansur, the Scoutmaster, or "Capt. Bill" as the fellows call him.

Musical selections were rendered by Onthank's Orchestra, and a violin solo was given by Mr. George Delaney. A comedy entitled "Abe and Rubenstein" was presented by scouts Wales and Perkins, which was followed by a piano solo by Mr. Francis Sheehan. Mr. Francis McNeil sang two solos and this was followed by a selection on the saxophone by Mr. Franklin Onthank.

The next number on the program was a war scene, laid at General Headquarters. This was given by members of troop 5 and was greeted with great applause. The cast included E. W. Mansur, Albert Rodway, Edward Wales, Edward Rodgers, Francis Hodgdon, Chester Pratt, Donald Armstrong, Wayne Clark, Daniel Bianchi, P. Bond, B. Marsh, W. Perkins, Malcolm Armstrong, R. Richmond, B. Finburg, J. Pratt, Daniel Bianchi.

Stage Director: Francis Ward; Curtain Manager, Daniel Bianchi; Announcer, F. B. Hodgdon.

DEMONSTRATION

To be Given of Work Done by the Newton Vocational High School

On the evening of the first of June, the Newton Vocational High School will give a very interesting demonstration of its work. The school has exceptionally good facilities for both technical and shop work—there are few high schools in the United States which equal it—and the fact that many of the pupils will be actually at work with this equipment will make the exhibition both instructive and entertaining. It is expected that there will be a large attendance not only of the parents of pupils or prospective pupils, but of all those who are interested in the boys and girls of our city. Everyone will be welcome and teachers and pupils will be on hand to show visitors about and explain to them about shops or classes. Parents will have an opportunity to discuss courses of study with teachers as they go about the building.

Some of our citizens who have visited technical schools in other parts of the country have had the curiosity to wish to compare those schools on their return with our own. In those cases where the person was not already acquainted with the high

NEWTON POST

Entertains Col. Edward L. Logan, Department Commander, American Legion

The monthly meeting of Newton Post No. 48 held last Monday night was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The meeting took the form of a smoke talk and an elaborate program was presented. Among the entertainers of the evening were "Hap Meyers and Johnny Lane." Colonel Logan, Commander of the Mass. Department was present, and delivered a very interesting talk on the workings of the Legion and especially called attention to the activity of the Legion in the Bonus question. He said that every parcel of legislation now before Congress, which is beneficial to Service Men has the support of the Legion, and spoke of the advantages to be gained from being a member of that organization.

Plans for the observance of Memorial Day were perfected and details were chosen to assist the Grand Army in caring for the graves of the older veterans, as well as those who made the supreme sacrifice in this war. These members will report at 8 A.M. at Temple Hall, Newtonville. All former service men in the city are invited to participate in the parade in

SUPPOSED MURDER

What looked at first as a case of suffocation from smoke at a fire which destroyed a barn on River street, West Newton early Tuesday morning, was later discovered to be a case of murder. The victim was John Cuniff, a well known resident of West Newton for the past fifty years. Cuniff was a teamster and for many years worked for the late Thomas F. Mague and had been saving for years to buy a team and go into business for himself.

DEATH OF MR. TARBOX

Myron H. Tarbox, vice-president of The Boston and Lockport Block Co., died at his home on Franklin street, Newton, May 23, in his 77th year, after several years of failing health. Mr. Tarbox is survived by his widow, who was Sarah E. Carrier of Elmira, N. Y., a daughter, Miss Julia C. Tarbox of Newton, and a son, Alfred B. Tarbox of Laconia, N. H., and two grand sons. During his active life he was allied with Church and manufacturing interests.

In Lockport, N. Y., he was an elder in the First Presbyterian Church and a deacon in the First Congregational Church of Chelsea, and a member of the Eliot Congregational Church, Newton. Funeral services were held at his late home on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. H. Grant Person, D.D., pastor of Eliot Church officiating, and the interment was at the Newton Cemetery.

A Tribute from an Old Friend

In the passing of Mr. Myron H. Tarbox, there has gone from our midst a courtly, Christian gentleman; not so widely known as some other citizens, although he had been a resident in Newton since 1902. Physical infirmities which took him out of the activities of life and limited his association with men began as early as 1905.

The one who bears this tribute came to know Mr. Tarbox in 1876 at Lockport, N. Y. There he was prominent in business and most active in all forms of Christian service. He was almost unique as a Christian; thoroughly consistent, of abounding faith; with a hope that kept him patient and cheerful amidst all his trials. His means did not limit his generosity. He was always seeking opportunity to help others, especially if they were engaged in Christ's service.

In conversation, that which had to do with the Kingdom of our Lord was the topic which commanded his attention and gave to him the greatest satisfaction. Withal he had a vein of humor which made him most companionable, and those who knew him best counted it among their privileges to have his friendship.

He could trace his genealogy for almost a thousand years; but that which gave him the highest joy was the fact that he was born of the Spirit of God through faith in Jesus Christ, and hence was a child of the King.

S. M. Sayford.

SPREADING A GOOD IDEA

Some time ago we printed a very interesting Essay on Saving and Thrift, which was written by Miss Katherine B. Knapp of Auburndale. The essay won first prize in the recent competition offered by the Newton Trust Company.

Not only is the subject a very timely one, but Miss Knapp's essay was very well written and very interesting, so much so that several large concerns obtained copies of the essay for distribution among their employees. Among this number was the Louis Fabian Bachrach Company, photographers, who distributed copies to every one of their three hundred employees in various cities.

A copy of the essay was brought to the attention of the LaGrange Savings Bank, of LaGrange, Georgia. So impressed were they with the timeliness and value of the essay that they made copies of the booklet and distributed it to the 3,000 school children of the city, and invited similar efforts on their part, offering prizes for the best essay from each grade.

CITY OF NEWTON

HEARING ON ADDITIONAL SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS

There will be a hearing by the Board of Aldermen at City Hall, West Newton, at 7:45 P. M., on Monday, June 7th, 1920, upon the request of the School Committee for new school buildings in which, if granted, the Committee proposes to establish Junior High Schools.

In order that this hearing may have the benefit of a concise statement of the issues of the Junior High School plan, the following summary of the subject as it has been considered in committee is given:

1. Each Junior High School to be a separate educational unit, (of the general type in Boston called "intermediate school") combining the Freshman grade of present High Schools with 8th and 7th grades of present Grammar Schools.

2. The Junior High School buildings to be located so that each will serve two or more of the present grammar school districts thus creating schools of suitable size for best educational administration and for most economical management. The proposed grouping is:

A. Newton, Nonantum, Newtonville
B. West Newton, Auburndale, Lower Falls
C. Waban, Upper Falls, Newton Highlands
D. Newton Centre, Chestnut Hill
3. These schools to have a single session day.

4. The causes for the request are: the belief that the Junior High School plan is an educational advance of marked value; that it can be installed in Newton economically at present time as it will afford necessary permanent relief for the over crowding in the high schools and also for that in the grammar schools; and that it constitutes a method of approaching the proposition of a South-side Senior High School.

5. In its educational aspect, the plan provides for introducing to pupils methods of study which are better suited to their age; permitting parents and teachers better to ascertain the adaptabilities of the individual child; giving limited freedom in choice of studies; and by these means, and by departmental teaching by promotion by subject and by earlier beginning of certain high school subjects, providing also for better progress and future development of each individual pupil.

By order of the Board of Aldermen,
FRANK M. GIANT,
City Clerk.

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

The Newtonville Improvement Association met in Dennison Hall, Newtonville, on Tuesday evening.

Promptly at 8 o'clock, the President, Mr. John Daboll, opened the business meeting which included reports of the year's work by the Secretary, Mr. Harry D. Cabot, and the report of the nominating committee in regard to the election of officers for the following year.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. M. H. Lichter and his subject, "Roses in the Soot". Mr. Lichter explained that he took his subject from Booth Tarkington's novel of city life, "The Turmoil" where the Dreamer, son of the successful merchant dreamed of a city "unbelievably white, where roses sprang from the soot". He then went on to speak of community ideals and of how they could be realized.

In any community, he pointed out, the first and most obvious ways of improvement were along material lines. One thought at once of enlarged streets, improved lighting, parks, etc. Yet in his opinion, the greatest need was improvement along the line of human need.

He prophesied that the next two years would find the United States facing a serious crisis in both the business and social world, and said that the way in which that crisis would be met when it came would depend, largely, upon the way in which Newton, and other cities, met its human problems.

The speaker characterized America as having a "vaudeville mind" or a tendency towards superficiality, towards the making of snap shot judgments, instead of thinking a question through. This, he said, was a serious state of things.

Coming from generalities to specific considerations, Mr. Lichter then gave two ways in which, he believed, the city of Newton might be able to attain a high community ideal.

The first of these was through the establishment of a Community House, a place where all might meet, rich and poor, without class, or church, or racial distinctions. This would be equipped with a gymnasium, and an auditorium for the best type of "movies," and opportunities for social gatherings through which a real understanding one of the other might be brought about. He suggested that such a Community House might be considered as a part of a memorial to our men who, through their service "Over There," brought about the spirit of brotherly love.

The second suggestion was that of a union of all the social betterment agencies of the community for the purpose of taking counsel one of the other, and to avoid duplication and elimination of waste in time and money. Instead of various Improvement Societies of the different villages, for example, he would have one Improvement Society embodying the best of all of these, for, he pointed out, it is impossible to improve one part of Newton without affecting the rest, or to neglect one part without the efforts of this neglect being felt by the other parts. He said he would also like to see a church federation including all the churches of Newton, Catholic and Protestant, Evangelical and Non Evangelical in the interest of One City. Then, he concluded, we would find our city becoming in very truth "unbelievably white."

At the conclusion of this very inspiring address an opportunity was given for the asking of questions, after which refreshments were served by the committee. Music was furnished by Knight's Orchestra.

The officers and members of the executive board for next year are as follows:

DEATH OF MRS. WHEELER

Mrs. Wheeler's husband, William A. Wheeler, who has been dead a number of years, was a graduate of Bowdoin College, had been the recipient of honors from Harvard, and in the seventies was assistant librarian at the Boston Public Library.

Mrs. Wheeler was the oldest member of the Church of the Disciples, and was especially active in the society during the days of Rev. James Freeman Clarke. Her survivors, besides the daughter with whom she lived, are three other daughters, Mrs. Percival W. White and Mrs. Ruben W. Davenport of Brunswick, Me., Mrs. Ethel B. MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

Classical High School

Mr. Adams, principal of the Classical High School, presided at the exercises given today in the School Assembly hall in the annual observance of Memorial Day. A program consisting of essays and declamation was given under the direction of the English department by members of the Junior Class. The occasion was made impressive both by the singing of the school and by the sentiment reflected in the compositions and recitations by the students who furnished the program. The time honored custom of honoring the veterans of the G. A. R., was observed. Post No. 62 furnished the speaker, who was Mr. J. E. Reid of Newton Centre. Mr. Reid is one of the special Patriotic Instructors of the National G. A. R. His address was much enjoyed by the students. The complete program was as follows:

Salute to the Flag.
Singing by the school.
Declamation, Decoration Day by Robert Ingersoll, delivered by Edwin Codman.

Declamation, The Offering by Olive Jacks, delivered by MacArthur Noyes.
Essay, A New Meaning for Memorial Day by Priscilla Aurelio.

Singing by the school.
Declamation, A monument for the Soldiers by James Whitcomb Riley, delivered by Clarence MacDavitt.

Declamation, The Soldiers' Last Salute by Horace Porter, delivered by Francis Russell.

Essay, Let Us Forget by Faith Addison.

Address by J. E. Reid, Esq.
Singing by the school.

AT HOTEL WESTMINSTER

Conditions at the Hotel Westminster are practically the same, as may be said about every other city hotel. The little corner grill in the Westminster, with its "open-faced" Rotisserie and its cozy booths, is proving a very attractive drawing card to those who like to dine well and will give the time to it. The Winter Garden of the Westminster is maintaining its reputation for high-class, refined entertainment of a slightly Bohemian flavor. This place is patronized by Boston's best people. Proprietor Coulton says that in a short time, or as soon as weather permits, he will start the roof garden and this will be welcome news to his hosts of patrons.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Rev. Dr. H. Grant Person of Eliot Church addressed the Monday Morning Assembly on "Three Secrets of Happiness."

Dr. Person is one of the friends of the school who always leaves valuable and inspiring thoughts with his hearers.

Miss Jeannie B. Kendrick, Head of the Household Arts Department, entertained the teachers of that department at her home on Eliot Memorial road, Saturday, May 22nd. A very pleasant feature of the occasion was a "surprise shower" to Miss Thayer.

DEATH OF MISS DUKEHART

Miss Susan Dukehart died at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Henry P. Talbot on Otis street on Friday after an illness of some weeks. Miss Dukehart has been accustomed to spend part of the time with her brothers in Baltimore and part of the time with her sister, Mrs. Henry P. Talbot. When here she attended St. John's Church. Services were held at St. John's Church on Friday, the Rev. Richard T. Loring officiating, and the interment was at Baltimore, Md.

LADIES' NIGHT

The Claffin Club of the Newtonville Methodist Church held its annual meeting and ladies' night last Friday evening in the church vestry.

Mr. E. H. Lowery who has been president of the club for the past two years, presided. Dr. Charles B. Rose the pastor, opened the meeting with prayer. Mr. E. F. Pillman spoke fittingly of the work of Mr. Lowery for the club during his term of office. About 170 sat down to the banquet. After the banquet, Mrs. Crosby captivated her listeners by her singing and reading. Her "Base Ball Game" was especially realistic.

Mr. George W. Taylor then presented the prize cups to those who had been successful during the Bowling Tournaments which have been held during the winter. The following won: Team No. 10, captained by Mr. Newton Hyslop won with a score of 61 points; team No. 8, captained by Dr. H. W. Shedd, was second with a score of 50 points. Mr. Newton Hyslop won the High Three String Total, with a score of 246. The high average was won by Mr. Lester G. Carpenter whose average was 102. High single was won by Mr. Wesley W. Blair who rolled 138.

In recognition of Mr. Don Leonard's services in figuring out the bowling averages for the entire season, the grateful bowlers presented him with a purse of gold.

The officers for next year were elected as follows: President, Mr. Don Leonard; Vice-President, Mr. W. A. Wyatt; Secretary, Mr. A. G. Seavy; and Treasurer, Mr. W. H. Dell.

BARITONE AT HUNNEWELL CLUB

On Wednesday evening, June the second, a very fine programme has been arranged by Frank Willard Meakin in which he will present to the lovers of good music in Newton, Walter Greenwood, a young artist who is making a great success in the concert and recital fields. Mr. Greenwood is ably assisted by Olga Capuccio, Violinist, and Jessie Lovell Fleming, pianist, artists who have been active in concert work for several seasons. Mr. Greenwood is a Newton man and this will give his many friends an opportunity to hear him. The patronesses are, Mrs. J. Q. A. Whittemore, Mrs. Frank Nagle, Mrs. Charles E. Riley, Mrs. Eben H. Ellison, Mrs. Sidney Harwood, Mrs. Harry B. Stebbins, Mrs. Samuel L. Powers, Mrs. Francis E. Stanley.

CO. C VETERANS

The "Veterans of Company C of the Newton" held a meeting at the Armory last Tuesday night at which final plans were made for observing Memorial Day. The graves of the two men of the old company who died on this side of the water will be decorated, and also the memorial tablets already erected in honor of some others who died in France.

All members of the association are invited to parade on the afternoon of May 31st, and are requested to report to Adjutant George Hennrikus at 1 o'clock at the corner of Elmwood and Centre streets, in uniform. Although the Veterans of Company C will march with the Legion, they will do so as a separate unit. Following the parade the members will be the guests of Charles Ward Post No. 62 at the dinner at the State Armory, West Newton, and at that time the dedication of the Memorial Tablet placed in the Armory in honor of the officers and men of Company C, as it was in 1917, will take place. This will be an informal affair, and very little ceremony will be held in connection with it. After the banquet a short meeting will be called for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year.

Y. M. C. A. BASE BALL

The next home game for the local Y. M. C. A. team will be played Memorial Day morning against the Old Powder House team of Somerville. This is one of the fastest teams in Somerville and is rated high in semi-pro circles. Bill Hunt will be on the mound for Newton. The game will begin at 10:30 on the Y.M.C.A. field.

Saturday, May 29, the local team will travel to Plymouth for a game with the Plymouth Cordage Co. Last year the Y. M. C. A. team won both games against the Cordage team and are out to repeat this year.

Saturday morning, May 29 the Junior A base ball team of the Y. M. C. A. will play the Cubs of Newton Centre on the Y. M. C. A. field, 10:15.

Tuesday afternoon June 1, 4:00, the Junior A class will hold an outdoor athletic meet on the Y. M. C. A. field. The following events will be used: 50 yd. dash, running broad jump, base ball throw for distance, sprint around the bases against time. A silver pin will be given for first place in each event.

Every Tire Signed

We insist that Millers must be uniform. Each tire is signed. A record is kept of the maker, the inspector and the process.

If a tire comes back for adjustment we learn the reason. If the workman is at fault he is penalized. If the inspector overlooked a flaw he is held responsible. If any process or material is at fault, we correct it.

After years of this checking we've attained uniform tires. There are whole large cities from which not a Miller Tire came back last year.

Treads Must Endure

Miller Treads, by our standard, must outwear the balance of the tire.

We have attained a tread which outwears rivals by 25 per cent.

Every day our tread stock is vulcanized, then tested, in our laboratory. We permit no variation.

Not 20,000 Miles

Countless reports come to us on Miller Cord Tires showing 20,000 to 28,000 miles of service. And tales of that kind are told everywhere, we learn.

But mileage depends on conditions—on size, care, load and road. Millers are uniform, but they are not used under uniform conditions.

In our factory tests we average 15,000 miles on Cords.

But a Miller Tire will outlast—almost always—any tire that you place opposite, no matter what it costs. Compare them under like conditions, and see what mileage modern tires can give.

You will gain a new criterion.

When you buy a new car insist on Miller Tires. Twenty car makers now supply them and there is no extra charge.

Tire Prices

Some False Ideas About Them

Should an extra price buy an extra grade tire?

It should not. Any first-grade tire should be built as well as a tire of that type can be built.

Cord Tires cost more than Fabrics, and are worth the extra price. Men who figure cost per mile are coming to Cord Tires.

But any tire, Cord or Fabric, should be built for the utmost service which that type can give.

Some Men Over-Pay

Some men pay extra prices, expecting extra mileage. Some pay under prices for an under-grade, and hope to save in that way.

Both are wrong. There may be exceptions—there are always freak tires. But countless tests have proved that Miller Tires at Miller prices, on the average, give the lowest cost per mile.

And Miller Tires, both Cord and Fabric, cost about the standard prices.

We Insist on This

There are three requirements which Miller Tires must meet.

First, they must average greater mileage, type for type, than any rival tire.

We constantly prove this. Eight machines in our factory run two tires each under rear-tire conditions. Each tire is run 650 miles daily by running extra-fast.

Won Over 21 Makes

The Eldorado Stage Co. of Los Angeles tested 21 other makes against Millers on 12-passenger Packard Buses, weighing 8,600 pounds loaded. In this supreme test Millers won by long odds, on long-distance uniformity.

Here we constantly compare the best other tires with Millers. Also in ceaseless road tests. Thus, day by day and week by week, we are guarding the Miller supremacy.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The session of this Great and General Court is drawing rapidly to a close, and if it was not for the congestion in the Senate, prorogation would have been reached tomorrow. As it is, the Legislature will have to sit one or two days next week.

Newton residents will be pleased to know that the bills to allow cities to make restrictions in regard to buildings, and to regulate billboard advertising, are being favorably considered and will undoubtedly become law within a few days.

The principal feature of interest this week from a Newton standpoint was the hearing on Wednesday before the Btink Commission on the proposed charter for the City Trust Company of this city. The charter was favored by Mr. Leland Powers, Mayor Edwin O. Childs, George J. Martin, Henry J. Nichols, Senator Thomas Weston, Thomas W. White, C. W. Ryder, Alderman A. W. Hollis and John H. Gordon and opposed by Albert P. Carter, Hon. Seward W. Jones, Frank L. Richardson and Hon. George Hutchinson.

The petitioners argued that there was plenty of room in the city for a new bank, while the opponents, officers and directors of the Newton Trust Company said that that company was giving plenty of good service and there was no need for another bank.

The commission took the matter under consideration.

J. C. Brimblecom.

NEWTON CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The Senior Class had their annual picture taken Thursday, May 20, in front of the school. Although it had been planned for an earlier date, it was found that this time was better suited to all the students, and thus with the aid of fair weather it was taken without much hindrance. However, anyone witnessing the operation would certainly have pronounced the picture a failure, for with most everyone packed in "like sardines," the natural result was a great deal of "shoving" and pushing. On the other hand, the proofs which have been received show that this year's group breaks all records for clearness, distinctness and for being generally good all around.

The date for Graduation has been set at June 19, but the Senior Class steps work on Tuesday, June 15. The rest of the school continues until the end of that week, and then takes the examinations the following week, while the graduating class will have had all their school final exams during the last few days before June 15. The Baccalaureate sermon will be given Sunday, June 20, in the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre. This church has extended a very kind invitation to the Senior Class to hold its exercises there, and at a recent meeting the class accepted. Each Monday and Wednesday morning the class has gone to the Assembly Hall to practice the graduation song, under the direction of Mr. Walton. By the time the two rehearsals are held in the week of June 14, the song certainly will be well prepared.

There is one team in the school ranks, which certainly deserves a great deal of credit, and that is the Golf Team. During the past few weeks, this group of four or five players has been doing some noteworthy work, and has carried off a victory from Brookline by a 6-1 score, while the Harvard Freshmen Team got away with only 2 points better than the home squad. Leonard, Hodder, and MacGillivray are the three brightest stars and certainly can be counted as good material for any college team. Hodder has been at somewhat a disadvantage of late, because of the untimely nature of his broken leg, which was fractured the first of the season in baseball. However, he still has that power of driving with a straight eye, which so characterized his work in the State Amateur Tournament, a year ago. Leonard is a very natural little player and knows the game well, playing in 2nd position most of the time, while MacGillivray is another big asset to his teammates, being the winner of the School Tournament last fall.

The Baseball Team is not exceptionally proud of its work this past week, for Somerville slipped over a 3-2 victory in an unlucky 10th inning and brought Newton outside of the pennant race chances. Unfortunately, when Newton easily had the upper hand in the first of that fatal inning, there being a man on third and first, and no outs, both of these base runners were picked off, making two outs. Then the batter failed to reach first which "sunk" all chance. Somerville brought home the run necessary for the game, when Newton's third baseman got excited and heaved wild. There is simply one thing to be said about it, and that is the league leaders never would have gotten away with it, if Newton had been able to have good school support. This is easily shown by the Cambridge game, where it was pretty uncertain just how the game would come out, but the school let the team know just how it stood, and Newton came through in fine shape. Not until more supporters get it into their heads to go to games away from home, which may be a bit uncertain as to the outcome, can Newton be real sure of any pennant. Wednesday's game with Medford proved a simple matter, Newton winning, 16-2.

A realistic effect was produced in this scene with the help of the wireless outfit loaned to the troop, and with the rest war material some of which was in actual use in France, loaned by the State Guard and friends of the scouts. The spy plot was made most thrilling due to the fine efforts of Edward Rogers and Donald Armstrong. The play was followed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by the players and audience.

An award of an oscillation transformer was made by Scoutmaster Mansur to Patrol Leader Francis Hodgdon, the first member of the troop to receive a Government Amateur radio license.

Refreshments and dancing followed and a fine evening, in spite of the weather, was enjoyed by all. Among the officials present were our Commissioner James C. Irwin, Deputy Commissioner W. S. Radway and two members of the Troop Committee, Mr. Samuel B. Paul and Mr. Pratt.

All the scouts of this troop are sorry that Francis ("Boob") Ward is obliged to resign, but are glad to hear that he is signing up as a Veteran Scout. He is going to Harvard next fall and the troop hopes to have frequent visits from him. Ward had been a member of troop 5 for many years, holding every office, his last being that of Assistant Scoutmaster, given him as a reward for his many years of faithful service.

The Scout Commissioners of the Greater Boston Federation are planning to hold a competitive rally between the various councils some time in the fall, the best scouts of each Council entering the big meet.

Troop 2 of Auburndale has planned a hike to the "Ohio" in Dover this Saturday. Hikes have been few this year, as it has rained every Saturday for a long time past.

The Norumbega Council of the Scouts has been invited to join with the other organizations in the Memorial Day parade, and has accepted the invitation. The Scouts are to assemble at Centre street, Newton, near the B. & N. R. station at 11:30 P. M. At the close of the parade the scout organization will proceed to Cabot woods, Newtonville, and there cook their suppers and hold a camp and Council fire. All scouts are requested to make a special effort to attend the parade, and to show their respect and honor for those men who laid down their lives in the wars.

Only the most urgent reasons should prevent a scout from attending the parade. The camp fire and supper is optional.

school trade work he has almost invariably found that it equalled if it did not exceed the others. Such a man would have discovered at the same time that although great emphasis is placed on shop work and hand skill, an equal emphasis is evident in the academic work of the school, and that the standards in that work are high and are yearly growing higher.

The building will be open on Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 P. M. and guides will be ready to direct visitors to those parts in which they are interested. A fuller understanding of the aims and purposes of this school, and the way it sets about to fulfill them cannot fail to be a benefit to the whole community.

the afternoon, whether members of the Legion or not, and these men are instructed to report to Adjutant Arthur Stubbs at the corner of Elmwood and Centre streets at 1 o'clock. Those who have not retained their uniforms may appear in dark clothes. Following the parade the Post and guests will be the guests of Charles Ward Post at the dinner at the Armory, at which many prominent men will be present as guests of the day.

Memorial Services of the Post will be held in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton on Sunday night, May 30th, at 8 o'clock, and Commander Weeks wishes that every man who can possibly do so attend the services.

GIRL SCOUTS

The local council of the Newton Girl Scouts held its annual meeting Wednesday afternoon in the chapel of Eliot Church, Newton. About two hundred council members and their friends were present.

Miss Caroline Freeman, local Director for Newton, gave a report of the work accomplished by the troops during the winter. She spoke of the growth of the work in this city and of the great need of new leaders to make it possible to extend the work still further.

Mrs. Margaret Deland was the speaker of the afternoon. Her subject was "The Opportunities of the Dull Job." She told many of her experiences in France during the war, emphasizing the wonderful qualities of the French women, and showed how the women of this country must exercise these same qualities, namely, courage, patience, and willingness to "sit tight" on the job, no matter how commonplace and uninteresting it might seem.

Officers for the coming year were elected. They were, Commissioner, Mrs. Frank A. Day of Newton; First Deputy Commissioner, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer of Newtonville; Second Commissioner, Mrs. George M. Angier of Waban; Secretary, Mrs. C. D. Meserve of Newtonville; Treasurer, Mrs. John N. Eaton of West Newton; Chairman of the Executive Committee, Mrs. Albert P. Carter of Newtonville; Chairman of the Court of Honor, Miss Jeannie B. Kenrick of Newton.

BOYS' CLUB PLAY

The Episcopal Boys' Club gave a clever one-act play at the Parish House of the Church of the Messiah last Saturday night. The play was written by Mrs. John J. Heibeck. The dialogue was very bright and entertaining and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Those who took part in the play were Wilfred Henly, Douglas Mathews, Jack Patelet, John Heibeck, William Hall, Herbert Budding and Joel Nichols. Donald Smith and Malcolm Budding. Several of the cast made charming girls.

In addition there were solos by Jack Patchett, William Hall, Ralph Chase, a violin solo by John Heibeck, and a solo dance by Olive Cousins. The music was in charge of Mr. Paul Neal.

At the close of the play a beautiful bouquet of red and white carnations was presented to Mrs. Heibeck by Linwood Fessenden on behalf of the Club members.

Mr. Shannon told of his work from house to house which is done in Chestnut Hill, Oak Hill and Newton Lower Falls.

Contributions are being received this week from those who desire to contribute to the Books for Everybody cause. No intensive campaign is being waged. This is a free will offering.

The Newton Graphic has always thought there was no reason why Newton, the richest city in the world, per capita, should not be supplied with the best in all lines of supplies, most particularly the food supply, and in this line we would mention the supply of Milk and Cream, when cleanliness and quality means so much, and one agent has at several times tried to induce the Somerset Farms Creamery Co. to establish a delivery in the Newtons so the residents of this city might be able to purchase this wonderful cream, that has been so successful elsewhere and has won the first prize for quality at the Dairy Meets for several years past. And we are now glad to announce that they are now delivering Cream in the Newtons, and that this Cream can be obtained by giving your order to your grocer or provision dealer.

The fire was discovered by neighbors. The body was found in an old tool house attached to the barn after the fire was nearly out. Dr. T. M. Gallagher, the associate medical examiner found that death had been caused by blows with a hammer. Early the same morning Nicholas Caruso of Webster street, West Newton was noticed walking on the railroad tracks near the Y. M. C. A. and when accosted by a police officer, acted so suspiciously, that he was arrested and taken to headquarters. Later a large sum of money was found in the shabby room near the place where he was arrested.

YOUR HOME

You doubtless feel that prices will be lower and therefore you will have an opportunity to buy at a lower price.

We wish to call attention, however, to the following facts:

According to the Dodge reports, residential building is $350,000,000 behind in New England at the present time and the programme for building in 1920 is so far behind normal that at the end of 1920 New England will be $420,000,000 behind.

It is obvious that it will take many years to catch up to this building, and therefore the law of supply and demand will naturally make it more and more difficult to procure homes and apartments at reasonable figures.

In spite of these conditions we have many houses for sale at prices that have not been advanced since our level of 1915, and we are prepared to show costs and profits to all purchasers to prove that this office is not profiteering.

Our business is the supplying of homes to the better class.

If you are paying a rent of $50 or more we can show you that we can better your condition by purchasing from us.

If you have available $2000 or more, we can place you in your own home immediately.

If you have $200 or more in available cash we can get you started so that within a short time you will be in your own home by using your savings as you go along to purchase this home.

We cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of your getting started. So many put it off and never get started.

You can accomplish this result by selecting the location and paying in a convenient manner for the lot.

When you have this paid for, this office and the banks are ready to assist in the financing of the construction of your home. The banks are established for this purpose and the money they receive as deposits must be loaned.

Your rent money is making and will be making more and more for the real estate owner.

If you are the real estate owner you will make this profit for yourself.

In view of the expected lowering of prices and the obvious fact on account of the shortage of homes that this lowering of prices will be temporary only, we advise the purchase of the lot, the preparing of your plans and the securing of bids at the time of this temporary drop in building costs. If you wait, you will not be ready.

If you will be frank with us and let us know your wants in detail, we shall be glad to tell you what we can do for you without obligation on your part.

Our properties are located in the best residential sections of Brookline, Winchester and the Newtons.

Decision of Character.
Another advantage of this character is that it exempts from a great deal of interference and obstructive annoyance which an irresolute man may be almost sure to encounter. Weakness in every form tempts arrogance, and a man may be allowed to wish for a kind of character with which stupidity and impertinence may not make so free. When a firm, decisive spirit is recognized, it is curious to see how the space clears around a man, and leaves him room and freedom.

HAVE REAL CHARM

Old South Carolina Churches
Well Worth Visit.

St. Andrew's, Built in 1702, Once Notable Aristocratic House of Worship—Goose Creek Edifice
Also Interesting.

The charm to some places is that the changes to them come slowly, and this is the atmosphere that envelopes Charleston, S. C., a town of quaint old streets, musty churches, lovely old trees, and hand-wrought iron doors and gates that first opened to admit subjects of a British king.

One leaves all this behind and rides out over 12 miles of the roughest of country roads under trees decorated with long ghostlike strands of Spanish moss to enter a church whose doors swing open but once a year. It is St. Andrew's church, in St. Andrew's parish, and it opens once annually because this was the condition stipulated in the original crown grant. St. Andrew's church was built in 1702. For a century or more it was the regular Sunday meeting place of rich and aristocratic Southerners who lived on adjoining plantations, and it is not difficult on a warm spring day to stand under the moss-hung trees near the church and visualize the past. The men and women dressed in gay silks and satins for church-going in those days, and they rode to service in grand style with a pair of handsome horses drawing a commodious carriage, with a negro slave on the box, and the negroes riding or walking behind.

St. Andrew's is not the only church that is opened but once a year. Goose Creek church, some ten miles away, and built in 1706, was also built under a crown grant with the same provision. With the growth of the city, known then as "Charleston by the Sea," and with better roads, the attendance at the small parish churches diminished. When the last of these plantations was reduced in grandeur and wealth by the Civil war, and the slaves were scattered all over the globe, those in whom was embodied the spirit of the past had gone to their fathers.

A love of tradition, a reverence for the past that makes Charleston charming, sees to it that the order of the royal grant is obeyed, and a rusty key is turned in a rusty lock once a year; in St. Andrew's on Easter Sunday, and in Goose Creek the Sunday after, and Charleston fills up its gasoline tanks on these days and rides out; and those who haven't automobiles or other personal means of conveyance, go out by special train, for so far has the present dared to intrude on the past that special excursions are run by the railroad for these occasions.

Woman As a Bull Fighter.

One would have thought that to enter into combat with a bull demanded more courage than any member of the gentler sex possesses. But even this dangerous calling has had its female follower, London, Tit-Bits states. "Johanna Maestrick was the name of the lady in question. At an early age she was taken to see a bull fight in Portugal. Her feminine susceptibilities, far from revolting at the spectacle, were aroused to a keen desire and determination to emulate the prowess of the toreador. A teacher of the art was so struck with her keenness, physique, and beauty that he offered to become her instructor and to train her as a toreador. She made her first appearance in the arena at Oporto. The trial proved that her agility and skill were equal to her courage, for she quickly laid out two ferocious bulls and rode off in triumph amid thunders of applause.

To Keep Suffrage Mementoes.

A portrait of Susan B. Anthony, together with the table upon which was written the call for the Seneca Falls convention of 1848—the first active movement in America to give women the vote—has been presented to the National History museum, in Washington, by the National American Woman Suffrage association. The portrait was painted by Sarah J. Eddy, and for the last two years it has hung in the headquarters of the national association. It represents Miss Anthony not as an inflexible leader of a great cause, but as a smiling, gray-haired woman, upon whose knee children are laying roses. The table was presented to Miss Anthony by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, one of the convenors of the first convention.

Finnish Agriculture.

In spite of its northern position and its poor soil, agriculture is still the chief occupation of Finland, even though the cultivated area covers only 8.5 per cent of the land. The co-operative movement, the introduction and use of modern agricultural machinery and improved methods of cultivation have greatly helped in the development, but there is ample opportunity for further development. Cattle raising and dairying also have grown considerably the last decades. The lumber industry ranks second in importance, with about 61 per cent of the area of the country forest lands.

Hint to Reformers.

Doubtless the world is wicked enough, but it will not be improved by the extension of a spirit which self-righteously sees more to reform outside of itself than in itself.—J. G. Holland.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Wednesday, May 19, was the "busy day" for the delegates to the annual meeting of the State Federation at Springfield last week. A feat never before attempted,—that of putting through the reports of all the eleven departments of work and of the eight district directors in one day—was accomplished in an admirable manner. Three keynotes were struck and ran through all the reports, work for Americanization, for Thrift and for Mothercraft, as they have entered into each of the old departments. "Thrift," as reported by Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, has been taken up in some form by 208 of the clubs, while there has been a definite movement on the part of the club women to restrict their buying to only such new articles as are actually needed. Mothercraft has taken a decided leap in the interest of the clubs during the past—the second year of its presentation. Starting in Massachusetts it has extended to 25 states, while inquiries have come concerning this training of the "little mothers" from England, Norway, Sicily, France, Austria and Canada.

The Education department has undertaken certain very definite pieces of work this year, that of the offering of prize essays "The Pilgrims," a drive for better speech and for the place of Latin in education and a survey of the social conditions in the high schools. From the Music committee came the watchword "Listen," not only to the music in the clubs and in the concert halls, but to that of the children, at the movie house, of the dance hall and know whether it is good. "We have asked you," said the chairman, Mrs. Arthur H. Davison, "not to listen to music during your luncheons and your dinners. We feel that incidental music, so-called, helps to lower our ideals of music. Let us eat without accompaniment."

The reports of the district directors showed an increasing union of interest between the clubs and the Federation such as can be gained only through the personal touch, fully justifying the effort expended on the part of the directors. Mrs. George Winslow Perkins, Massachusetts director of the General Federation submitted as her final report an account of her service as treasurer of the War Victory Commission. She told of the girls who went overseas as "the pick of the country," that they stood among the highest of the women who were sent abroad and explained the movement now on foot to form this Overseas Unit into a permanent organization.

Much discussion arose from the report of the resolutions committee especially upon one intended to urge upon the women an attitude toward the purchase and use of sugar that would aid in bringing down the price. Un fortunately it was so badly framed that no one was satisfied to vote for it as it stood and the resolution was lost. A new one was brought in the following morning pledging wise and conservative use of the commodity until economic conditions change, which was passed heartily. Another pledging that each do all in her power to reduce the high cost of living by simplifying needs and buying only necessities in food and clothing. The Federation re-affirmed itself on the question of health education in the schools.

Wednesday evening was "play evening" when came the address by Dr. Bruno Roselli, exchange professor from Italy, who made an impassioned address on "Italy and America,—Will they ever discover one another?" in which he pleaded for a better understanding of his people and a finer appreciation of what they did for America in the war. New England, he feels, has, perhaps, understood Italy better than other parts of the country, but he begged that the bitterness might be taken away from the hearts of the people. His own people feel that in the settlement they have been discriminated against. He pointed out that Italy is the first line of defense against Bolshevism, that as a nation she is far less imperialistic than the other countries of Europe, that the Italian element in the United States is growing at a greater rate than any of the other peoples. The Italians are no longer birds of passage, only give them time and the connecting link will be there.

A reception was tendered the delegates by the hostess club, the Springfield Women's Club, at the close, when there was opportunity to meet the officers of both hostess club and of the Federation.

Among the outside guests present was a Miss Craig, formerly chairman of the Home Economics department of the Washington State Federation, who is now located in Springfield, the president of the Connecticut Federation, a representative of the American Library Association, who urged co-operation on the part of the club women in Books for Everybody movement.

Thursday morning was occupied mostly with business, when the by-laws were amended so that all meetings of the Federation will hereafter be delegate meetings appointed pro rata as they have been always for the annual meeting. This change grew out of a discussion at the mid-winter meeting relative to the endorsement of legislative matter and is doubtless a wise one. An annual Scholarship of $100 in the International College at Springfield as a memorial to Mrs. Leila C. Pennock, a devoted Federation worker for many years, was established by vote of the convention. Mrs. Arthur A. Hibbard, the retiring first vice-president, who has served faithfully upon the executive board for twelve years, was elected a trustee of the Endowment Fund for three years. Upon recommendation of the board it was voted to raise among the clubs the sum of $1000 with which to endow a bed in the Children's Hospital in Boston, the only hospital of the kind in Massachusetts. A collection for the purpose was taken and $430 of the amount were pledged. Mrs. Sumner Coolidge, chairman of the Public Health department, will act as treasurer until the amount has been raised through contributions of the clubs. These may be sent to her at Lakeville Sanatorium.

Further resolutions brought in pledged the clubs to support the Books for Everybody movement on the part of the American Library Association; urged upon Congress the necessity of checking profiteering. One presented by Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead petitioning Congress to grant Mr. Davidson's request for $500,000,000 to aid Europe to recupe herself was lost.

Mrs. Grace M. Poole, the new first vice-president, made a stirring appeal for delegates to go to Des Moines that Massachusetts may take a full quota. The report of the elections committee showed that the officers nominated had been elected almost unanimously. There is very little change in the personnel of the executive board, Mrs. Hibbard retires as a vice-president, one of the retiring directors, Mrs. Wallace P. Hood becomes fourth vice-president, the others being moved up. Mrs. Herbert C. Bliss, former chairman of the Badge committee becomes the assistant clerk and Mrs. Walter C. Newell retires as treasurer.

An impressive feature of this last session was the demobilization of the Federation's Service Flag, a service arranged by Mrs. Davidson consisting of responsive reading, music and the lowering of the flag by Miss Helen Hood, one of the Unit, who had acted as President's Page during the convention.

Biennial Delegates

A special meeting of delegates to the General Federation Biennial is called by Mrs. George Minot Baker for Friday June 4, at ten o'clock at the New England Woman's Club rooms, 565 Boylston street, Boston. Many important matters concerning the reorganization plan and the Campaign for Miss Bacon's election will be discussed.

Waban Woman's Club

On Saturday afternoon the children of Waban were the guests of the Woman's Club and the Neighborhood Club at their annual "party" at the club-house. Miss Gladys Lott sang songs and told stories. Ice cream was served.

Upon recommendation of the Executive Board, it was moved and seconded that Mrs. Pietro Isola and Mrs. William C. Collar be made honorary members of the Waban Woman's Club.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Under the auspices of the Junior members of the Auburndale Woman's Club a performance of "The Tempered Whirlwind" will be given in Norumbega Hall on Saturday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock. Afterward there will be dancing to the strains of Bowers' orchestra. This play was very well received at its initial performance at the high school recently. Out of a number of plays submitted by members of the Senior class, and sent outside the school to be judged, "The Tempered Whirlwind," by Rosalind Winslow of Auburndale, was chosen as the Senior play of 1920.

The original cast have all consented to take part, since the evening's proceeds are to go to the Newton Hospital Social Service League. The Junior members are working hard to make the occasion a success. If you missed the play before, you will be glad to see it now. If you saw it given at the High School, you will enjoy it still more a second time; and everyone is glad to help the splendid social service our Hospital is doing. Get your tickets from any Junior member.

THE PEOPLE BEHIND THE BOOKS

"Spending hours with Senor Ibanez was like watching a movie," writes Lella Usher, sculptor of a relief of the novelist. "There was a steady stream of callers to his rooms—men and women coming in to beg him to autograph their 'Four Horsemen', to ask him every conceivable question. Up and down the scale, his face expressed every emotion from amusement to cynicism, while Boston reporters probed Boston questions, deep and subtle about his new book, about the feminist movement in Spain—"It does not exist as in your America, our women are ambitious not for themselves but for their men"—why didn't he write for the stage—"artificial and inferior to literature"—that is the real art—"and was modern Spain dependent upon Paris—what? Imagine a country that produced Cervantes." A most interesting man to study, this tall man big all over, with graying hair. His head piles up in front of him a wonderful dome, with well marked planes. He has the penetrating, seeing eye of a wizard; and whatever use he intends to make of it, he knows what he sees. Always he emanates vitality and power so you are conscious of it."

Booth Tarkington's personal feeling concerning his latest novel, "Ramsey Millholland" is described in a recent inscription written by him in a copy of it. This (Ramsey Millholland) seemed to me to be the average young fellow I saw turning into a soldier in Indiana in 1917—the boy who got in at the first. Perhaps I was too anxious not to let it be seen how much I felt about him, for I find that my readers think I meant to be "funny."

D'Annunzio, according to the "Mercure de France", has given up his literary career. He has declared his intention of writing nothing further save for patriotic purposes, and is deaf to the pleas of Italian and foreign editors. He has moreover, lost interest in his literary work and broken off relations with his former publishers. There are in the library, however, three books by him: "Daughter of Jorio" (YD36-A6d); "Tales of my native town."

Any following the work of the Educational Alliance of New York, will be interested to know that Jacinto Benavente, the author of a recent book of plays (YD40-B43), established in Madrid in 1911, the Children's Theatre, modeled directly upon the work of the Alliance. For the children of that city, he provided entertainment such as the children of the East Side enjoy, in the fairy play, "The Prince Who Learned Everything Out of Books."

The Gossip Shop describes James Branch Cabell as "a very pleasant gentleman beautifully dressed. But what we are really getting at is: he wears an overcoat made of exactly the same material as his suit. Among some of his books are: "The certain hour"; "From the hidden way" (YD-C111f); and "The soul of Melicent."

On April 3, 1920, John Burroughs entered his eighty-fourth year. He once wrote: "April is my natal month, and I am born again into new delight at each return of it." Ever since "Wake robin" was issued in 1870, he has given us a succession of essays, at intervals crystallized into books. A few of the titles are: "Camping and tramping with Roosevelt" (ER677-Bu) "Field and study" (M-B94 f); "The summit of the years" (M-B94 su). Mr. Burroughs study is a tiny cabin. "Slab-sides" on a hill above his home at West Park, New York.

The news of the death of Leonid Andreyev, the Russian novelist, on the twelfth of September last year, has but recently reached this country. At the age of forty-eight, he died with many novels to his credit as well as a great number of short stories, such as "The crushed flower" and plays—"Savva", "The black maskers", "The Sabine women", and "The life of man."

"The forbidden trail", a recent novel of the Arizona desert, by Honore Willie, author of "Bonnie's forgo", "The heart of the desert", "Lydia of the pines", and "Still Jim", though first of all a story, brings out a timely and interesting idea of the effort to invent a machine for conserving sunpower as a substitute for coal. Mrs. Willie's husband is the inventor.

Franklin Furber, Surveyor, dated Aug. 1, 1866 duly recorded, and bounded and described as follows, viz: Southeastly on Winthrop Street one hundred and four (104) feet; Southwestly by lot no. thirty-three (33) on said plan one hundred and fifty (150) feet; Northwestly on lot no. thirty-two (32) on said plan, one hundred and five (105) feet; and Northeastly on lots nos. thirty-five (35) and thirty-six (36) on said plan one hundred and fifty (150) feet, containing according to said plan 15,654 square feet of land, being the same premises conveyed to me by J. band, Henry E. Willie, is the inventor of a machine used in the southwest, capable of developing high horsepower from the sun alone at a cost that would make it necessary for coal to be sold at sixty-six cents a ton to compete with it. While at present this machine is of constant practical value only in localities where the percentage of sunny days is large, it is hoped that this novel—as in many other works of fiction—lies a first chapter of the triumphant story of a great new invention.

"By far the most interesting literary gatherings the present writer (keeper of the Gossip Shop) has ever attended were those held some years ago in Hugh Walpole's pleasant bachelor rooms somewhere near Portland Place. There the then little-known and very youthful romancer brought together a most notable collection of fellow novelists. The meetings which took place in the evening were quite informal and very delightful. A feature which was on the whole popular, though in this connection it would be extremely invidious to mention names, was the fact that the host was adamant as to not asking the non-writing husbands or wives of his guests. It was a case of 'Only novelists may apply for an invitation.' This selective young book has been writing most entertaining books—"The dark forest", "Portitude", "The golden scarecrow", "The green mirror", and "Jeremy."

For much of the above information we are indebted to the Gossip Shop in the "Bookman".

GARDEN NEWS

We must all cultivate frequently. A fine proof of the need of cultivation was given us last week during the five days of warm sunshiny weather without the usual frequent showers. The soil dried up, likewise many of our little seedlings whose rootlets were near the surface. Cultivation, as suggested previously, tends to form a blanket cushion which prevents the evaporation of soil moisture, induces the root system of the plants to grow deeper and nips the weeds when they are just getting started. Let's see to it that we cultivate at least twice a week. The garden rake will be found a satisfactory implement for this work.

Kill Cut Worms
The time has arrived when cutworms are making their appearance. Cutworms attack nearly all vegetable crops at this time of year, especially those that have been transplanted. The common cutworm is a smooth, short bodied, cylindrical caterpillar. Cutworms vary in color from a pale gray to dark dirty gray, and are sometimes spotted or striped. They live over winter in the soil, generally in the sod adjacent to the garden. At this time of the year they become active again, emerge from their winter quarters, and seek soft, succulent growth for their food in order that they may complete their growth. Cutworms do most of their feeding at night; they hide in the soil during the daytime.

There are two common methods of control. One method is to wrap a band of newspaper about the stems of newly transplanted plants. The paper band is placed around the stems in such a way that a portion of it will be beneath the surface of the ground when the plant is set. By this method the cut worm is kept away from the stem of the plant. The newspaper band rots in a few weeks and becomes ineffective, and does not retard growth. By this time, however, the ravages of the cut worms will be over. Another successful practice especially valuable on larger plantings and crops like peas, beans, and beets, is to kill the worms by means of poisoned bait. Poisoned bait is made by mixing together 1 quart of bran or coarse flour, 1 ounce of white arsenic or paris green, 3 pints of water, and 1 pint of molasses. Only a little of this poisoned bait is required. It should be sprinkled around the young plants in the evening.

All Pea Seed In
All garden pea seed should be planted by the present time. Peas are essentially a cool season crop. They at least require planting early in the season in order to be most productive. The pea lice, or aphids, are much more severe upon late planted peas. Late planted peas rarely yield as heavily as those planted early.

Safe to Plant Squash, Beans, and Other Warm Season Vegetables
It is now safe to plant summer squash, beans of all varieties, sweet corn, cucumbers, musk melons, and other seeds of so-called warm weather crops. The first planting of all of these warm season crops should be put in this week.

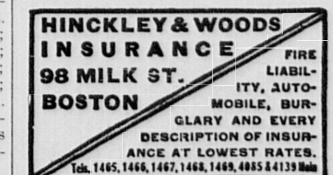

ADDRESS OF MR. J. C. YANG

A very stimulating address was given by J. C. Yang of Boston University at the First Church, Newton Centre, last Sunday morning.

He spoke in brief as follows: "Koreans people have not only lost their identity as a race and nation, but the economic, educational and religious conditions of the Korean people have been reduced to the level of abject slavery."

Since the annexation of Korea by Japan, she has been doing everything in her power to exploit Korea and oppress the people in such a way that they will be reduced to the level of serfdom. Japan took all means of making a livelihood away from the Koreans, and took over the educational system of the country so that now the Koreans cannot obtain an education higher than the High School.

The Japanese have also decreed that the Bible shall not be taught in the Korean schools after 1922. They want the Koreans to worship the Emperor in place of God, and persecute and torture those who refuse to do so."

Imagine Baking Day in a COOL Kitchen

Cakes that are light and fluffy—crisp brown cookies—pies done to an even brown—can be baked without standing over a hot stove or stooping down to open an oven door.

The New Perfection Oil Cook Stove gives you all the cooking comfort and convenience of a gas stove. Instantaneous heat directly applied against the cooking utensil by means of a long, blue chimney—heat that can be controlled for any kind of cooking by a turn of the handle.

The oven on this stove is scientifically constructed to circulate fresh, hot air over and under the baking food in the oven. This current of air assures an intense, even baking heat and at the same time drives out the steam and prevents soggy.

3,000,000 users get three square meals daily with little effort on the New Perfection Oil Cook Stove. Obtainable in one to four burner sizes.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake
Horace Mann School

A baseball game was played between the Bigelow and the Horace Mann-Cliffin baseball teams at Cabot Park, Monday. The Bigelow players strove hard to conquer their opponents, but they were no match for the combination team. The score was 21 to 6 in the Horace Mann District's favor.

On Friday afternoon Memorial Day exercises were held. The Eighth Grade gave a pageant in which every pupil in that room took a part. It told of the men who built our nation, from the Indian to the time of the Civil War.

The eighth grade went "over the top" in the collection of money for the French Orphan. The second, fifth, and seventh grades also have gone "over the top".

Stearns School

The school baseball team easily defeated the nine from the Peirce School. Thursday afternoon on Stearns' playground by the score of 10-4. Stearns played a very steady game, showing considerable improvement in fielding over the previous game. The batting of the boys was also more timely and it felt now by every member of the team that the nine which defeats Stearns deserves the title of "champions." Landry pitched brilliantly for Stearns, striking out the side in three innings. Butler, at shortstop again played a whirlwind game, making many difficult plays. Visco in left field also prevented Peirce from becoming dangerous on two occasions by brilliant running catches.

The winners of the prize composition competition offered through the D. A. R., have not as yet been decided upon. The judges expect to be able to give decisions by Friday.

A patriotic program for Friday afternoon is being planned. On Monday night the Mothers' Club held their annual banquet in the kindergarten room. Great preparations went on all day and at 6:45 about 65 sat down to enjoy the repast. Several invited guests were present including Mr. and Mrs. Kenelm Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. William Holman, Mrs. Harry Stebbins and Mrs. William E. Jones. After the banquet music on the xylophone and piano was enjoyed by all.

Newton Technical High School

The Freshman Prize Speaking will be held in the hall on the morning of Wednesday, June 9th. This year there were so many girls eager to take part that it has been decided to have girls only in the contest. Out of the large number who competed for the honor the following nine have been chosen: Mildred Beardsley, Leonora Bennett, Mary Frango, Therese Frango, Lillian Le Blanc, Isabel O'Connell, Doris Porter, Natalie Sawyer, and Mabel Wildman. These girls are now rehearsing their selections with Miss Fiske, who has charge of the contest.

The last social affair of the year will be given in the form of a May Party, at 2:15 P. M. Thursday, June 3. There will be a short play in the hall, followed by dancing and a candy sale in the library. The object is to raise money for furnishing the school stage.

Junior Debate

On Friday, May 21, the members of the Junior Class assembled in the hall to debate. The subject discussed was, Resolved, that the State of Massachusetts should adopt Woman Suffrage. Teams of three boys each were selected from the two English divisions of Junior boys.

Excellent arguments were brought forth pro and con, although the affirmative was considered slightly better by the judge, Mr. Maxim. A noteworthy factor of the debate was the discussion from the floor, when the question was opened to the house. This was carried off with fire and vigor, by the impromptu speakers from the audience. Altogether the pupils and teachers thoroughly enjoyed this speaking contest in every respect.

Mason School

The tenth meeting of the class of 1920 was held in the school hall on the twenty-first of May. An excellent musical and literary program was much enjoyed by the fifty-four members present.

Pupils from Room 4 took an enjoyable trip in automobiles to Franklin Park and the Arnold Arboretum on Monday morning.

Room 1 furnished the school with a beautiful dramatic entertainment last week. These youngest pupils in school set a high standard for the older grades to attain.

Room 16 is playing a series of base ball games with the Bowen School. The score of the first game was 8-4 in favor of the Bowen; that of the second 5-3 in favor of Room 16. The third game will be played this week. The Mason School defeated the Stearns School 5-1, in a ball game, played Tuesday, May 18th, at Cabot Park. The Mason battery was Charles MacDonald and Lawrence Cameron. The game was fast and full of timely hitting, stirring catches and clever base-running.

On Thursday in a much slower game, Mason defeated the Bigelow team on the Burr grounds, 15-4. The Mason battery was James Giles and Richard Vaughan.

Mt. Ida School

The program at Mt. Ida School for Senior Week is as follows: Senior Dance, Saturday night, 8 P. M.; Baccalaureate Sermon, Rev. H. Grant Person, D. D., Sunday at 4 P. M.; Alumnae Day, Annual Meeting, Monday at 10 A. M.; Alumnae Luncheon at 1 P. M.; Junior Class Play at 8 P. M.; Class Day, Exercises Tuesday at 3 P. M.; Senior Play, "The Taming of the Shrew," at 8 P. M.; Final Recital; Wednesday, 3 P. M.; Commencement Exercises at 8 P. M.; address by Rev. Henry H. Crane; Senior Reception at 9 P. M.

Country Day School

The six candidates retained after preliminary trials for the annual prize readings contest to be held next Tuesday afternoon at the Country Day School are Charles D. Gowing, 24, of Longwood; George Hodges, 24, of Brookline; Arthur W. Richardson, 24, of Charles River Village; Joseph B. Wheelwright, 23, of Jamaica Plain; Mark De Wolfe Howe, 24, of Boston, and Charles Terry Collins, 24, of Newton Centre.

Burr School

On Friday morning there will be appropriate exercises in the Burr School Hall with war songs, tableaux and recitations.

On June 4th "Mr. Bob" will be given by grade eight of the C. C. Burr School. The cast is as follows: Philip Royson, Fred Coulson; Robert Brown, Winslow Howland; Jenkins, the butler, Nelson Goodman; Rebecca Luke, a maiden lady, whose hobby is "cats," Gladys M. Chandler; Katherine Rogers, Miss Luke's niece, Marjorie Wiley; Marion Bryant, her friend, otherwise known as "Bob," Alice Hennessey; Patty, the maid, Muriel Conn.

There will be songs by Miss Carolyn Cook of Marlboro, Mass.

Lasell

Lasell has been favored recently in having as a week end guest, Mr. Chas. H. Woodbury of San Francisco, Cal., who chose for the theme of his Vesper talk, "Personal Reminiscences of Louise Alcott," and gave two valuable and inspiring lectures on Emerson, the second coming on Emerson's birthday, May 25th. Mr. Woodbury was a personal friend of Emerson, having traveled with him in his student days, and literally sat at his feet in the years when Emerson was in his prime. He also gave many delightful incidents of Bronson Alcott, Thoreau and others of the Concord School.

The storm of Saturday did not dampen the enthusiasm of the Lasell girls or their friends who gathered in large numbers to enjoy the annual Glee Club Concert. The Club this year has been under the direction of Mr. Charles Griffith, Jr., who is perhaps better known for his fine work as the leader of the orchestra at the Summer School of Music held at the Seminary. The general comment was that it was unusually fine.

The Spanish department grows increasingly strong. Monday evening the students gave a play under the direction of Senora Orozco. The ease, rapidity and correctness with which the students took their parts as noted by the audience was very gratifying. The second year girls also furnished some delightful Spanish songs. The presentation of the play was followed by a social hour.

The children of Woodland Park Hall recently gave a creditable swimming exhibition. Many of these little folk take to the water as naturally as ducks. Their water feats might well excite the envy of their sisters of larger growth.

The Freshmen entertained the Junior Class with a picnic supper on the river, which included a delightful canoe ride. A landing was made near the Auburndale Play grounds, where all did justice to the sumptuous lunch provided, and where games were enjoyed until a hasty exit was made because of the approaching thunder storm.

Miss Lillian Laffey, a graduate of the school and also an instructor during the past year in French, will give a song recital Friday evening in Bragdon Gymnasium. Perhaps the most interesting numbers on the program are the French songs in which she particularly excels.

On account of Monday being a holiday, the annual River Day races were held Wednesday. On account of the large enrollment this year the number of participants was increased to six crews which greatly added to the interest. There were five races, the semi-final being between the three winners was won by the Sophomore crew greatly to the surprise of everyone, who thus carried off the honors.

The special guest of honor during Commencement this year will be Dr. Charles C. Bragdon, Principal Emeritus, who arrives Thursday of this week, coming not only for the Commencement affairs, but to be present at the Newton Chapter of the G. A. R. also.

Bigelow School

The children of the third grade, room four, have constructed a very interesting miniature Japanese garden, containing bridges, ponds, trees, pagodas, wells and mountains and many other things which one would see in Japan. It has been made as an illustration for the "Japanese Twins," a book which they have been reading.

Some very interesting health posters and wall paper designs have also been made by the children of the same room.

The Fourth, Fifth, Seventh and Eighth grades took part in the Field Day program, Thursday, May 27. Room thirteen leads this week in the Thrift Stamp Campaign.

Cliffin School

The Cliffin-Horace Mann baseball team played the Mason School at Newton Centre Playground on Tuesday, May 25, the game resulting in a score of 14-9 in favor of the Mason. The grades taking part in the Field Day Exhibition on Thursday afternoon, May 27, were I, IV, V, Room 2 and VII.

The Memorial Day Exercises in the hall on Friday afternoon will include a pageant given by the pupils of grades VI and VII.

CHILDREN'S MAY PARTY

The children of Palestine Chapter, O. E. S., gave a pleasing program of music and dances at Temple Hall, Newtonville, May 22. An orchestra of 5 pieces, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Parker, was one of the attractions. The entertainment was in charge of the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Ethel Boyd Valentine, assisted by Mrs. Lena Belle Trotter, Worthy Matron of Palestine Chapter, and directed by Miss Jennie Bassett of Waltham.

The program included selections by orchestra, the members of which were Philip Estes, flute; John Scott Smyth, piano; Wm. Bamberg, violin; Genelle Parker, violin; Doris Jerauld, drum. This was followed by the "Highland Dance" (in costume) by Helen Reidy, and the play, "When Polly was Queen of the May," introducing May Pole Dances, Ox Dance, and Crested Hen. In the cast were Esther McGill, Doris Fogg, Phyllis Allen, Alice Babbitt, Alma Haffermehl, Marion Timble, Marion Wood, Helen McAleer, Lester Reed, Alfred Allen, Charles Timble, Wendell Reed, Elmer Babbitt, Barbara Hudson, Phyllis Fryerson, Margaret Mansfield, Mildred Wood.

THE COPLEY THEATRE—Next Monday Henry Jewett's Company will present at the Copley Theatre a new three-act play entitled "Lazy Lubin" which has never before been given in this country. "Lazy Lubin" is the story of Kibbie Howard, a young Englishman, who has made a big name for himself abroad in the world of letters and not a few of his plays have been well received by the British public. This play is a comedy that is full of amusing situations and is especially adapted to this time of year when theatregoers want the theatrical fare that is light, yet wholesome. The dialogue is bright and the playright has drawn some well-pictured characters who pass to and fro through the three acts with ever-increasing interest centered in their personality and their actions which for the most part are mirth-provoking.

Mixture of Many Languages.

Modern English is a composite of Latin and the language of the ancient Britons who were conquered by the Romans, together with many Scandinavian words introduced by the Danes when they conquered England, German words brought by the Saxons, and French words brought by the Normans. There is scarcely a language that has not contributed something to modern English, but those mentioned have been the largest contributors. Many technical words have been taken from the Greek.

Not a Bad Description.

I sent my little daughter, Anna, to the market for a pound of Frankfurt sausage. She played on the way and forgot the name. After the butcher asked her twice what kind of sausage she wanted she said: "O, you know; the kind that need a hot bath before you can eat them." Needless to say, she brought the right kind home after every one in the market had a good laugh. —Chicago Tribune.
